NEW ROOSEVELT DICTATOR BILL PLANS HIT SNAG

Byrnes Reneges on Revived Scheme.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's plan to revive his government reorganization scheme, popularly known as the dictator bill, received a cool reception today from Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], the man who piloted the measure through the senate at the last session of congress.

Mr. Roosevelt made it clear at a White House conference with his special reorganization committee, headed by Louis Brownlow, and with Senator Byrnes, chairman of the joint congressional reorganization committee, that he wants the legislation revived in a single omnibus measure like the bill which the senate passed and the house rejected at the last session. Such a bill would give the President broad powers to overhaul the executive branch of the government along authoritarian lines.

Senator Byrnes Disagrees.

Senator Byrnes displayed little enthusiasm for the President's proposal. He not only recommended that the bill be split into four separate measures, but said it would be wise to let the house act first, instead of originating the legislation in the senate as was done at the last session.

This indicated Byrnes has no desire to go through another bitter senate fight for the President and then run the risk of having the bill repudiated by the house. It also is extremely doubtful that such a fight would be successful again in the senate.

At the last session, the amendment by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], which would have nullified the powers proposed to be conferred upon the President by requiring affirmative congressional approval of his reorganization orders, was defeated by a vote of 43 to 39. If such an amendment should be adopted, either house of congress could exercise a veto power over the President's orders.

Amendment to Be Sought.

Senator Wheeler says he will insist upon this amendment if the President revives the scheme, and there will be 23 instead of 15 Republican votes in the next session.

Senator Byrnes took a practical view of the situation and told the President to get his bill through the house first. His attitude was like that of Representative Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee, who recoiled when told about the President's bill to pack the Supreme court and suggested getting it through the senate first.

Congressional leaders were not surprised by the revelation of Mr. Roosevelt's determination to obtain passage of some kind of reorganization bill. Some legislation is required, they explained, for face saving, for the President's defeat in the house of representatives, with a Democratic majority of almost 4 to 1, was almost as humiliating as his defeat on the court packing bill in the senate, with a Democratic majority of 5 to 1.

Foresee Conservative Action.

With the Republican house membership increased from 89 to 170, it is generally conceded that a face saving organization bill is about all that can be expected. Some leaders believe the conservatives led by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], may be able to take the ball away from the administration and pass an orthodox reorganization bill in the interest of governmental economy.

The President's bill admittedly would effect no economies. Senator Byrd maintains that it would increase expenditures, since it calls for a new cabinet officer and department of welfare, six new assistants to the President at $10,000 a year, and for a relaxation of the government's spending controls.

Explains Division of Bill.

Senator Byrnes, after the White House conference today, said he told the President the bill ought to be split into four parts, as follows:

1. A bill giving the President broad, general powers to reorganize consolidate, or abolish government bureaus and agencies.

2. A bill creating the department of welfare and giving the President six

POLICE IN TUNIS REINFORCED TO END DISORDERS

France Eyes Duce's Troops in Spain.

TUNIS, Tunisia, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Throngs of Italians, French, and Arabs seethed through the streets of Tunis tonight in demonstrations fired by the Fascist clamor for Tunisia, French protectorate in North Africa. The French government strengthened its police with armed patrols from the interior. Heavy reënforcements of mobile guards were ordered to Tunis from neighboring French Algeria.

M. Silimbani, Italian consul general, protested against the anti-Italian outbreaks. It was understood that he was assured the French police were ordered to restore strict order.

Italian residents, it was reported, warned that they would form a self-defense corps if the anti-Italian disorders continued, but French officials denied this was true.

[There were reports from the French-Spanish border that 40,000 Italian troops have been massed in rebel Spain just across the Pyrenees mountains from France. This information emphasized fears, expressed in some quarters, that Italy might be preparing to translate agitation into military action.]

Rivals Sing in Streets.

Sixteen demonstrators — Italian French, and natives—were arrested. Officials announced one person had been wounded gravely and three slightly. Demonstrations continued tonight, with roving bands colliding intermittently with the police. The strains of rival songs, the French "Marseillaise" and the Fascist "Giovenezza," sounded through Tunis streets.

The fresh wave of demonstrations was unloosed by the march of 1,000 French and Arab railroad workers last night on the Italian consulate general.

This protest brought a reply this morning from Italian students in Tunis. Linking their arms, a crowd of youths paraded through the Tunisian capital, singing and chanting.

French and Arabs then renewed their own demonstrations, massing near the Italian consulate general, where they were kept back by strong mounted police forces.

Businesses Under Guard.

Police said that among those arrested were Vestri Licinio, a member of the staf of the Italian consulate general, and Ubaldo Rey, head of the Italian War Veterans in Tunis and president of the Fascist Dopolavoro society. They were charged with having attempted to start one demonstration by crying "Tunisia for us!"

All Italian business houses, as well as the consulate general, were placed under heavy day and night guard, and the French administration turned out an imposing display of strength. Horse guards and police patroled the streets, troops were confined to their barracks, and mobile guards were called in from Algeria.

Three platoons of mobile guards, 100 men, arrived tonight from Algeria, and more were expected.

Precautions Kept Secret.

THE EMBARRASSING YOUNGSTER

1 KILLED AND 7 HURT AS ROOF FALLS DURING RITE FOR QUEEN MAUD

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 8.—(AP)—One person was killed and seven were injured today when the roof of a small building collapsed during the funeral of Queen Maud. The building, across the street from Our Savior's church, had been used as a vantage point to watch the funeral cortège for Norway's English born queen.

The crash of the first of forty-two salute guns from the walls of the ancient fortress of Akershus signaled two minutes of silence throughout the nation while King Haakon walked to the fortress behind the herse carrying the body of the queen. Her body will lie in state in the fortress and later be placed in a mausoleum inside its walls.

Sixteen hundred persons attended the funeral service. Royal mourners besides King Haakon included Crown Prince Olaf and Crown Princess Martha of Norway, King Christian and Queen Alexandrine of Denmark, Prince Carl of Sweden, and the duke of Kent of England. The queen, who was a sister of King George V. of England, died in London Nov. 20.

'ELEANOR GLIDE' TO MAKE DEBUT AT WHITE HOUSE

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The "Eleanor glide," a modern dance version evolved with the help of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt from the terpsichorean past, will make its debut at the cabinet dinner in the White House next Tuesday, opening the Washington social season.

Mrs. Roosevelt watched a preview here today presented by her protégé, Mayris Chaney, professional dancer, and Edward Fox.

Miss Chaney, who traveled with the Roosevelts on the 1936 campaign tour, said she developed the "glide" from impromptu lessons Mrs. Roosevelt gave her at the White House recently in her favorite old fashioned steps, including waltzes, polkas, mazurkas, and square dances.

MUSEUM FINDS A BIRD IN HAND WORTH—NOTHING

The Field museum's venture into the kingly sport of hunting with falcons was called off yesterday. The reason: Lady is a wild one that won't settle down to the ways of falconry. Lady is the Cooper's hawk that flew into the museum Nov. 16.

At that time, Albert J. Frazen, museum taxidermist, thought it would be a nice idea to train the hawk to hunt. Lady, as he called it, is still highly emotional about things, although she knows her name and will sit on Frazen's arm without throwing a tantrum.

Dall Settles Libel Action Against Time

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of President Roosevelt, today disclosed that he had settled his libel suit against Time magazine. The amount of the settlement, which was made out of court, was not revealed. Dall had sued the magazine for $250,000.

The suit was settled after New York state courts had ruled that the magazine had libeled Dall in printing a story of his fictitious suicide in the White House. The amount of damages remained to be determined by a New York county jury.

"The case has been settled to my complete and final satisfaction," said Dall, "and I licked 'em."

Magazine Is Silent.

Time, a magazine which purports to be a news publication, was silent on details of the settlement or the amount paid to Dall.

The agreement marked the end of a four year fight for vindication on Dall's part. He said that now he wanted to forget about the story, which had caused him embarrassment and damage in his brokerage business. Dall will be married a week from today to Miss Katharine Miller Leas at Haverford, Pa.

The Court of Appeals, highest tribunal in the state, on Oct. 11 established that Time was guilty of libeling Dall. The decision was unanimous. It directed that the case be taken before a jury to set the damages. Dall asked $250,000 on the ground that the malicious publication had brought him into public scandal and disgrace and had injured his business reputation.

Verdict Is Set Aside.

Time, through its attorneys, had sought a reargument on its appeal from a ruling of the appellate division of the Supreme court in New York City that libel had been committed.

The appellate division had received the case on an appeal from Time. A jury heard the case in May, 1937, and

FATHER DRINKS BEER WHILE 3 SONS WORK AS STREET BEGGARS

Christmas is near, and shoppers are in a generous mood. In thirty minutes yesterday, Julius Wojick, 12 years old, and his dancing dog, Queenie, collected $3.16. Julius plays the violin.

Policemen Clifford Mallon found them entertaining a crowd at Wabash avenue and Monroe street. Begging in the loop is illegal, so he took boy and dog to the Central station. There Julius told Acting Lieut. Barney Corcoran that his father had driven him to the loop in a big automobile.

"I've got two brothers, too," said Julius. "One sings and the other plays the accordion."

Police found the father, Stanley Wojick, in a tavern near State and Kinzie streets. He was sipping beer, waiting for his three talented sons. Wojick told police he and his sons give street entertainment in cities as they pass through. Lieut. Corcoran said he would book Wojick on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of his sons. Julius was taken to the Juvenile home.

BUCKLES DOWN TO SPEND $30,000 IN THREE MONTHS

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Herman Grieco, 47 years old, a cobbler, has the job of spending $30,000 in ninety days.

The money was bequeathed to him by his mother, who died in Italy. Italian authorities informed Grieco that he could not take the money from the country but said it would be all right for him to go there and spend it. So Grieco, a naturalized American, has obtained a ninety day passport and is going to Italy.

"I've always wondered what it is like to throw money away," he said, "and if they won't let me bring the money back, I'll show them how an American can spend it."

Find 600 Pounds of Honey in Lodge Building's Walls

Peru, Ind., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—For years Masonic lodge members at Gilead, north of here, have been bothered by colonies of bees making their home in the walls of the lodge building. The bees had won every combat to dislodge them. Recently Charles Tatman of Akron took over the job. Thus far, he has removed more than 600 pounds of honey from the walls. The bees are becoming discouraged.

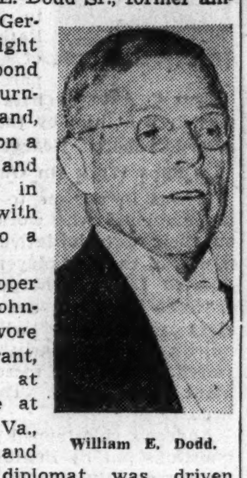
Omaha, Neb., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Childhood chums, Louis S. Davis of Norfolk, Neb., and Mrs. Olive Lane of Kansas City, both 71 years old, were married here.

Accuse Dodd, Ex-Envoy, as Hit-Run Driver

Hanover Courthouse, Va., Dec. 8.—(AP)—William E. Dodd Sr., former ambassador to Germany, tonight furnished bond of $2,000, returnable in Ashland, Va., Dec. 17, on a charge of hit and run driving in connection with an injury to a colored child.



William E. Dodd.

State Trooper Carlisle Johnstone, who swore out the warant, served it at Dodd's home at Round Hill, Va., late today and the former diplomat was driven back here tonight in his own car by Trooper E. P. Landers. The officers said they were instructed by Col. M. S. Battle Jr., director of the state division of motor vehicles, to hold Dodd's car pending disposition of the case.

Charge Failure to Stop.

Dodd is charged with failing to stop after his car struck and injured Gloria Grimes, 4 years old, near here Monday.

The former ambassador, who arrived here a few minutes after his son, W. E. Dodd Jr., said he would spend the night in Fredericksburg and continue to Washington and New York tomorrow. Bond was arranged by T. Justin Moore, Richmond attorney, in the office of Trial Justice Robert T. Winston.

Dodd, reiterating statements made in a telephone conversation from his home in northern Virginia earlier today, said he continued on his way because he believed the child had escaped injury. He said the girl [illegible] into the path of his automobile as he was traveling about forty-five miles an hour, and that he applied the brakes and swerved the car.

Not at Fault, He Says.

"It was not my fault," Dodd said. "The youngster ran into the path of my automobile about thirty feet ahead. I put on the brakes, turned the car, and drove on because I believed the child had escaped."

Hospital attachés said the child's condition is critical, and that she is suffering from a cerebral concussion and a fracture of the skull.

A number of persons were named as witnesses. They included Mrs. Winston Woolfolk of Caroline county, who was said to be driving a car directly behind that of Mr. Dodd; W. S. Chenautl, who reported the matter to police; Gertrude Green, and Anna Virginia Grimes, the latter a sister of the injured child, who were said to have reported the license number of the automobile.

Former U. of Chicago Professor.

Dodd served as ambassador to Germany from 1933 to 1937. He served as professor of history at Randolph Macon college from 1900 to 1908. Afterwards he became professor of American history at the University of Chicago, a post he filled until President Roosevelt sent him as ambassador to Germany.

INDIANA'S WPA CHIEF ADMITS RELIEF WASTE

Calls for Revision of New Deal Program.

Change in Front

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Harry Hopkins, Works Progress administrator, today in his first press conference since last summer displayed a decided change of front and indicated that changes would be made in WPA administration as a result of criticisms leveled at it.

Hopkins refrained from his usual peppery comment about criticisms of the WPA program and deprecation of suggestions that improvement could be made in administration.

Later Hopkins conferred with Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], who yesterday in a speech in New York assailed wholesale spending, warned of the dangers of an ever growing public debt, and declared for a change in federal relief fund spending based upon a formula to be worked out by congress. After seeing Hopkins today Senator Byrnes said he believed a program could be worked out along the lines he had suggested.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—John K. Jennings, Indiana WPA director, today admitted the existence of waste in the New Deal relief program and declared that the setup should be revised. Jennings is a Democrat.

"The time is here," he told a convention of Indiana county and township officials, "when congress and the people can rightfully expect to be shown tangible plans for the expenditure of money for relief purposes.

"Both congress and the people have a right to expect better planned programs. I believe that a properly itemized brief detailing how the money is to be spent should be presented to congress in asking relief appropriations."

Expects Change in Plan.

Jennings said that the WPA will not be continued in its present form.

"It is my belief," he said, "that the successor to the WPA will be characterized by economy, so that the highest possible percentage of every dollar will go to relief clients. Our legislators may soon vote to form a new relief agency on less elaborate lines."

Before addressing the meeting Jennings conferred with seven new Republican congressmen from Indiana who will go to Washington next month.

Economy Stand Told.

The congressmen, who comprise a majority of the state's twelve United States representatives, told Jennings that while they are concerned with providing adequate relief for worthy persons, they intend to insist on sensible economy, especially in regard to WPA costs.

Jennings' records show that the WPA enrollment was 100,785 on Nov. 9, the day after election, and that it had dropped to 97,888 by Nov. 30. Jennings admitted that 60,000 more Indianians were on the WPA rolls in October, 1938, than in the same month a year ago.

New Jersey Quiz Demanded.

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Mayor Bernard L. Stafford today demanded an investigation in the Paterson regional office of the WPA. He charged that the office reeks with intrigue and mismanagement.

"If an impartial investigation were conducted," said the mayor, "the Paterson armory wouldn't be large enough to hold all the people who would come to testify."

A controversy has existed over a WPA project for the compilation of a city tax atlas. Mayor Stafford said that the WPA had gone ahead with the project although the city had disapproved it.

REFORM RELIEF SYSTEM

BY WILL O'NEIL.

Another step toward putting into effect the Gregory plan for cutting relief frauds in Chicago was announced yesterday by Leo M. Lyons, commissioner of the Chicago Relief administration. At the same time an example of the loopholes in the present system of granting relief came to light in Municipal court.

The Gregory commission, appointed by Gov. Horner to investigate relief conditions, recommended last spring that a central intake office be established by the CRA on a businesslike basis to determine the eligibility and actual need for relief of applicants from all sections of the city.

Office Serves One District.

A central intake office was established by the CRA several months ago. Thus far, however, it is serving only the Bridgeport office, one of nineteen district offices in the city. Each of the other district offices determines the eligibility and need for relief for applicants from its district.

Lyons said yesterday that special stafs to investigate applicants will be established Monday in the Washington and Irving district offices. Fifteen persons will be added to the Washington staf and thirteen in the Irving office for the new, intensive investigation departments.

The results of lax investigation were shown when Joseph Olbrys appeared before Judge Francis Borrelli. He had obtained $187 in relief while working until the small CRA special frauds department caught him in the summer of 1937. Olbrys jumped his personal bond and failed to appear when due in court, September, 1937.

Found Again—On Relief.

The fraud department recently found Olbrys again. He was receiving relief through the Southwest district office of the CRA under the name of Anthony Angelock. He gave his address at the relief station as 11356 Indiana avenue.

Applicants for relief are supposed to prove residence in Illinois for one year before receiving relief. CRA investigators are supposed to make sure the residence and need for relief are genuine. How Olbrys, alias Angelock, got back on relief while wanted for fraud was not explained. Judge Borrelli sent him to jail for sixty days.

George Grant, colored, of 3442 Prairie avenue, received a similar sentence on a charge of defrauding the CRA of $199. Charles Staswick, 3356 Emerald avenue, and his wife, Verna, were placed on probation for a year and ordered to repay $118 to the CRA on a charge of obtaining relief through fraud.

KILLER'S LETTER CLEARS CONVICT IN BANK HOLDUP

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 8.—(AP)—From a death cell in San Quentin penitentiary came a letter today from outlaw Ed Davis asserting that he and four other desperadoes committed an $11,000 bank robbery in Clinton, Okla., for which a man now is serving a twenty-five year sentence.

The other four, Davis said, were Harvey Bailey, now serving life at Alcatraz for the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping; Big Bob Brady, Wilbur Underhill, and Jim Clark. Davis is under sentence of death for murder.

The man serving the twenty-five year sentence is Walter Philpot, 55 years old, who has been in prison since Jan. 11, 1935. He has insisted he was working on a farm at the time of the robbery.

The over the counter sale of Illinois' orange and black 1939 automobile license plates was opened yesterday in the Chicago office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes at 120 South Ashland boulevard. A huge crowd was on hand to buy the plates. Most automobile owners will mail their applications to the Springfield office of the secretary. Application blanks are available at motor clubs and at THE TRIBUNE's Public Service offices, and by mail from Secretary Hughes' Chicago or Springfield offices.

URGES 'FIRING' EMPLOYES WHO WORK OVERTIME

Wage-Hour Head Assails Zealous Workers.

Conscientious employés who work overtime against the wishes of their employers should be discharged, Elmer F. Andrews asserted yesterday. The wage and hours act administrator was guest of honor at a luncheon meeting of the Trade Association Executives Forum of Chicago at the Stevens hotel.

Elmer F. Andrews.

Andrews made no formal address to his audience. Rather, a barrage of questions prepared by members of the forum was fired at him by the group's secretary-treasurer, George W. Benton.

Raps Work On Own Time.

It was in answer to one concerning employés who work extra hours on their own initiative against the wishes of their employers that he advocated their discharge.

"Such employés are in the same class with those who insist on quitting an hour early," Andrews declared. "Both are indicative of poor plant management. They should be fired."

Andrews sidestepped several of the questions put by Benton. Others he answered only generally.

Legal Staf Works Overtime.

"The legal division of the wage and hours division is working overtime," he explained. "I'd better get back to Washington soon before all my answers are overruled."

The wage and hours division will appoint committees for the nation's various industries as soon as money and time permit, Andrews said. At present lack of funds prevents the division securing the type of men that it needs to serve on such committees, he stated. However, a new appropriation which will take care of this problem is expected, Andrews said.

Brands Law Dry Subject.

Early in the meeting Andrews jokingly branded the fair labor standards act [wage and hour law] "the dryest subject I have ever heard of."

In concluding, the administrator expressed surprise that he had not been asked to define the term "executive."

"About the best definition I know of is this," Andrews explained: "If a man has an office with a desk on which there is a buzzer, and if he can press that buzzer and have somebody come dashing in response—then he's an executive."

FOUND SLAIN IN HOME.

Smyth Allen, 43 years old, was found shot to death yesterday, apparently a suicide, in his home at 5141 North Kotsner avenue. Police were told he had been ill.

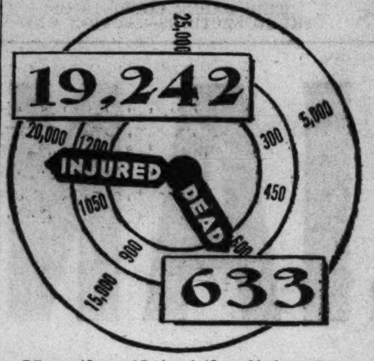
THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1938 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

KILLED BY AUTO; DRIVER BLINDED BY TRAIN SMOKE

3 Hurt in 2d Mishap Near Lake Forest.

Florian Muska, for forty-seven years a blacksmith on the Northwest highway three and a half miles west of Barrington, was killed near his home last night by a motorist who said he was blinded by smoke from a passing North Western railroad train. Muska was 67 years old. The driver was John Hess, 409 Dale avenue, Crystal Lake.

Mrs. Frank H. Just, wife of a Waukegan publisher, and her daughter, Mary, were injured last night when their automobile and another collided during a light rain on route 22, one mile west of Lake Forest. Police said the driver of the second machine, Sylvester Sell, 222 Prairie avenue, Libertyville, had been drinking. Sell, who was injured slightly, was taken with the others to the Condell Memorial hospital in Libertyville.

60 Shaken in Bus Crash.

Sixty persons were shaken and two bruised last night when a Surface Lines trolley bus, disabled by a broken front axle, crashed into a light post at Lake street and Central avenue. Those bruised were Mrs. Elizabeth Joyce, 50 years old, 4938 Walton street, and Mrs. Laura Costello, 54, of 5024 Roscoe street.

Mrs. Helen Gliwa, 35 years old, 2931 Arch street, died yesterday in the People's hospital from injuries incurred Tuesday night when she was struck by an automobile near her home. Ernest Allard, 1508 Garfield boulevard, the driver, was charged with reckless driving.

Ernest Micklish, 70 years old, former superintendent of the River Forest water department, was fatally injured last night when he was run down by an automobile in Washington boulevard near Franklin avenue in the suburb. He died in the Oak Park hospital an hour after the accident. Joseph Gillespie of 3325 Washington boulevard was the driver. Micklish lived at 418 Park avenue, River Forest.

Hit-Run Victim Dies.

Patrick Feeley, 60, of 3040 Congress street, died in Bethany hospital from injuries incurred when he was struck by a hit and run driver Tuesday.

The county highway police yesterday were seeking to identify a man who on Wednesday night was injured fatally by an automobile at 116th street and Pulaski road, in Alsip. The man was identified at first, from cards in his pocket, as Michael Hagen of 11137 Washtenaw avenue. Later Hagen was found safe at home, but he could not identify the victim.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 823 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 633 were killed in Chicago, where 19,242 were injured in the period.

DIES OF AUTO INJURIES.

Du Quoin, Ill., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Funeral services were held here this afternoon for Robert J. King, 23, who died of injuries received when the brakes on his car locked hurling him through the windshield.

ALLMAN ORDERS TIGHTER POLICING OF AUTO TRAFIC

RovingSquadsTake Hand; Plan Picked Men.

BY HAL FOUST.

Police Commissioner Allman agreed yesterday with adverse criticism of his department—concerning bad automobile driving practices prevalent in Chicago—published in previous articles in this series. He will issue orders today seeking to alleviate the condition.

Outside of the central business district an average of 500 men are assigned to full or part time trafic duty at intersections or crossings. One of the commissioner's orders will instruct captains to select men for this duty who have received trafic schooling, men able to keep vehicles and pedestrians untangled.

All Get Trafic Instruction.

All new policemen are given trafic instruction. There are old timers, however, who have walked a beat for so long that when they are assigned to intersection duty they are lost.

The chief's second order will apply to the 101 district squad cars in the department. They are assigned to the forty-one stations in the city to answer neighborhood alarms. Much of their time on the streets they are returning to their stations after answering these calls. These squad members will receive instructions to watch for trafic offenses when not otherwise occupied.

Exclude Detective Squads.

"Detective bureau squads will be excluded," the commissioner said. "These men are alert for hoodlums, thieves, robbers, or stolen cars. They are specialists. Trafic duty would interfere with their work in suppressing crime."

Allman's department has been widely acclaimed for excellence in crime suppression. On trafic control outside experts say it is weak and far below standards of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. A widespread public disregard for trafic regulations, especially on the west side, has resulted.

"THE TRIBUNE is correct in reporting that we need more motorcycle police," the commissioner said. "The department has just so many men. To put one on a motorcycle he must be taken from some other job unless I'm given more men. I'm going to see what can be done."

Betterment Under Allman.

Since Allman became commissioner in 1931 decided betterment in trafic control has occurred in Chicago, although much still remains to be done. An outstanding improvement was the elimination of wholesale ticket fixing. During A Century of Progress Exposition in 1933 and 1934 police received training in courtesy that is still evident.

The commissioner's orders today will be the second development toward better driving conditions concurrent with publication of these articles on Chicago's bad accident record, its weak trafic policing, and its motorists' bad habits. In THE TRIBUNE yesterday, James B. Kerr, chief of the park district police, announced that he is inaugurating a system of coördinated accident and arrest records and that by the first of the year he will double the number of patrol cars on the boulevards.

STEVEDORES' STRIKE HALTS LONG DISTANCE TRUCKS IN N. Y. CITY

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—About half the long distance trucking in and out of New York City was cut off today by a strike of stevedores and checkers employed in truck terminals here. More than 1,000 drivers refused to enter the terminals, although their unions insisted no official sympathy strike had been called and that the unions were living up to their contracts. The union demands $6.50 a day for platform men instead of $4.40 and $4.80 for checkers.

Efforts to settle the walkout of terminal workers through the state mediation board failed, but there seemed little likelihood that the dispute between the Highway Transport association and the Motor and Bus Terminal Checkers, Platform and Office Workers' union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, would spread to local truckmen and produce a tieup comparable to that of two months ago, when 15,000 teamsters refused to work.

John Dunn, vice president and business agent of the striking local, said newsprint, medical supplies, and perishable foodstuffs are exempt from the strike order.

Two Newest Destroyers Launched for U. S. Navy

Newport News, Va., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The navy's two newest destroyers, the Mustin and the Russell, slid down the ways at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company today.

28 NEW TRUCKS HELD FOR LACK OF STATE TAGS

Twenty-eight new trucks, en route from a factory at Springfield, O., to Wyoming and Montana, were held by the Illinois state police last night at the station at 147th street and Cicero avenue. Lieut. Morris Schwartz said the drivers must buy Illinois license plates, paying a six months' fee of $6 for each vehicle for a single crossing of the state.

Prosecution of the drivers, Wyoming and Montana dealers and their salesmen, will be waived. They said they had been informed that their dealer plates would be honored in Illinois. Lieut. Schwartz said there is no reciprocity on truck licenses between Illinois and either Wyoming or Montana.

The experience of these dealers was similar to those encountered a year ago by THE TRIBUNE Automobile Editor in taking a truck from New York to Los Angeles. The imposition of a $6 tax for a single crossing of the state is typical of the nation's tangle of truck taxation and regulation described by commercial highway users as barriers to interstate commerce.

Three Trafic Violations Net Driver 10 Days in Jail

Karl Olson, 2258 Orchard street, a WPA laborer, was sentenced to ten days in the Bridewell by Judge Harry H. Porter in the Evanston Municipal court yesterday after he was found guilty on three trafic charges. Olson was charged with driving while intoxicated, passing a stop light, and driving without a license. His driving privileges were suspended for sixty days.

ERRATIC DRIVER LIES TO JUDGE; GETS NEW TERM

Richard Arno, 23 years old, a trucker from Toledo, O., told a lie to County Judge Perry L. Persons in Waukegan on Nov. 21. Yesterday he learned this would cost him an extra seventeen days in jail. Arno was seized for reckless driving Oct. 28 after he ignored a stop light and struck two automobiles at Skokie highway and Deerfield road in Highland Park. One woman was injured.

In court Arno pleaded for leniency, saying his wife had had a baby in the time between the accident and his trial. The judge sentenced him to fifteen days in the county jail. His term was up Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Highland Park police investigated and found it would be several months before the Arno heir arrives. Judge Persons let Arno stay in jail two days, then yesterday sentenced him to an additional fifteen days, a total of thirty-two.

DIES ON WPA JOB.

Reliefer for Eight Years Never Tries to Find Job

Frank A. Salinske, a reliefer who lives at 2462 Clybourn avenue, was before Judge Thomas A. Green in Town Hall court yesterday accused of getting drunk and beating his wife. Salinske testified that he had been on relief for eight years and had never tried to find work in that time. Judge Green sent him to jail for 105 days when he was unable to pay a $200 fine.

DIXMOOR OUSTS 3 POLICE; MAYOR REFUSES TO QUIT

Board Acts After Speed Trap Convictions.

The village board of Dixmoor last night more or less finished the work started by prosecutors, court, and jury in cleaning up a notorious speed trap in the village.

By a vote of four to one the board demanded the resignation of Charles Special, village president. By the same vote the board ousted the village's three policemen. Last week the police magistrate, Charles A. Braun, resigned under pressure. All five—Special, Braun, and the policemen, are under sentences of one year, plus heavy fines, for operating the speed trap.

Mayor Refuses to Resign.

Special, who is generally called "mayor," refused to resign, remaining the only one of the five to retain his position. He is appealing his conviction and he said that until the Supreme court passes on it he cannot be considered convicted. Under the village law, the board can only demand his resignation, but cannot oust him except for felony. He was found guilty of a misdemeanor. "I plan to ignore the resolution," Special said.

Special presided at the board meeting, which was attended by 100 villagers. Dixmoor's population is 950. Among those present were former Magistrate Braun and Policemen Tony Bater, also known as Bader, and Charles Paduano. Robert Grecco, the third policeman convicted, was absent.

Immediately after the meeting opened, Trustee Theodore Pinkins presented a motion calling for Special's resignation "because of his conviction."

Orders Vote on Resolution.

"The motion's out of order," interrupted Special. He withdrew his ruling a few moments later, and ordered a vote on the resolution. Trustees Pinkins, Frank Certna, who seconded it, Stanley Furman, and S. Lozny voted for it. Trustee Victor Monk cast the dissenting vote. This done, President Special proposed a counter resolution.

"Will some one move for the resignation of the four trustees who voted for me to resign?" he asked. No one volunteered.

Trustee Certna then asked that Special's salary of $500 a year be reduced to $150, but withdrew his motion on the advice of Village Attorney P. P. Flick, who held the village president's salary cannot be changed during the fiscal year.

Says Force Is Unnecessary.

The next action was taken against the three policemen. Trustee Furman moved that the police force be discharged. Special held the motion out of order, but was overruled four to one by the trustees. They voted then for the policemen's ouster.

Policemen Bater and Paduano objected and were supported by Special, who pointed out the village would be without police protection. Trustee Furman replied: "What good are these policemen anyway? They can't be found when they're wanted. We can get ample protection from the county and state police." The policemen then demanded they be paid to the end of the fiscal year next April, but the village attorney ruled the best they could hope for was pay to the end of December.

More Suburbs Face Cleanup.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin, who prosecuted the Dixmoor case, announced yesterday he will extend his speed trap investigation to many small suburbs in the southern part of the county. He has summoned the police magistrates and treasurers of Calumet Park, a town of 1,200 population east of Blue Island, and of Robbins, a Negro community southwest of Blue Island, to his office.

"We have a strong suspicion that money from fines is being used to pay salaries," said Austin. "That's illegal."

The Calumet Park officials summoned are Magistrate Charles Blackmore and Treasurer John Seidl, and the Robbins officials are Magistrate Frank P. Griffith and Treasurer Addie Yarborgh. Last Monday Police Chief Leo Sender of Crestwood was arrested on suspicion of operating a speed trap.

Settles Time Suit

Curtis Dall, former son-in-law of President Roosevelt, and Miss Katharine Miller Leas. They will be married next week in Haverford, Pa. Dall disclosed yesterday that he had settled his libel suit against Time magazine. He had sued for $250,000.

REPRIEVE DELAYS BRICK SLAYER'S DEATH IN CHAIR

Robert Nixon, colored slayer and rapist under sentence of death for the murder of Mrs. Florence Johnson last May 27, was granted a reprieve yesterday by Lieut. Gov. John Stelle. The lieutenant governor acted in the absence of Gov. Horner, who is in Florida for his health. Nixon had been scheduled to die in the electric chair shortly after midnight this morning.

The reprieve, which was recommended by the state board of pardons and paroles, is to permit Nixon's attorney to make a final appeal to the Illinois Supreme court. On Wednesday Attorney Joseph Clayton, colored, appeared before Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court to ask for a fifth stay of execution on the ground that he had not had time to present a bill of exceptions to the Supreme court, which convened Tuesday. Judge McKinley refused to grant a further stay.

Before he received notice of the reprieve yesterday Nixon posed for photographers and told Warden Frank G. Sain of the county jail that he was innocent of the crime for which he was convicted.

Los Angeles Has All Time December Heat—92 Degrees

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Los Angeles today sweltered for nearly two hours in an all-time December high of 92 degrees. The mercury, between 1 and 3 p. m., was only three points lower than it was on the year's very hottest days, last Aug. 1 and 2. Only eight other days this year were as warm.

TIME MAGAZINE SETTLES LIBEL SUIT WITH DALL

found for the magazine. Judge Bernard L. Shientag set aside the verdict, asserting that it was "against the overwhelming weight of credible evidence and a travesty on justice." He ordered a new trial and the magazine appealed.

The libel appeared in the April 23, 1934, issue of Time and subsequently was reprinted in the magazine's blurbs as an example of its accurate reporting. The suit, of course, put a stop to that line of promotion.

Story Tells of Death.

The story as it appeared in Time began as follows:

"Yesterday Curtis B. Dall, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, shot himself in the White House in the presence of his estranged wife and Mrs. Roosevelt. He died later in the day."

Then followed a description of the suicide of Enzo de Bonze, son-in-law of Mrs. Gaston Doumergue, wife of the former French prime minister. Time pointed out that French papers had paid scant attention to the event although it was "almost an exact parallel of that tragedy"—the fictitious Dall suicide.

It was only two months later that the President's daughter, Anna, obtained a divorce from Dall in Reno and was married to John Boettiger, a newspaper man.

During the trial of the libel action, John S. Martin, the magazine's managing editor, had explained that the story of Dall's suicide was "the imaginary mind of Time but not the serious reporting mind of Time." He said it was not unusual for Time to start out a story with a false statement, which he termed "a Dutch lead," in order to capture the attention of the reader.

In its ruling the appellate division said:

"Read in the light of the rules of law, the article published by the defendant concerning the plaintif is libelous per se, and the jury should have been so instructed. It necessarily tended to hold plaintif up to public shame, contempt, and ridicule and injure him in his reputation.

"The first paragraph of the article in plain and unambiguous language charged plaintif with the commission of an odious act, self-murder, under circumstances exceptionally revolting and evincing a depraved disregard of human decency."

CAREENING AUTO WITH DEAD DRIVER AT HELM PERILS BUYING CROWD

Erie, Pa., Dec. 8—(AP)—A careening automobile with a dead man at the wheel sent scores of Christmas shoppers scurrying for safety downtown today. The occupant, Frank W. Mehler, 53 years old, had left his tailor shop, telling an employé he was going to a doctor. "I don't know if I'll be back," he added. The machine finally crashed into a fire plug. Coroner W. G. Stroble attributed death to heart disease.

BENSON BOOMED FOR G. O. P. FLOOR LEADER IN SENATE

Batavia Publisher Would Succeed Searcy.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Friends of State Senator Arnold P. Benson, Batavia, predicted yesterday that he will be chosen Republican floor leader of the senate at the caucus preceding the convening of the legislature on Jan. 3.

Senator Arnold P. Benson.

Benson would succeed Senator Earl B. Searcy, Springfield, minority leader since January, 1935. While Searcy previously had declared his intention of seeking reëlection, he said yesterday he would not enter a contest for the post.

"If they want to pass the honor around, it's all right with me," Searcy said. "I haven't asked any of the senators to support me. I shan't ask them. I'll wait until the caucus and see what happens."

11 Votes Needed For Control.

The senate will be composed of 20 Republicans and 31 Democrats. To control the Republican caucus, Benson would need 11 votes. Those backing him for floor leader estimated his pledges of support at from 12 to 15.

Benson, a newspaper publisher in Batavia and a second termer in Springfield, was non-committal about his reported candidacy. He said he knew there was some sentiment in his behalf but he declined to say whether he would consent to have his name placed before the caucus.

Several senators said, however, that they had been visited by emissaries in Benson's behalf, who told them that there would be no question of his election.

Benson was born in Batavia. He was first elected to the senate in 1932. When he was a candidate for his second term in 1936, the Legislative Voters league urged his reëlection on the basis of "a very good record." He has not spoken often on the floor but his attendance record is high, particularly as to committee work.

Led Fight For Repeal.

Senator Searcy stepped into senate prominence during prohibition times when he led the fight for repeal of the dry laws. He was named chairman of the Republican caucus in 1934 and floor leader the following year. Searcy has served in the senate since 1922.

It was difficult for observers to learn yesterday what objections were being raised by the Benson proponents to Searcy's reëlection. Those supporting the present leader said he had rendered the party valuable service and was in a particularly advantageous position to watch the Democratic state administration because of his residence in the capitol.

In 1936, Searcy announced he would run for governor. Later he decided to seek the nomination for state auditor but was defeated in the primary by Senator Arthur J. Bidwill, River Forest. Bidwill, in turn, was defeated by Auditor Edward J. Barrett, the Democratic candidate.

MARGARET SCHNEIDER.

Climaxing a romance that blossomed in the air lanes, Stewardess Margaret Schneider, 24, of American Airlines, will be married on Jan. 10 in Fort Worth, Tex., to Richard Copeland, 32, regional director for the Civil Aeronautics authority in Atlanta, Ga. The couple will make their home in Atlanta. Miss Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Schneider of 2193 Clara street, Cincinnati, has been flying for American Airlines since September of 1937. She is the forty-third American Airlines stewardess that has resigned this year to become married.

MAIN BREAK CUTS OFF WAUKEGAN'S WATER 3 HOURS

Waukegan's 37,000 residents had late suppers last night. A sixteen inch water main burst at Clayton and Sand streets, flooding the immediate area with a million gallons of water and lowering the pressure so that the whole city was without water for nearly three hours.

The break occurred at 4:40 o'clock. Water spurted up from the point of the break, five feet below the surface, and broke through the pavement in miniature geysers. A switch track of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad was uprooted. Hundreds of phone calls from anxious housewives, hotels, and restaurants swamped the city hall.

Andrew Klarkowski, assistant city engineer, put a force of men to work. In three hours there was sufficient pressure to care for needs of most of the city. Klarkowski said a crew of fifteen would repair the break by morning.

GRAND JURY TOLD BARS IN FIGHTING POLICE JOB FRAUD

Most Complainers Can Blame Only Selves.

The difficulties of prosecuting in cases of alleged sucker payments for preferential places on the police lists were said to have been outlined to the grand jury yesterday by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley.

Crowley refused to discuss the matter outside the grand jury room. It was reported that several members of the jury had expressed interest in rumors that a number of applicants for police jobs had paid out sums of money to have their names put near the top of the list, and then had not received jobs. Police appointments are given out according to ratings, starting from the top down.

Obstacles Are Explained.

According to reports, Crowley explained that one of the main difficulties of prosecuting sucker money cases, from the legal standpoint, was that in all cases investigated thus far, the persons complaining were the ones who first proposed paying money.

Crowley was understood to have pointed out that the people who were approached and given sucker money by police applicants were, for the most part, neighborhood tavern owners, precinct workers, and the like; none with official positions. The sucker wails have followed virtually every police list posting.

Bribery Held no Issue.

A lawyer familiar with police list complaints said no question of bribery has been raised. The saloonkeeper or precinct captain who takes money in such cases is not bribed, he said. He has nothing to do with marking police examination papers. However, the lawyer said, it would be bribery for a civil service commissioner to take money, since he marks those papers.

Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission, revealed yesterday his staf had taken four or five affidavits from rejected police candidates who charged they paid money for preferential places. He did this as a matter of convenience for another organization which has no legal authority. Two complainants were Jerry and Ervin Kvech, 3343 Fillmore street. They stated they paid a total of $675 to a 24th ward precinct captain, but got neither jobs nor money back.

HIS DESIRE FOR U. S. CITIZENSHIP DEFENSE AT MURDER TRIAL

Cleveland, O., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Severino Calandre is on trial for murder, his attorneys said today, because he wanted to be an American citizen.

He was prompted to arm himself, the lawyers said in opening his defense, after six months of abuse by countrymen who accused him of being "faithless to Italy and Mussolini."

"You're no Fascist and we're going to cut your heart out," Attorney Martin A. McCormack quoted the tormenters as crying at Calandre after he applied for citizenship. He is charged with shooting down two neighbors in a beer parlor.

AWARDED $31,000 FOR AUTO-TRAIN CRASH KILLING 2

A jury before Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday awarded Mrs. B. A. Stephenson, 6012 Grace street, $31,000 damages from the Grand Trunk and Western railway for the death of her husband, and son, Stuart, 10 years old. They were killed when a train struck their automobile at a Battle Creek, Mich., crossing. Stephenson was returning from the funeral of his father in Toronto, Ont. His widow's lawyer contended the crossing was without ample protection.

LE MOYNE BROS. ARE EXHIBIT A AGAINST PAROLE

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

The LeMoyne brothers, James, Frank, and George, products of the stockyards district, are cited by the police, prosecutors, and courts as glaring examples of the parole board mistakes.

Two of the brothers, James and Frank, when given a second chance by the parole board, promptly returned to crime and showed a reckless disregard for law and human life.

Get Maximum Sentences.

The criminal careers of two of the brothers was finally cut short in 1937 by the state's attorney's office and Judge Cornelius J. Harrington when they were sentenced under the habitual criminal act. This takes them out of reach of the parole board until they have served their sentences less time off for good behavior. James LeMoyne must serve at least fourteen years and six months of his twenty year sentence and Frank at least twenty years of his life sentence.

The habitual criminal act is seldom used except to punish flagrant repeaters. A criminal sentenced under it must serve the maximum term for his crime. James LeMoyne was found guilty of robbery without a revolver, which carries an indeterminate sentence of one to twenty years. Therefore he receivd a definite twenty year sentence. Frank was charged with robbery with a revolver, which is punished with a one year to life sentence.

Frank LeMoyne was the first of the brothers to defy the law. The parole board gave him two chances to reform before Judge Harrington sentenced him as an habitual criminal. The files of the Criminal court show that when he was 18 years old he committed two robberies. He was brought into court on April 3, 1925, and sentenced to three to twenty years in Pontiac reformatory for robbery. After serving three years and seven months the parole board decided he had reformed.

Organizes Family Gang.

Frank LeMoyne promptly organized his brothers into a family gang. With them he participated in more than 100 robberies before police caught up with him a second time. His reformation had lasted exactly two days longer than a month. He was paroled Dec. 12, 1928, and on Jan. 14, 1929, he and James robbed a filling station at 82d and Halsted streets. They locked the attendant in a room after threatening him with a revolver and fled with $32.

When George joined the gang they speeded up their private crime wave until on Feb. 11, 1929, the brothers committed six robberies in two hours. They specialized in holding up gasoline stations and motorists while they were putting their cars away in garages. On Feb. 9 they even robbed a policeman, Daniel Collins, 8221 South Loomis street, in his garage. They took $22 and his service revolver.

William H. Collins, a school principal, was another victim. He was robbed on Feb. 4, 1929, as he was putting his car in his garage behind his home at 7207 Oglesby avenue. The automobile and $5 were taken from him.

Wound Station Attendant.

The brothers spilled their first blood on Feb. 11, 1929, when they robbed a filling station at 459 Ogden avenue. Christ Guirrieri, 16 South Loomis street, was their victim. The gang first struck him on the head and later fired two shots at him. One bullet hit him in the wrist and another in the foot.

They tried to commit murder a second time on Feb. 18, 1929, when Policeman Herbert Schoinbeck cornered them in an alley in the rear of 3653 South Halsted street. After a revolver battle in which they fired several shots at the policeman they escaped.

With this record of more than 100 robberies and several shootings they were sent to the penitentiary in April and in June, 1929. Frank was sentenced to one year to life, the period prescribed by the indeterminate sentence act, and James and George to 1 to 20 years.

James was found to be a good risk by the parole board on May 22, 1936, and he was paroled. Frank, the repeater, was held until April 3, 1937, when the parole board decided he had made his second reformation. The records do not show what became of George.

Reforms for 5 Months.

Frank stayed reformed for about five months before returning to robbery. His first known crime with his brother was committed on Sept. 15, 1937. Charles Schmitt, 7030 South Artesian avenue, was their victim. He was robbed of $3 and his car. The automobile was later wrecked by the brothers in an accident near Joliet.

The brothers admitted to police when arrested that they intended to surpass their previous forays but were thwarted by arrest. Between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1, they said, they had committed 25 burglaries and robberies.

Policeman Emmett Dwyer and a squad from Gresham station cut the new crime wave short when they found James hiding in a greasing pit in a filling station at 87th street and Laflin avenue on Oct. 1, 1937. The brothers had broken into the station. James was armed with two revolvers. He confessed and told the whereabouts of his brother.

On Oct. 19, 1937, they were brought before Judge Harrington. After looking over the records and sentencing the brothers he remarked:

"I hope the next mistake will be in behalf of the public and not criminals with records like these."

FUNDAMENTALS OF A FOUNDER

By CALEB

IN MY HAND, as I write, is a quaint little eight-page pamphlet. Its typography is of the simplest, yet in such excellent taste that it would do credit to any Chicago craftsman of today. The cover date is 1904 . . . . and the title: "A Letter from Marshall Field to Newell Dwight Hillis—on the Virtues that Make for Commercial Success."

It seems that the famous Dr. Hillis had addressed to Mr. Field two questions; questions somehow as pertinent, these more than three decades later, and as direct to the bull's-eye of fundamentals, as if written no longer ago than yesterday. "What do you consider essential elements of success for young men standing on the threshold of a business career?"—was one. And "What, in your observation, have been the chief causes of the numerous failures in business life?" was the second.

Space precludes taking more than a sample or two from the sturdy vigor and equal directness of Marshall Field's text in reply. But consider, in its aptness to the problems and failings of modern-day youth, the contemporary quality of this simple comment: "The trouble with most young men" (answering the first query), "is that they do not learn anything thoroughly, and are apt to do the work committed to them in a careless manner; forgetting that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well, they become mere drones and rely upon chance to bring them success."

In referring to the eminent divine's second question, Mr. Field succinctly answered: "The man who is characterized by want of forethought, idleness, carelessness, or general shiftlessness, cannot expect to succeed." And as corollaries to this fundamental, he advises: "The haste to become rich at the expense of character prevails to an alarming extent, and cannot be too severely denounced." . . . It goes without saying that a man who is not competent to run a small income . . . cannot be expected to properly manage a large income, or run successfully a large business."

Homely, uncompromising, old-fashioned—swerveless as the Pole Star, explicit as the Ten Commandments—were the ideas and ideals that characterized Mr. Field's entire career. But we feel that it is these same "virtues that make for commercial success" today—and are grateful that on such forthright tenets of business and living this institution had the good fortune to be founded.

4. A bill abolishing the independent general accounting office and substituting an auditor general whose powers would be limited to post-audits after the money had been spent. Current accounting to determine whether funds were being spent in accordance with law would be left to the politically responsible treasury department.

The best opinion in congress is that the President will get no more than the six assistants and the general reorganization bill, which will be subject to the restrictions of the Wheeler amendment.

INN OWNER DIES, PARTNER SHOT; HUNT EMPLOYE

Alpena, Mich., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—A young man employé of a resort near here was sought by police tonight as a suspect in the slaying of Beryl L. Bergman, 55 years old, and the serious wounding of William Gilliland, 60, owners of the resort.

The men were shot this morning in one of several cabins at the Lookout inn, seventeen miles south of Alpena. When police arrived at the scene Gilliland said an intruder killed Bergman as he lay in bed and then shot him after learning he had only a small amount of money. Gilliland was shot in the stomach and one hand.

State police began searching for the employé, 21 years old, who had been an attendant at the inn's gasoline station. They said he was missing, along with Bergman's automobile. The youth formerly was employed in a lumber camp near Rudyard, Mich.

TRANSIT MERGER ACCORD HELD UP BY HARRIS GROUP

Fight Lien Behind Bonds of 'L' Properties.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Whether the only bondholders committee which has not accepted the latest plan for merging the surface lines and elevated railways will make the last concession necessary for a final agreement, was a subject of increasing interest in traction circles yesterday.

This committee is headed by A. W. Harris, chairman of the Harris Trust and Savings bank. It represents the largest single group of street car securities holders—owners of the first mortgage bonds of the north side car lines. There are $41,700,000 of these bonds outstanding.

Committees for all other major surface lines groups are in agreement with elevated committees on a merger deal. The alignment of these surface lines committees with the elevated has put the pressure for traction settlement on the Harris committee. So far there has been no disclosure of the position this committee will finally take.

Attorneys for both sides are to make an interim report to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson next Thursday on the progress of their negotiations. Last week Judge Wilkerson was prepared to abandon present efforts to get the companies out of his court. He granted more time when attorneys assured him they were close to an agreement. He indicated, however, that he will want a final answer by Jan. 9 or 10.

Point of Conflict Small.

It is a relatively small point of conflict that stands in the way of a settlement. All major groups, including the Harris committee, have agreed on the amount of securities of a new company that should be allotted to each system. The single point of difference is the rating of $7,000,000 bonds which would be issued to the elevated.

All groups agree that these bonds, so far as interest and sinking fund payments are concerned, should rate below $73,000,000 of bonds allotted to the surface lines. All groups, except the Harris committee, agree that in the event of a future default and foreclosure both bond issues would have the same lien on all the properties.

The Harris committee contends this amounts to a 10 per cent dilution of their present strong position. A spokesman for the group said yesterday that it is not just the personal opinions of the committee members or the chairman that is reflected in the objections, but the attitude of owners of large blocks of bonds deposited with the committee.

Opposed to More Concessions.

He asserted that the securities holders feel they already have made a big concession in agreeing to a merger they do not want and are opposed to sharing their mortgage position. They want the elevated to take a second mortgage.

The elevated group contends it has agreed to take a big cut in the present elevated capital, and that when it contributes all of its properties to a merged company it should have a share of the new first mortgage bonds to be issued.

The present merger plan is a modification of a proposal prepared by Walter A. Shaw, traction adviser to Judge Wilkerson. In his original plan, announced last Sept. 26, Shaw proposed forming a new company which would issue to the surface lines $73,000,000 mortgage bonds, $50,000,000 preferred stock, and 1,000,000 shares of common stock. To the elevated would go only $35,000,000 preferred stock.

Increase "L" Allotment.

Shaw modified his plan Oct. 31 to increase the elevated allotment by $7,000,000 of bonds and 40 per cent of the common stock of the new company. At the same time he cut the surface lines' share of preferred stock by $3,500,000 to $46,500,000.

A later modification of the plan and the one that produced the agreement between the elevated and most of the surface lines groups increased the surface lines' share of preferred to $62,000,000.

The present plan, therefore, provides for the issuance by a new company of 19 million dollars more securities—$7,000,000 bonds and $12,000,000 preferred stock—than Shaw originally proposed.

TAX DELINQUENCY SOLUTION URGED BY WEST SIDERS

The West Central association at its annual meeting yesterday in the Palmer house adopted a resolution urging public officials to find a speedy solution of the tax delinquency problem in Cook county. It commended recent efforts of public officers and civic groups seeking to cure tax delinquencies.

The resolution declared delinquency is a barrier to real estate activity, creates hardships in public finance, and puts an unfair burden of taxation on property owners who meet their tax bills promptly.

Gilbert Preston, west side real estate operator, declared that while the west side needs certain public improvements, the most constructive contribution can be furnished by property owners themselves if they will improve their own properties.

MAYOR PICTURES BIG PROGRAM FOR FUTURE OF CITY

Subway Is Only a Start in Plan, He Says.

Chicago's subway system, on which work will be started next week, is only one of a series of major improvements planned for the city, Mayor Kelly said last night in a radio interview.

The program includes modernization and unified operation of all traction facilities, universal transfers and speedier and more comfortable service, he asserted.

"More subways must be built and there are great highway arteries to be constructed to many sides of the city," the mayor said. "Modern feeder buses are needed to link certain outlying communities. Streets are to be widened and street car routes supplanted by modern cars and motor buses.

Promises New Ordinance Soon.

"The traction settlement is not all signed, sealed, and delivered, for there are still some difficulties to be ironed out. But we will soon climax the dream of half a century with a unified streamlined traction ordinance."

The mayor said there will be no fare increase as a result of the subways. Operation of the tunnels, he asserted, will be self sustaining. The cost of providing speedy and efficient service must come within the present fare schedules.

He announced earlier that the formal ceremonies marking the start of actual digging of the tunnels will be held Dec. 17 on State street near Chicago avenue. Speakers will include the mayor, Harold L. Ickes, public works administrator; Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the city council's local transportation committee, and Philip Harrington, city subway commissioner.

Delay Start to Suit Ickes.

Harrington said that the provision of the PWA contract for subway building requiring that work be started by Dec. 15 will be amended. The city was ready to go ahead on schedule, but the later date was picked to suit Ickes. The PWA is contributing 45 per cent of the 40 million dollar cost of the tubes.

The city council is scheduled to approve today the bid of the Herlihy Mid-Continent company for building the first section of the State street subway. The council finance committee yesterday voted to recommend the award of the contract. The Herlihy company was the lowest of eight bidders for the section between Illinois street and Bellevue place. The price is $2,744,604.

Two more citizen groups yesterday added their requests that the mayor be a candidate for reëlection. For several weeks delegations of business men, labor leaders, nationality groups, and others have been urging him to announce himself.

Mr. Kelly has not given a definite answer, but he came close to it yesterday in acknowledging the plea of 150 men and women from the Irish societies.

"I wish I could give you your answer now, but I cannot," the mayor said. "I can't find any reasons why I should not accept. Any stories that I am going to the Philippine Islands or to Washington were made out of whole cloth for political reasons."

Given Coat of Arms.

The mayor was presented with a coat of arms of the Kellys by the Irish group, which included representatives of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and their ladies' auxiliary; the Irish-American society, and the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic.

The other group which asked the mayor to stand for reëlection was composed of about fifty business men from the north and northwest sides, headed by James J. K. Kelly, president of the Edgebrook Community club. The mayor thanked them, but held his answer to generalities.

From Washington came word last night that some observers believe Ickes will announce tomorrow that he will become a candidate for mayor. These observers believe he will make his first campaign speech here on Dec. 17 at the subway digging ceremonies.

Prom Leader

MISS GWENDOLYN GUNTHER.

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Miss Gwendolyn Gunther of Galesburg will lead the grand march at the Christmas prom of Knox college, to be held tomorrow night. She is chairman of the committee in charge of the ball, which is the major social event of the school year.

LOOT GARAGES AND TAVERN.

Poplar Grove, Ill., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Garages operated by Ralph Hall and Donald Shaw and the Ellingson tavern, owned by O. S. Ellingson, were broken into during the night by robbers who obtained loot valued at more than $500. Included were tires, oil, cigars, tobacco, and two cases of whisky.

160 MORE AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS START HOME FROM SPAIN

LA TOUR DE CAROL, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Dec. 8.—(AP)—A contingent of 160 American volunteers in the Spanish government's international brigade left Spain today for the United States. The men mostly were from New York, Chicago, Cleveland, and San Francisco.

They were given three packages of cigarets each and a hot breakfast when they arrived at this little border town.

There were two wounded men among the group. They said the majority of the seventy-five Americans still in Spain were the more seriously wounded who had not yet recovered sufficiently to be moved. The journey to the United States was to be resumed today, by way of Cherbourg or Le Havre, where 332 Americans were sent last week.

Warns Against Bogus $10 Bills During Holidays

Merchants and shoppers yesterday were warned by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, head of the Chicago office of the United States secret service, to beware of counterfeit money during the holiday season. Counterfeit $10 bills in circulation here, Captain Callaghan said, include a $10 silver certificate, with portrait of Alexander Hamilton, and a $10 note on the Federal Reserve bank of New York. Both are of the 1934 series.

FRENCH-ITALIAN TENSION GROWS OVER NO. AFRICA

Police in Tunisia Battle to Quell Protests.

The South Tunisian military region in the desert facing Italy's Libya is closed to all but military persons at all times. There were rumors of troop concentrations, but nothing to support them.

STUDENTS DEMAND VENICE

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 8.—A riotous mob of 8,000 French students in the famous Latin quarter today gave Premier Mussolini their answer to Italy's current campaign for annexation of Corsica and Tunisia. They did so in a mock demonstration which kept the left bank of the Seine river in an uproar for several hours.

If, by some miracle, Il Duce had been whisked from Rome to Paris early this afternoon, he would have had the doubtful pleasure of seeing a horde of youthful Frenchmen pushing aside police detachments and parading with shouts of: "Give Italy back to Corsica!", "Venice belongs to France!", and "We want Vesuvius!"

Planned Over Red Wine.

The incident did much to relieve the irritation aroused in France over the Fascist campaign. It was, by every indication, much more "spontaneous" than similar demonstrations reported from various Italian cities. These had followed the original outburst in the Rome chamber of deputies last week when deputies set up a cry for Tunisia and other French possessions. It began in proper Gallic tradition Wednesday night in a Latin quarter restaurant There a group of law students had gathered to polish off a few bottles of red wine and to settle world affairs.

The plot was worked out speedily, and before the night ended the rumor had run through the Latin quarter that big doings were scheduled for today. This morning the university district was prepared with hastily printed tracts summoning one and all to the Place de la Sorbonne—the center of Paris university life.

By 11 o'clock the Place and its environs were overflowing, and shortly afterward the hilarious demonstration got under way.

Police Called to Scene.

The first claims of the parading students were relatively modest. They asked only for Venice. By that time the ranks of the original paraders had been swollen by hundreds of bystanders, however, and the demands became more expansive and embraced a large part of the Italian kingdom.

Several police detachments had been summoned to the Latin quarter during the course of the demonstration. They made only formal attempts to end it until its leaders showed an inclination to wind up the parade in front of the Italian embassy. At this point the police intervened politely but firmly, and the demonstration broke up, but still in a spirit of high good humor.

Comic Weekly "Guys" Duce.

The outburst was the major, but not the only, instance of "guying Mussolini." There were similar incidents in Toulouse and Strasbourg Wednesday night during which students claimed practically all of Italy except the Pontine marshes for France.

The Fascist campaign also has been a windfall for the French humorists. One celebrated comic weekly already has announced under scare headlines that Il Duce is determined to claim the famous Boulevard des Italiens in Paris as an Italian possession. Another suggests that France claim Sicily, Sardinia, and Milan, impolitely reminding Il Duce that they have been conquered frequently by France in past centuries.

These reactions are not without political significance underneath their humorous aspects. In poking fun at Italian aspirations, the French are serving notice that there is an enormous body of opinion in the country which does not share the attitude of embarrassed astonishment with which the government has reacted to Italy's latest exploitation of its nuisance value.

ARABS JOIN ITALY'S CRY

ROME, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Arabs joined Italians today in a big demonstration in Tripoli, Libya, Italy's North African colony, while Italy strove to build up her case against French control of Tunisia, adjoining Libya on the northwest.

The Italian press dealt at length with reports of anti-Italian "outrages" in the French protectorate. Informazione Diplomatica, sponsored by the foreign ministry, attacked the "spirit of Versailles" in France, and 1,000 students marched to the French consulate in Milan.

In both Tripoli and Milan the demonstrators sang Fascist hymns and cheered Premier Mussolini. In both places they were dispersed quietly when the outbursts ended.

Hostility between France and Italy tonight had developed into one of the most confused quarrels of Europe's tangle of animosities. The greatest puzzle of all was what Italy wanted and how she intended to get it.

Want Old Privileges.

Should Italy gain Tunisia, which is just opposite her own islands of Sicily and Pantelleria, she would be in position to block the vital French and British Mediterranean route to the east. The passage between Tunisia and Pantelleria is only forty-two miles wide, and forms one of the three bottlenecks of the Mediterranean which could be blockaded by naval or military forces, ships and armaments. The other two bottlenecks are the Strait of Gibraltar and the Suez canal, both of which are under military control of Britain.

Responsible Italian circles and foreign diplomats indicated that all the Italians hoped to get were privileges which they more or less waived in an agreement with France in 1935.

Premier Mussolini on Jan. 7, 1935, agreed with Pierre Laval, then French premier, to permit children born of Italian parents in Tunisia after 1945 to choose between Italian and French citizenship.

On Relief with $973

Judge Oscar S. Caplan in Women's court yesterday ordered the arrest of Rudolph Zims, a laborer, after his wife, Rose, said her husband got some of the $814 she is alleged to have obtained from the Chicago Relief administration through fraud. She said Zims deserted her last February.

Mrs. Zims, who lives at 449 North Carpenter street, was arrested last Sunday on a charge of disorderly conduct. She was intoxicated, police said, and apparently had fallen and injured herself. When police found $973 sewn into her clothing, attorneys for the CRA began action to recover relief money given to Mrs. Zims and her husband.

Charges of obtaining money under false pretenses and of disorderly conduct were continued until next Tuesday. She was required to post her hoard as bond. Raymond Hilljard, CRA attorney, said he would seek to attach the money.

FRENCH DEPUTIES MEET; DALADIER RULE IS AT STAKE

Experts Expect Premier to Survive Attacks.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 8.—France's chamber of deputies, with 615 members in attendance, met today in extraordinary session. Within the last eight months they have spent about forty-nine hours on legislative matters because the country has been ruled by decree.

The official motive for the session is to vote on a budget for 1939, which, according to law, should be finished by midnight Dec. 31. But no one expects the deputies to make much progress on this task. Instead, they probably will vote provisional credits for one, two, or three months ahead and resume the budget making at the regular session opening on Jan. 2.

Foes Count on Premier's Defeat.

Every one of the 615 deputies, however, was extremely active at what has been the real business of the chamber. That is the tripping up of governments.

Already counting on his defeat, enemies of Premier Edouard Daladier are circulating lists of new cabinet combinations.

Most prominently mentioned to head the cabinet of the "Popular Front Union" is Edouard Herriot, the chamber's speaker. In such a cabinet, if ever it is born, Herriot would include former Premier Leon Blum and other Socialists.

Reds Champion Herriot.

Herriot's boom for premier is being pushed strongly by the communists and Socialists, who consider him "sound" on foreign policy. That means he supports France's alliance with soviet Russia, is hostile to Italy and Germany and views the newly signed Franco-German "no war" pact with suspicion. Therefore, he is the ideal man in the opinion of the communists, since their bitterness toward Daladier is based on foreign policy.

Despite the left wing coalition's confidence of defeating Daladier, political experts give the premier more than an even chance of getting at least 320 votes. This slim majority would be sufficient to make his post safe until the end of the year.

To obtain a majority he will have to rely on the solid support of the moderate and conservative deputies uniting with almost all of the deputies of his Radical Socialist party. Such a combination is regarded as precarious because of the repugnance of most Radical Socialists to form alliances with the rightists.

2 Young Wives Beheaded for Stepdaughters' Deaths

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Two young wives, found guilty of the deaths of two small children, were beheaded by the executioner's ax at dawn today. Gertrud Jung, 22 years old, was convicted of ill treatment which resulted in the death of her 5 year old stepdaughter. Martha Szyglowski, 28, was convicted of strangling her 4 year old stepdaughter and attempting to kill two other children.

Moscow Dubs Paris-Berlin Pact 'New Scrap of Paper'

MOSCOW, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Pessimism was the keynote of press comment in soviet Russia today on the new French-German no war declaration. Izvestia, government newspaper, described the agreement as "a new scrap of paper." Pravda, organ of the communist party, said it was a serious menace to France's national interests.

GERMANY FORCES U. S. JEWS TO GET OUT OF BUSINESS

Rules They Must Sell Real Estate.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—The German government today informed the United States embassy that its decree compelling Jews to sell their real estate and businesses also applies to American Jews.

This is in contradiction to the terms of the German-American treaty signed in 1923. That pact guarantees property rights and the privilege of doing business to all American citizens in Germany and vice versa.

As a special "concession" the Germans ruled that American Jews need not turn over their silver, gold, and jewelry and art objects to the Nazis to be "sold" under their supervision. German Jews must surrender such possessions which are put on sale.

May Retain Securities.

American Jews also will not be compelled to deposit their securities—bonds or stocks—in banks appointed for the purpose.

[The friendship, commerce, and consular rights treaty with Germany was signed in Washington, D. C., fifteen years ago yesterday. Among other things it provides that nationals of each country shall be permitted to travel and reside in the territories of the other; to exercise liberty of conscience and freedom of worship; to engage in professional, manufacturing, and commercial work of every kind without interference; to own, erect, or lease and occupy appropriate buildings and to lease lands for all legitimate purposes.]

Jewish-Gentile Marriages Hit.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Foreign diplomatic quarters today were advised that the next Nazi anti-Semitic legislation would order the dissolution of marriages between Jews and Gentiles or the Gentile partner would be declared Jewish.

In other words, if the Gentile wife of a Berlin Jew declares she will stick to her husband, come what may, she must share his life in Berlin's shabby Linienstrasse or some other squalid Ghetto street.

As she will become Jewish from the moment that she declares herself unwilling to accept divorce, these sources said, presumably she will not be allowed to attend a Christian church.

Nor will pastors or priests be permitted to conduct services in Ghetto districts, as Nazis oppose Christian missionary work.

SWEDEN TELLS HITLER IT WILL HAVE NONE OF HIS ANTI-SEMITISM

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Richard Sandler today accused Germany of attempting to extend her anti-Jewish campaign to Sweden.

"Swedish firms doing business with Germany," he declared in an address here, "have been informed that it is not proper for them to have non-Aryan stafs."

He appealed to Swedish firms to support the principle that Swedish laws alone apply in Sweden and added:

GERMANY SLIDES FIRST AIRCRAFT CARRIER INTO SEA

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—"The seas are open only to the strong," Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of air, thundered at Kiel today at the launching of Germany's first aircraft carrier, Graf Zeppelin. Goering said the ship, a 19,250 ton vessel with space for forty planes, would "increase the power and prestige of the reich."

Official German sources asserted the carrier was built to enable the German sea forces to "operate on the wide spaces of the Atlantic."

"It is the protecting arm of the navy, reaching far into foreign countries—as far as the bombing machines of the carrier can fly," they said

Plans to Build Another.

Germany plans to build another aircraft carrier of the same size. Each ship's main armament will consist of 16-inch guns, or the same firing power as that of two light cruisers. The carriers will be equipped with ten 4-inch guns and twenty-two machine gun cannons of 1.5 inch bore. With an overall length of 820 feet the ships will be longer than Germany's new 35,000 ton battleships.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler and his army, navy and air force chiefs attended the launching of the Graf Zeppelin. An imposing array of German battleships, cruisers, and other warships was assembled in the harbor.

"German armed forces on land, at sea and in the air are your work, my Fuehrer," Goering cried as he paid a glowing tribute to Hitler. "With iron determination you forged the sword that—as recent events have shown—was strong enough to maintain the unbarterable rights of the German nation and to preserve peace. The world shaking events of this year provided for all an indelible experience and also a warning."

Calls Ship Symbol of Power.

Goering called the new aircraft carrier "a symbol of German power and of German endeavor to higher achievements." He continued:

"While for months a flood of slanders raised against the German frontiers and irresponsible agitation created a dangerous war psychosis, work was carried on in this naval yard with doubled zeal and an unfailing recognition that our people need such weapons of defense to maintain their own."

Criticizes U. S. Utterances.

The mouthpiece of the Nazi foreign office — the Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondenz—complained about recent American utterances on the United States armament program.

"Admitting that every state has the right to arm as it pleases, we must sharply protest against the reasons presented for such action in the United States," the Korrespondenz said.

"Again and again American armament propaganda proceeds from the slanderous argument that Germany is a threat to the American continent. Such propaganda also extends to Latin-America where it is calculated to poison the international atmosphere.

"Extraordinarily amazing is the fact that President Roosevelt talks about the aggressiveness of the totalitarian states at the very moment that the German foreign minister [Joachim von Ribbentrop] has signed a declaration of peace with France. It seems incomprehensible that those events could be deliberately overlooked by a responsible statesman."

Roosevelt Gets the Blame.

Korrespondenz attributed to the President the remark that appropriations for public building purposes would have to be curtailed to provide funds for armaments. According to Korrespondenz, he said that all this was necessary because menaces of the totalitarian powers had to be faced.

[The article apparently was based on Mr. Roosevelt's press conference of Tuesday, when he said he favored a pay-as-go policy for the contemplated increase in armaments, even if a tax increase should be necessary. The President made no mention of the totalitarian states.]

Tosses a Brick

HELEN STANAROVICH.

Miss Helen Stanarovich, 21 years old, Milwaukee, admitted to Judge Oscar S. Caplan yesterday that she threw a brick through a plate glass window at the Art institute Monday so she would be arrested and get some food and a place to sleep.

She said she came here nine days ago to look for work as a waitress. Asked about her attractive clothes, she said she had bought them with money borrowed from a Milwaukee friend. She said she had been living on coffee and toast except for one big meal she ordered, with no money to pay for it, in the Morrison hotel. That time, a sympathetic house detective refused to call police.

Judge Caplan ordered a mental examination by Dr. David B. Rotman, court psychiatrist, and continued hearing of the charge of malicious mischief until Dec. 14. He indicated he would help her obtain work or send her back to Milwaukee.

TURNER GROUPS AFFIRM LOYALTY; DENY NAZI LINK

A statement disavowing connection with either German or American Nazis was issued yesterday by the Illinois district of the American Turners' societies, German social and physical culture groups first established in the United States in 1848.

"Because our societies have been unjustly subjected to annoyance and even attacked by misled mobs," said Frank Berendt, president of the Illinois Turners, "the American Turners reaffirm their patriotism and reassert their confidence in American democracy and personal liberty for which it stands.

"Much of the revenue needed to support our societies is derived from the rental of our halls and facilities. We, in the interest and support of the principles of free speech, feel justified in permitting organizations to rent our halls so long as no offense is committed contrary to law or police regulations."

DECLARES NAZIS BAYONETED HIM IN PRISON CAMP

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Ronis Schlerman, 33 years old, Jewish refugee, said he was a former professor of botany at Berlin university, declared here today he had been bayoneted in a German concentration camp when he refused to help bury Jewish dead, and was branded with the Nazi swastika.

Jews frequently are forced to get down on their knees and lick up dirt in the concentration camps and often are given water from officers' wash basins to drink, he said.

Schlerman said he was forced to leave Berlin university, where he was a botany professor, and sell his valuable home for $300. Of this amount, he said, he finally received but $3, with instructions to leave the country.

Unable to leave on this small amount, he said, he was placed in the concentration camp, from which he eventually was rescued by a group of American friends who had attended Berlin university.

Schlerman now is living with friends here.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—With his immigration papers to the United States stamped and sealed in his pocket, George Schreiber, 48 years old, a Jew, was sentenced to six months in prison by a Berlin court today. The press said Schreiber made disparaging remarks about the Nazi régime and the army in a beer hall. Newspapers said he was intoxicated.

RUMANIA SEIZES 5 PROFESSORS AS IRON GUARD AIDS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Rumanian authorities pressed their drive to stamp out the Fascist anti-Semitic Iron Guard today, despite sharper criticism from the German press and other signs of German displeasure.

Five professors of intermediate schools in Cernauti were arrested on charges of supporting activities of the outlawed Iron Guard organization. Last Monday in Cernauti terrorists shot and wounded Col. Cristesku, president of a military court.

In Iasi, fourteen students, including two girls, were arrested for printing Guardist pamphlets. In Bucharest the high court authorized selling at auction all property of the "All For Fatherland" party. The Iron Guard operated under that name after it was banned.

LAMP ENABLES PICTURE SPEED OF 600 A SECOND

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—A new lamp which enables photographers to make as many as 600 exposures a second on a single photographic plate was demonstrated here by Prof. Harold E. Edgerton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The photography was done in a dark room, with the lens of the camera open. For this particular demonstration the lamp, for which gas supplies the illumination, was adjusted so that it would emit flashes of light at the rate of sixty a second.

Golfer's Swing Shown.

A golf ball was teed up in the room and a professional golfer stepped up and drove it into a net. As he started his swing the lamp was set off and its successive flashes exposed the photographic film, recording the stages of the golfer's swing. The picture showed the golfer apparently encircled by a spiral of flanges, which actually were the golf club in varying positions during the swing.

Dr. Edgerton later displayed slides made from similar pictures. One showed a golf ball at the moment that it was struck with a golf club. The slide showed one side of the ball to be flattened.

Speed Is Increased.

Pictures are taken at a speed of 1-100,000 of a second by use of the new lamp. A conventional camera is limited to a maximum speed of approximately 1-1,500 of a second because of the difficulty of moving a mechanical shutter and the inadequacy of usual light sources.

"This development," said Dr. Edgerton, "makes it possible for time itself to be chopped into small bits and frozen to suit our needs and wishes."

The lamp was demonstrated at a sporting goods store as part of ceremonies announcing the establishment of a research laboratory in Chicopee, Mass.

'ARMY OFFICER DIDN'T KILL MY SISTER, SAYS GARR

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Dr. E. S. Garr today was quoted as saying that the actual killing of his sister, Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, two years ago, was not done by the late Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, although he was implicated.

Dr. Garr, according to a published statement, said he was convinced he knew who did kill his sister and that at least one other, besides Denhardt and the man he believes did the shooting, is involved. Dr. Garr is said to have made a report on the case to Attorney General Herbert Meredith. The attorney general said there was not sufficient evidence for him to authorize any action.

Gen. Denhardt, prominent soldier and politician, was tried for murder after Mrs. Taylor, his fiancée, was shot to death on a country road. The jury failed to agree. Four months later Denhardt was shot to death. Dr. Garr and his two brothers pleaded guilty to the killing but were freed on their assertion that the general reached for his hip as though to draw a gun.

Former MoranAid Enjoined from Closing Tavern Road

Leo Mongoven, former Bugs Moran gangster, was enjoined yesterday against barricading a road. The injunction was issued by Judge Ralph J. Dady in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan. Mrs. Sophia Speitz had complained that Mongoven was building a barrier across a road leading to her property, on which she operates a tavern and hunting lodge, near Mongoven's farm at Lake Bluff.

The victims were Mrs. Edward Morton, 2339 Hartrey avenue, Evanston, who valued her coat at $1,100; Mrs. Ethel Larson, 6908 North Oakley avenue, and Mrs. Edward P. Stein, 6321 North Talman avenue. Mrs. Larson and Mrs. Stein valued their coats at $375 each.

PLUMBING FIRM HEAD DIES.

SUSPECT SEIZED IN WEST COAST HOLDUP KILLING

Walter Joseph La Forte, 3341 Van Buren street, was arrested by Chicago detectives yesterday as a suspect in the holdup-murder in Los Angeles, Cal., of Isadore Horlick, a grocer, on April 21, 1936. He was seized at Central Park avenue and Harrison street.

La Forte denied being in Los Angeles in 1936. Los Angeles police said they would start immediate extradition proceedings. Three other men are serving long prison terms in San Quentin for the murder. They were captured when one of them, Nathan Reicin, bragged in a Chicago pool hall.

Old Hotel in Blue Island Burns; 20 Guests Routed

Fire which started near a chimney and spread downward swept the old Illinois hotel at 2242 Burr Oak avenue in Blue Island last night. Twenty guests, most of them railroad employés, fled to safety. The three-story, 32 room frame structure was erected in 1892 to accommodate visitors to the Columbian exposition. The loss was estimated at $25,000 by Fire Chief John Link of Blue Island.

NEW LEGAL STEP HALTS WISCONSIN FUND TRANSFERS

Supreme Court Will Hear Zimmerman Plea.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin Supreme court today acted suddenly to halt the transfer, even though temporarily, of more than $6,000,000 from the state treasury, directed on Nov. 16 by Gov. Phil La Follette and the emergency board he controls.

Fred R. Zimmerman.

Acting on a petition filed by the Republican Secretary of State Elect Fred R. Zimmerman that it take original jurisdiction in the dispute, the high court directed Secretary of State Theodore Dammann and State Treasurer Sol Levitan to show cause, at a hearing at 9 a. m. tomorrow, why Zimmerman should not be granted leave to bring an original action before the Supreme court.

Blocks Zimmerman Appeal.

Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis of Dane county, ruling on a mandamus proceeding brought by the governor to force release of the contested funds two days ago, directed Dammann and Levitan to make the fund transfers ordered by the emergency board. Zimmerman could not appeal Judge Reis' decision to the Supreme court because Reis refused to make him a party to the lower court action.

The high court today further ordered that Dammann and Levitan be enjoined from making the payments in dispute until it has ruled on Zimmerman's petition.

Taking the position that the emergency board's attempted payments constitute a deliberate and illegal raid on the state treasury, presumably designed to embarrass the incoming Republican administration, Zimmerman contended in his petition that "the sovereign rights of the state are concerned in that the emergency board seeks to compel the secretary of state and the state treasurer to perform official acts contrary to law."

Calls Statute Invalid.

The petition held further that the emergency board statute is unconstitutional because it vests in that board powers which cannot be delegated by the legislature.

The Supreme court's order was signed by Justice Chester A. Fowler. Zimmerman was represented by Attorneys Ward Rector of Madison and J. G. Hardgrove of Milwaukee.

In his capacity as a "citizen, taxpayer, and secretary of state-elect," Zimmerman specifically attacked the following payments sought by the emergency board:

1. The sum of $1,221,906 to the state common and normal school funds to retire the remainder of a debt incurred during the civil war.

2. The sum of $2,703,852 to the state teachers' retirement fund to meet a deficit due to declining teachers' surtax revenues.

3. The sum of $178,750 to La Crosse State Teachers' college for a new training school.

4. The sum of $178,750 to Milwaukee State Teachers' college for a new library.

He also attacked five other items, ranging from $2,664 to $12,199.

Today's action by the Supreme court added another link to the chain of rapid fire events following the emergency board's appropriations of $6,620,121 from the general fund three weeks ago. Zimmerman immediately attacked most of those allocations as an illegal attempt to "raid" the treasury.

Refused to Audit Them.

Threatened with litigation, Dammann and Levitan refused to audit the appropriations in dispute, and Gov. La Follette acted to force their release in a mandamus proceeding before Judge Reis. Reis promptly ordered payment of one of the appropriations—$10,000 to the trade practice department—and directed the filing of written briefs on other payments in dispute.

Republican Governor-elect Julius P. Heil then stepped into the fight with a petition to the Supreme court for a writ of prohibition halting the payments. The high court issued a temporary restraining order, but lifted it late last week.

Freed of the restraining order, Judge Reis Tuesday issued preemptory writs of mandamus directing Dammann and Levitan to release all of the allocations as directed by the emergency board.

TYPHOON KILLS 19 IN PHILIPPINES; HOMES WRECKED

MANILA, Dec. 8.—(AP)—A typhoon raced across 15 provinces of the central Philippines today, killed at least 19 persons, made thousands homeless, and was believed to have caused much property damage. The typhoon passed 100 miles south of Manila and out over the China sea.

Samar Island reported 18 dead. One was killed in Camarines Sur province by the 75 mile storm. Heavy property and crop damage was reported in Sorsogon, Albay, and Camarines Sur provinces. Two dredge boats valued at $100,000 were sunk in the harbor of Legaspi, Albay province.

Government relief agencies and the Red Cross immediately began to aid the people in the stricken regions, and authorities prepared to send relief expeditions to the hardest hit areas. Manila felt heavy winds.

GOOD FELLOWS OF FRATERNITIES TO HOLD PARTY

400 Expected to Gather on Dec. 19.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Robert F. Smith.

The fourth annual Good Fellow luncheon for college fraternity men of Chicago will be sponsored Monday noon, Dec. 19, in the Red room at the La Salle hotel by the Chicago Alumni association of Phi Kappa Psi. This is the fraternity in which the original Mr. Good Fellow, the late Edward C. Fitch, was a member at Indiana university.

Robert F. Smith, a graduate of Northwestern university and a member of the Illinois Alpha chapter, chairman of the Good Fellow drive this winter, expects 400 men at the party.

Other Groups Will Assist.

In addition to members of Mr. Fitch's fraternity tables of ten will be taken by other groups. Some of these and their representatives are: Alpha Delta Phi, H. P. Ralston; Delta Chi, Clyde H. Andrews Jr.; Delta Tau Delta, Dana M. Hubbard; Phi Gamma Delta, Robert Howlett; Psi Upsilon, Charles Hoerger; Sigma Nu, Bert Cochrane, and Sigma Chi, Chester W. Cleveland. Reservations for tables may be had by calling the Interfraternity club headquarters in the La Salle, phone Franklin 6540.

Alex Wilson, a member of Phi Sigma Kappa and president of the Interfraternity club, who has participated in several Good Fellow luncheons and basket distributions, made the following statement concerning this Christmas activity:

"College men in general can be proud of the fact that the original Mr. Good Fellow belonged to a Greek letter fraternity. In our school days in all fraternities we were taught to be helpful to our fellow man. The Good Fellow campaign is a worthy contribution to the Christmas spirit and I hope that every fraternity man in Chicago will join this work in the memory of the late Mr. Fitch."

400 Children to Benefit.

From the proceeds of the luncheon and basket contributions more than 400 children will be remembered on Christmas eve. Food, toys, and candy will be delivered to their homes from the Phi Psi houses at Northwestern university and the University of Chicago.

The names of these children will be taken from THE TRIBUNE'S Good Fellow bureau at 1 South Dearborn street. There you may get your Good Fellow family, too. The phone number is Superior 0100.

DUNNING STATE HOSPITAL TO GET 3 NEW BUILDINGS

The program includes a $110,000 addition to the main building, a $375,000 building for a diagnostical center, and a $200,000 cafeteria building. Dr. Dombrowski said the hospital has 4,200 patients, compared with 4,784 at this time last year. Its normal capacity is 4,000. During the last year 380 patients have been transferred to the new state hospital at Manteno.

A JACKSON DAY DINNER BID IS YOURS FOR $25

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Democratic national committee will begin its campaign for the $25 to $100 a plate Jackson day dinners four weeks ahead of time.

An announcement by the Jackson day campaign committee today said an "intensive" campaign to promote the dinners would begin Dec. 12. Proceeds from the dinners, held on Jan. 7, go to the party.

"All persons helping in this campaign drive by contributing $25 will be invited by the Democratic national committee to be their guest at a celebration as an expression of appreciation for their financial assistance," said the announcement.

The $25 dinners will be the rule, the committee said, except for a $100 function at Washington and a $50 one in New York. President Roosevelt will speak at the Washington meeting.

VETS URGE YOUTH ARMY TO FOSTER PATRIOTIC IDEALS

Establishment of an army supervised unit, similar to the Boy Scouts of America, in every public and parochial elementary school in the country, was urged last night by the Illinois branch of the Second Division association, veterans of the world war.

A resolution to this affect was adopted at the annual meeting and election of officers in the Adventurers' club. Frank Garvin was chosen president to succeed George V. Gordon.

Such a troop unit, the veterans stated, would be the proper way for starting more vigorous inculcation of patriotic ideals in the youth of America. The scoutmaster, according to the resolution, should be some army trained man, paid by the federal government.

BABY KINKAJOU TO BE VERY GOOD OR ELSE HORRID

Kinkajous that have sunny dispositions think it decidedly unladylike to stick their tongues out at strangers. They're careful to put their banana peelings where no one can slip on them. And they never get their honey smeared on their faces. Kinkajous, as honey bears prefer to be known, are simply charming—

If they have sunny dispositions. If they haven't, they're horrid. That's why every one was walking on eggs at the Brookfield zoo yesterday. Assistant Director Robert Bean reported that the stork had just brought Mrs. Kinkajou a baby girl. And no one knew whether she's going to have a sunny disposition or a cloudy one.

A Meteorologist Tells Us We Won't Need Overshoes

Portland, Me., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Forecasters of a long, hard winter received a jolt today from meteorologist Robert M. Dole of the U. S. weather bureau here. Dole said the movement of a sun-spot cycle that reached its peak last summer indicated the winter would be mild. He said that the presence of a low pressure area over Greenland and a high one over Bermuda, as in the last few years, was another indication of a mild winter.

Toy Maker Takes Life in Improvised Gas Chamber

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Louis M. Ruthauser, 59 years old, a toy manufacturer, went into an untenanted loft last night and placed an empty packing box on a table. He attached a tube to a wall gas fixture, ran the tube through a hole in the box, turned on the gas and lowered the box over himself, police said. He was found dead in the home made lethal chamber today.

WEYMER FILES COUNTER ACTION IN DIVORCE SUIT

Earl Weymer.

Mrs. Ann Weymer was accused of a romance with another man in a cross bill for divorce filed yesterday by Earl Weymer, head of an ornamental iron construction company. He charged her with indiscretions with a man with whom he said she was motoring in Michigan in September.

Mrs. Weymer, who is 27 years old, filed suit for separate maintenance a week ago. She and her husband occupy separate apartments at 105 East Delaware place.

Weymer's attorney, William L. Bourland, withdrew from the case yesterday at a hearing before Judge Philip J. Finnegan. Benjamin H. Ehrlich then appeared as Weymer's attorney and asked a change of venue, which was denied. The hearing was continued until Dec. 19.

YULETIDE SALES BOOMING TOWARD 100 MILLION TOP

Yesterday's drizzling rain did not deter Christmas shoppers. It only drove them in from the wet streets to clog the ailes of shops and concentrate on what to give poor Joe, nice Uncle Dick, sweet old Charlie, and Grandpa [he's so difficult] Jones.

At the same time, the Association of Commerce announced that holiday purchases in Chicago this year would hit the 100 million dollar mark, with prices about 7 per cent under those of a year ago. The average family, it estimated, will leave $60 with Santa.

Queries Flood Clerk.

In one loop department store an information clerk clocked off 1,700 queries from puzzled buyers. That was the third largest number of questions put to her in a day since the holiday shopping season opened two weeks ago. More than three-quarters of the questioners were women, and they asked directions to every section. The men, in a timid minority, wanted to find their way to the lingerie section, or, in a few cases, to the lounging robe department.

The women, thinking of poor Joe, asked for gadgets. There was a cigaret lighter that hooked on a steering post and needed only a touch to bring out a lighted cigaret. There was a chromium finished pelican ash tray that lowered its bill for a cigaret. These, they were assured, would be welcomed.

A Bookcase for Charlie.

Charlie, who travels, may receive a bookcase of lether, which holds almost a dozen books, a writing pad, and pencils. In the same corner, a bottle guard of suede, with zipper, and a commuter's oversized briefcase, with an accordion arrangement for files, were suggested.

Mothers extricated their children from revolving doors and headed straight to the toy department, where clowns, hurdy-gurdies, and visitors clamored gayly. Ferdinand, the sweet tempered bull, benignly stole the show from Snow White, as he has done each day since the beginning of the toy season. And, according to the clerks, toy steam engines were puffing a strong allure to the young train crowd.

In the bird and fish section of one store an elderly man stood several minutes before a pair of goldfish swimming happily in a huge brandy snifter. Then he bought them.

EIGHT PICKETS SEIZED IN FIGHT AT HEARST PLANT

Two women and six men were arrested and several persons were slightly injured yesterday in a brief disturbance between pickets of the Chicago Newspaper guild, affiliated with the C. I. O., and newspaper drivers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The clash occurred when the drivers began loading their trucks with papers at the Wacker drive entrance to the Hearst building, 326 Madison street.

Those seized are: Don Stevens and his wife, Sada, 20 East Deleware place; Virginia Gardner, 1709 Crilly court; Harry Wohl, 840 George street; H. R. Sellers, 168 North Clark street; David Keniston, 324 East 71st street; Nathan Aleskowsky, 1432 North La Salle street, and Charles Cain, 3842 Addison street. All will be arraigned today in the Women's court on disorderly conduct charges. Police said the disturbance began as pickets interfered when circulation employés began loading the trucks.

Three other guild members, former branch circulation managers for the Hearst papers, were arrested early yesterday after a fight in front of a Hearst branch distributing office at 1943 Kildare avenue.

Dog's Barks Save Elgin Pastor and Wife in Fire

The Rev. Alexander Milmine and his wife were awakened early yesterday by the frantic barking of their springer spaniel, Master, in the Elgin First Congregational church parsonage. A fire had started on the first floor. Smoke filled the upstairs, blocking their escape by the stairway. Firemen raised ladders and helped the Milmines and Master to safety.

Approve Concrete Paving of North Avenue Strip

The concrete paving of the last brick section of North avenue, between Cicero and Harlem avenues, was recommended yesterday by the city council finance committee. The work will cost $680,000. The board of local improvements was authorized to apply for a government grant of 45 per cent on the project.

CITY'S 40 MILES OF CHEAP PAVING PLEASE DRIVERS

Cement-Bound Roads Save Money.

About forty miles of Chicago streets have been resurfaced this year with the pavement known as cement-bound macadam. And, Mayor Kelly said yesterday, motorists and engineers alike have approved of the pavement. It is as strong as other types and more economical because little new material is required.

This pavement, new to the middle west, is a combination of plain concrete and macadam [stone] pavements. Concrete pavement consists of stone, sand, cement, and water mixed and poured on the roadbed.

Macadam is merely crushed stone compressed into a solid mass. It was invented late in the eighteenth century by John L. McAdam, Scottish engineer. Its disadvantage is that the stones become loosened by the wheels of trafic or washed away by rain.

Mixture Poured Over It.

In making cement-bound macadam streets, the crushed brick and stone is first spread on the roadbed to a depth of about six inches. This makes a regular macadam pavement. Then the mixture of sand, cement, and water is poured over it, binding it into a solid slab.

The finished product is similar to concrete but is far less expensive. The stone and brick is waste material. Its use saves the cost of dumping. In most cases the new pavement replaced worn out brick street. Removal of the bricks supplied work for thousands of relief laborers.

Old in New England.

Although new to Chicago, this pavement was being used thirty years ago in New England states, the mayor, himself an engineer, said. It went out of fashion with the advent of machines and the demand for speedy road work. The necessity of hard times brought it back.

Recently it was tried in Savannah, Ga., where it met with instant success. It was tried here on recommendation of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt.

"Chicago was so successful that officials of many other cities have come here to study our methods," Mayor Kelly said. "Since we started using this type of street Detroit, St. Louis, Toledo, Pittsburgh, and Washington, D. C., have followed us. And, most important, all our paving has been done without bond issues or any additional tax burdens on the citizens."

Denies Capone Transfer from Alcatraz Prison

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Despite reports that Al Capone, serving a sentence for income tax evasion, has been transferred to another federal prison, Warden James A. Johnston of Alcatraz prison tonight said Capone still is confined there. His federal sentence will be completed Jan. 19, and he will stay there until then unless the attorney general's office in Washington orders the prisoner transferred, the warden said. Capone then must serve a year in Chicago.

WHAT!
a women's
for men?

Ideas for men about what kind of lingerie and negligees to buy for women—on Sunday, Rhea Seeger, Chicago fashions editor, presents a whole page of them.

Fortunately for all distressed masculine gift shoppers, record-breaking assortments of lovely lingerie and super-siren negligees are stocked for the pre-holiday buying binges, Miss Seeger says. Temporarily turned over to the opposite sex, these strongholds of flattering feminine fripperies positively glow with color, she reports.

To help visualize some of the choicest offerings now available in Chicago stores, Margot has sketched nine of this season's high fashion models in full color to accompany Miss Seeger's story.

Women, as well as men, will find it helpful to read this interesting article in the Women's Features section of Sunday's

UNWED MOTHER FINDS FRIEND IN SALVATION ARMY

Home Gives Care and New Chance in Life.

BY MARCIA WINN.

For forty-three years the Salvation Army Women's Home and Hospital has provided a haven for the unmarried mothers of Chicago.

Such girls once had to bear their babies in hiding and find homes for them in secrecy. Often the child went to a foundling's home. Sometimes it was abandoned on a doorstep. Far too often it died, and the mother with it.

Finds Place for Mother.

But out of tragedy the Salvation Army has learned to bring happiness and hope. It enables 85 per cent of its unmarried mothers to keep their children. It finds, too, a new place in society for the mother; a job and, very often, a husband.

Just last week there was a wedding in the spreading red brick building at 5040 North Pulaski road. This week there will be another. Last month there were three.

The home has a capacity of seventy mothers and forty babies, and it is always full. Its waiting list is crowded. Every class of mother is represented—from high school teacher to registered nurse, from child of 13 to spinster of 38. Some make personal application; others are sent by physicians, parents, social agencies, or the courts.

The task of officials of the home is much more than excellent obstetrical care [the records show no maternal deaths and few infant deaths]. It means rebuilding a broken morale, engendering hope in the dreary of spirit, pride in the weak, love in the disillusioned.

New Home Built in 1926.

The original maternity hospital, founded in 1895 for "the fallen womanhood of Illinois," was a shabby building on South Wabash avenue. In 1926 a new home was built on a six acre wooded site in North Pulaski road. This large, modern structure has one entire floor devoted to the obstetrical department. Visit it at almost any hour of the day and the tinkle of a piano and the sound of singing voices ring high above the cries of babies.

Last year 222 babies were born there and more than 300 mothers were cared for. The expectant mother usually comes to the home three months before confinement. Occasionally, however, she comes only two or three days beforehand.

Every mother is required to stay in the home at least six weeks after her baby is born. Sometimes she stays longer if no satisfactory plan can be worked out for her future. Two of the thirty-eight babies there, for instance, are 8 months old; both mothers work in the home. If able, the mother is asked to pay $50 for her care and lodging. But most of them can't pay.

The home places no babies for adoption. If a mother definitly does not want her baby—most of them do, according to Maj. Esther Johnson, superintendent—it is placed in a boarding home. A child placement agency then takes charge of having it adopted.

Tries to Work Out New Life.

The home's social worker tries in many ways to work out a new life for the mother which will enable her to keep her baby. Often work is found for her in a private home where the baby may be taken. If the girl will name the baby's father [and she often shields him], he is approached. If already married, as is frequent, he supports the child. Under no condition, however, is the man approached without the mother's consent.

The home's specified purpose is to send the mother and child back into the world with a fair chance of making good. She is never sent out until she has a job, a mother, or a husband to go to.

Give Services to Home.

A fine staf of surgeons and physicians donates its services to the home, and twenty-five sewing clubs of the Salvation Army's woman's division see to it that the mothers have clothing and the babies have layettes. Most of the layettes are beautiful, exquisite things.

As one of the many divisions of the Salvation Army, the home benefits from the $269,000 allocated to the Army as a unit by the Community fund. A diligent woman's board, headed by Mrs. William S. Monroe, does the rest. The board gives teas, benefits, and sponsors an annual doughnut tag day, from which the home received $15,000 this year. The board's Christmas appeal has just gone out in the mail.

4TH POSTOFFICE EMPLOYE SEIZED FOR ROBBING MAIL

The fourth Chicago postoffice employé to be seized in the last ten days for taking money from the mails was arrested by postal inspectors yesterday. He is John W. Noordhoff, a letter carrier for fourteen years, who has been working out of the postoffice annex in the United States courthouse. Inspectors said he admitted taking about $100 by opening letters. Noordhoff, whose home is at 7212 South Artesian avenue, waived examination by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and was held to the federal grand jury in $1,500 bond. Three other employés held on similar charges were clerks.

HOW NICHOLAS, 12, CAME TO ENJOY SCHOOL HOLIDAY

Oakland, Md., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Nicholas Long, 12 years old, was loafing around the school grounds and the principal didn't beckon him to come in.

A neighbor saw him and asked: "Sonny, don't you go to school?"

"Yes, ma'am," he replied, "I go to school right here."

"Well, why aren't you in there now?" she asked.

"I skun me a polecat," said Nicholas grinning.

WOMAN SLASHED BY SUITOR IN BAR GRANTED $16,000

Had 15 Whiskys and 15 Beers, Says Butcher.

Miss Lillian Leake of 545 Dickens avenue won a $16,000 verdict under the dram shop law yesterday on the charge that an ardent suitor injured her with a meat cleaver in a tavern. The verdict was against Michael J. Gara, owner of the tavern at 2151 North Halsted street; Mrs. Anna Lane, owner of the building, and the South Side Loan and Savings company, holder of the mortgage on the building.

Miss Leake told a jury in Judge Daniel Trude's court that she went into the tavern the night of June 6, 1936, to deliver a message to her employer, Emil Siss, owner of the rooming house where she lives.

Tells Friends He's Jealous.

Hans Horner of 2018 North Halsted street was there. He was telling friends that he was engaged, and that he was jealous. He would deal sternly with his fiancée, he said, if he ever caught her talking to another man.

At that moment Horner saw Miss Leake. She was the girl he meant.

Horner, by his own admission on the witness stand, had drunk fifteen glasses of whiskey with a glass of beer after each. He was carrying a meat cleaver, since he was employed in the stockyards as a butcher and expected to be called to work later in the night.

Both Testify of Attack.

Miss Leake testified that Horner struck her with the cleaver and then attacked her with a knife. Horner added that he served a year in jail for the attack.

The damage suit was brought on the grounds of the dram shop law—that the sellers of liquor and the owners of the property in which it is sold are responsible for the conduct of those to whom they sell drinks.

Horner testified as her witness. The defense sought to show that he had not been drinking, but he insisted he had.

Miss Leake, who is 38 years old, denied that she is engaged to Horner.

HOT MONEY AND HOT AIR.

Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin, discussing the election reverses, remarks that the Progressives were all too conscious of the presence of graft-ridden urban machines as integral parts of the New Deal. It is convenient to single out the New Deal Tammanys, but it is not sufficient. The corruption was not confined to the great urban centers. It spread throughout the country. The core of it was in Washington.

The use of public funds to carry elections was in its infancy when the Roosevelt administration, with a fine disregard for the economic consequences of inflated national debt, began to link relief appropriations with political campaigns. The modest steal of the old pork bill for the entire country could now be thrown away unnoticed in one unheard-of creek.

The country has observed how every campaign called for an increase in provision for destitution, for new WPA workers, for public works, for new farm subsidies, loans, and grants and state allocations. Corruption and coercion were unescapable. For the campaign in which the New Deal suffered the reverses for which it was not prepared, the New Dealers had procured over three billions for themselves in new emergency appropriations.

The truly good did not beat about the bush when they gave out the money. It was not shoved under the door. It was taken off the Christmas tree. The chief of the party told his Kentucky friends that although Happy Chandler never had left the White House empty handed, nevertheless Alben Barkley had much more experience and was to be preferred as a getter.

Politics cannot do such things without scandal. The temptations would have been too much for the New Deal politicians even if the money had been less and their honesty greater. They were all dressed up by Washington in the clothing of virtue and then told to raid the public funds. The result was disaster. The politicians, relying on the moral protection given them by the humbug of New Deal rectitude and humanity, lost their natural prudence and restraints. They had never before handled so much money in such a fashion with a benediction from the better people on everything they might do.

The consequences, as described by Senator Sheppard, Democrat of Texas and head of the senate committee on campaign expenditures, became a national disgrace and a burden on the conscience of the nation. One state after another popped into resounding bad repute—Pennsylvania with the New Dealers exposing corruption in all their factions, New Mexico with the Chavez family-in-laws indicted, Tennessee with the New Dealer Berry crying that he had been robbed, Kentucky where it was plain that 300,000 Barkley votes had accounted for $300,000,000 of federal money, Indiana where political gangs lined up the WPA vote and tried to steal what they could not buy.

No state escaped the taint of public money, subsidy, purchase, intimidation, and political trafic in human misery. The revulsion against the scandal was acute in many states. The great purge failed in spite of the federal appropriations used against the men on the black list. The revolt spread into the election.

Without proof it would be hard to believe that politicians not only would use relief funds to intimidate voters whose subsistence had to come from the government, but would also collect campaign contributions from the pay of the destitute. Unfortunately the proof was too easily obtained. The public money politically used corrupted the men who distributed it. They shocked the country without shocking themselves, an unpleasant illustration of a degenerative process.

The election could not be bought. The Washington propaganda mill for once failed to work. The money talked against it. Hot money and hot air failed.

HATRED ON THE AIR.

There is no easy solution of the problem raised by vituperative, hatred promoting speeches on the radio. The right of free speech means little if it is not the full right to make statements and draw conclusions, even if they are statements and conclusions which informed listeners will regard as absurd and conscientious listeners as wicked. It is not pleasant to know that this kind of poison is being disseminated, but the alternative of suppressing every speech calculated to give offense is far worse.

Time is the sovereign remedy for the evil, and it is a remedy that works rather promptly as a rule. Listeners generally tire of vituperation and, whether they tire of it or not, they become immune to it.

In this connection it may properly be observed that the most vituperative of the radio spellbinders have been Roosevelt & Co. They set the key and developed the technique.

FEAR OF DEATH.

Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, the poisoner who went to her death Wednesday night, was the first woman to die in the electric chair in Ohio. Her crime was murder. She had been convicted of killing an elderly man for his money and at least three others had died at her hands. One man whom she had attempted to murder for profit managed to survive the poison, but is permanently paralyzed as a result of it.

The infliction of the death penalty on any one, and particularly on a woman, is not a pretty thing to contemplate, but it has its uses in restraining murderous impulses. Mrs. Hahn's terror as the hour of the execution drew near is itself an evidence of the intensity of her fear of death. She had been confident that as a woman and a mother her sentence would be commuted. It shouldn't have been and it wasn't. In consequence the only fear which many potential murderers are capable of knowing has been instilled in their minds.

SPILLING THE LIMA BEANS.

The American delegation at the Lima conference, we are given to understand, is aiming to unite the democracies of this hemisphere to resist the spread of autocracy. That is part of our larger policy of uniting the democracies everywhere for defense against the dictators.

It sounds well, but makes little sense. Most of the Latin-American countries are today, and for the better part of a hundred years have been, dictatorships in all but name. Democracy is a word which is not easily defined, but if free elections, constitutional restraints on officialdom, subservience of the military to the civil authority, parliamentary institutions, and equality of citizens before the law have anything to do with democracy, then there is precious little of it in Central and South America to unite with.

And much the same can be said of Europe. The news from London tells of a censorship of opinion more consonant with Fascist than democratic notions and the cables from Paris report government by decree. No doubt Britain and France are among the so-called democracies with which we are expected to join forces, but their willingness to embark on the crusade was pretty well disclosed at Munich. They have made their deal with the Fascists and seem reasonably content with it. Only the other day the German foreign minister was received in Paris and signed a treaty of amity.

This leaves Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, and the Scandinavian countries, which are as democratic as they are small and weak in a military sense. If the dictators decide to take them, either politically or economically, there is little that they can do to save themselves or that we can do to save them.

A realistic foreign policy would recognize these facts as facts. In our effort to prevent the spread of tyranny, there are no allies upon whom we can count. We cannot rescue Europe from itself, but if we are wise and maintain our army and navy in a reasonable state of preparation we can prevent Europe from imposing its barbarism upon us and our neighbors. The rest is applesauce.

BASEBALL TRADES.

The chattel arrangements of organized baseball present an interesting combination of feudal status and modern contract refreshed for consideration every time the property owners gather in the market place to do their trading. This year they are down in New Orleans, down the river, where the great slave market used to be. The old reference to the chattels as ivory has lost usage, probably because of the radio. The players who have learned to be interviewed for broadcasting are not to be classified as dumb even when they are on the block.

As a result of what has already been done in the New Orleans market Chicago and New York might be expected to have some difficulty in getting their bearings when the Cubs and Giants play each other next season, with Jurges, O'Dea, and Demaree playing for the Giants and Bartell, Mancuso, and Leiber playing for the Cubs. But baseball fans are not easily confused. They look at the uniform and the score.

If Mr. Wrigley traded the whole Cub team for the New York outfit the New Yorkers would be Cubs on the north side as soon as they appeared on the Chicago batting order and the whoops would be just as loud. There might be a study in loyalties in that.

BETRAYAL OF "SWEET ADELINE."

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The fine old art of barber shop harmony was on the way to extinction until a plucky band of devotees a few months ago organized themselves into a society for its perpetuation. What other chapters are doing is not reported, but it is sad to learn that the St. Louis group already has grown decadent. That must be the disillusioned verdict on learning that in adopting a répertoire of twenty songs suitable for their ministrations, the brethren have omitted "Sweet Adeline" from the list.

How could that poignant ballad have been so slighted? To the tonsorial parlors of the gas light and hitching post era it was as indispensable as china shaving mugs and the Police Gazette. A generation of reedy tenors and rumbling basses poured out their souls in "You're the flow-er OF my heart, sweet Ad-o-line." The boys could wring subtle harmony from "Sweet Genevieve" and "Just a Song at Twilight," it is true, but those were merely warm-up numbers, preparatory to pulling out all the stops and prolonging the luscious notes of the undisputed favorite.

If that's the way the St. Louis chapter feels about its noble heritage, why not go jitterbug and take on "Flat Foot Floogie"?

STAY AWAKE.

[Aurora Beacon-News.]

Do you tire of the continual talk these days of the various "challenges to democracy," the "threats from within and without"? Don't let yourself.

Are the frequent admonitions to concern yourself personally with public affairs and keep your interest in government constantly alive beginning to leave you cold? Don't let them.

The democracy you enjoy will not survive without your personal concern. Your boredom or indifference is one of the gravest of those "threats from within." A dictatorship is a lazy man's government. A democracy is most decidedly not.

One of the best imaginable reasons for the maintenance of your interest in your government becomes clear with a little reflection on an observation made by an educator during a recent teachers' conference in New York. The constant danger in a democracy whose citizens are not alert, he said, is that the people will not know in whose hands the power lies and what is being done with that power.

If you lived under a dictatorship it would be crystal clear where the power lay. Your obligation as a citizen of a democracy is to keep informed.

WHEW!

Nell—I hear that you and Elmer are engaged. I don't suppose he told you that he was engaged to me last year?

Belle—Well, dear, he did say something about there being things in his past he was ashamed of, but he didn't go into details.—Exchange.

TO END MASSACRES.

Since reforming football is the current fashion, we propose to take a hack at it. We reject President Hutchins' ten-cents-a-dance proposal and offer in its place a revision of the game's arithmetic, as follows: A touchdown to score 1, a field goal to score ½. The try-for-point will be abolished; it has been under criticism for years. The safety will also be abolished; it is almost unintelligible to the masses, and the rules will be adjusted to iron out the situation which causes it.

Under this system a 7 to 0 score will be a defeat that can be endured by the alumni. The same thing under present methods of scoring, 42 to 0, is a disgraceful massacre which touches off coach-firing campaigns.

"I Am Very Lonesome."

"Can you find a corner in your Line," a child writes, "for my kitty's obituary?" Then she draws an outline picture of a cat and fills it with this inscription:

"Su-Lin is dead, my sweet pet kitty that I loved so much. He looked just like Su-Lin, the panda. I don't see why any one would want to kill my kitty, but I found him lying right by our front door as if he were asleep. We buried him back of our garage and put a nice cross on his grave. Even if I can't see him I can sit by his grave, but I am very lonesome. I wish you would put this in your Line as a sort of remembrance, so I could put it in my scrapbook. All my friends would see it, too, maybe. They loved Su-Lin. I was 9 years old the day he died."

TRAVEL IN TOYLAND.

I wonder if you know you have no journey's end?
With gayly painted baggage cars paraded on the track
As though you came this way but once and never would be back,
Flashing with your one bright eye so eagerly you go—
Small gallant thing with great high hopes of tracks you do not know!
You seem to see far distant lands, adventure up ahead,
But out of sight and 'round the curve and back your wheels are led.
As in the tunnel disappears the last car bright and new,
A foolish lump comes in my throat—I am so much like you!

A Jewel of a Book.

The 1938 Line Book is one swell job! It sparkles like a many-faceted jewel with wit, humor, pathos, and delicate sentiment. If I used such language I'd call you a prestidigitator! Of course, nothing of mine was in it, which is doubtless why it's so good. Quest.

Bonfire Magic.

I built a bonfire last evening, when the sky was already touched darkly by night and the west alone held the last faint gleams of day. As the yellow flames mounted higher and higher they seemed to push the night away and to grasp eagerly at the very sky with their pointed fingers. But the blue, mysterious shadows wouldn't stay in the background. They came creeping forward stealthily, wavering, hesitating, then with a rush they were upon me—and gone, as the flames danced wildly. Now and then a spark would glow upward, and as I followed its erratic course it would die in the dark. And then there was one spark that didn't die, but went up and up into the deep, dark blue. Suddenly, as I watched, the evening star appeared and my spark was gone—and I have wondered ever since. Helene.

You Tell Him, Al.

In the feud going on in the Line between the Duke of Bakrak and Snowshoe Al each refers to the other's pinchpenny habits. Am I to gather that they are close friends? Shanty Al.

LAST LAUGH.

When I was young and thoughtless,
And came home late at night
And tried to slip in quietly
Without a sound or light,

Then always from her room
My mother softly asked,
"Is that you, son?," and now I know
The deep relief she masked.

We scolded and we chided,
But still she would not sleep
Till we were in—just one of those Long vigils mothers keep.

But now my gadding youngsters
Make me repay the score,
And I somehow must stay awake
Till they come in the door.

And, mother, are you smiling?
Then I know why, all right:
The final joke will be on them—
Some far off, sleepless night.

Evan S. Tonian.

A Case of Ambilevity.

I wish you would elucidate a word that has been troubling me—"ambilevous." The dictionary defines its literal meaning as "left-handed on both sides." I've been working on it with gestures, but it doesn't seem to come out right.

Quizzicuss.

Motion Picture Categories.

THE PIECE WORK SYSTEM OF THE BODY.

After we taste, chew, and swallow edibles we usually forget about the matter. As far as our thinking goes the job is done, but the fact remains that what we have accomplished in dispatching material into the stomach is but a fraction of the work that remains. A large number of vital organs—each with a highly specialized task—must then take the foods in hand and prepare them for absorption. In other words, the body is on the piece work system. The stomach has its functions—likewise the liver, the pancreas, etc.

A tremendous amount of labor is involved in the chemical splitting of nutriment which indicates that heat is both required and generated. Then—when the substances are ready for assimilation—the marvel of it all is that they can be converted into brain, muscle, bone, etc., wherever the need exists.

But none of these processes could continue for long—in fact, few of them could be started—were it not for air [oxygen] and water. This latter liquid is capable of dissolving salts and it furnishes the medium in which most of our chemical reactions take place. Fortunately, the body knows when it has a sufficient quota and the organs of excretion maintain a rather accurate balance. If we take more than the blood requires the kidneys, the skin, and the lungs will get rid of it promptly—that is, if the individual is normal. As most of us know, we can live much longer without food than without fluid. Three or four days at the most is the length of life when deprived of the latter, although a healthy man—if quiet—can survive thirty days without being fed.

About all that an adult has to do is to consume enough to replace tissue waste—that which is used for energy and heat. If one is reasonably active, muscles must be recharged and for this purpose five to six ounces of protein [meat] will suffice. Heat is produced by oxygen combining with foods, burning or destroying them, and the procedure is identical whether it takes place within the body or in the furnace at home. A tallow candle will furnish the same volume of heat whether it is burned in a candlestick or swallowed and oxidized by human cells.

Now, few of us take too little nourishment. We may use the wrong kinds, but the total quantity, as a rule, is more than ample. The only thing we should be careful about is a balanced menu with sufficient salts and vitamins and a proportionate relationship between starches, fats, and proteins.

Our greatest health fault lies in asking our internal factory employés to do too much as more trafic means more effort on the part of these willing laborers. After a while the word will go around that exhaustion has occurred among the workmen. At such a time ingested materials are not burned, whereupon they may begin a vicious rôle, acting as a sort of slow poison, like ashes clogging a furnace flue.

Particularly is it important not to overload with proteins. If there is retention of wastes the blood is likely to become thicker and hence less able to circulate. Then, too, a pretty sizable load is placed upon the avenues of elimination, chiefly the kidneys, which are called upon to throw off the nitrogen which the body can no longer utilize.

It has been well said that the heavy protein eater may oblige his kidneys to do in ten years what under ordinary conditions they should accomplish in ninety. As with a machine, they can wear out under strain. No longer will the tiny cells serve as competent filters. They may allow nutritive elements to pass through or fail to eliminate poisons that should be excreted. The blood vessels in these cleansing sieves may become more and more brittle, their caliber smaller until it takes more force to push along the blood.

From this we can understand what happens to the heart. More power to the circulation must be supplied by the "pump" and gradually this increasing demand will tell upon that organ. Here then is the picture: Wear and tear incident to the digestion of a heavy meal in the comfort of an easy chair may more than equal that of a day spent in hard, vigorous activity.

DIABETES.

W. L. writes: What diet should be followed in diabetes?

REPLY.

Only the physician in charge can prescribe the correct diet, since each case must be studied individually. A carelessly outlined program or failure to carry out directions is risky. Many books on this disease have been written for the layman. These help the patient to understand the nature of the affliction as well as assist in following orders intelligently. A list of such books [with authors' and publishers' names and cost] may be obtained by sending us a stamped, addressed envelope.

BRONCHITIS.

Mrs. A. C. writes: Will you kindly discuss chronic bronchitis? What can one do to cure it? Is this liable to turn into tuberculosis? Is it dangerous for a person afflicted with chronic bronchitis to bear a child?

REPLY.

Chronic bronchitis is a persistent inflammation of the mucous membrane of the larger and middle sized bronchial tubes. Unless the tubercle bacillus is present, or unless the patient's resistance is appreciably lowered, tuberculosis will not develop. It has no organic effect on pregnancy.

THIS IS A REPUBLIC.

Constantine, Mich., Dec. 6.—Why is the word democracy used to designate our republic in all of your editorials and over the radio and by most public speakers?

If we live in a republic why is it not called by that name rather than by the detested name of democrat. It [the word republic] stands for something, and as that form of government is too scarce these days, why not use the name more than ever and forget the other; boost the republic and Republicans at the same time. W. N. Harvey.

CHICAGO'S OPPORTUNITY.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—The city of Chicago should not overlook its opportunity. Just think, the New Deal has offered us Mr. Ickes as mayor. No worry about finances; we could have unlimited cash.

Why not also draft Hopkins as city manager? He'd supply the shovels. What a political organization: WPA, PWA, CCC and the whole ABC.

Z. A. M.

A NEAT DEFINITION.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—People are asking for a definition of a liberal. A liberal is a man who would conscript other men to fight in other countries' quarrels.

Legionnaire.

AXES AND ALL-NIGHT TAVERNS.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—If our states attorney is finished chopping up betting spots, why not let him concentrate on taverns which are open all night? These dens keep our husbands out all hours of the morning, so they are unable to do a decent day's work and naturally their families are the innocent victims.

C. W. A.

"WATCH YOUR CAR" BOYS.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—In answer to "E. S." letter on "Sidewalk Grafters" I would like to ask E. S. why do you tip a waiter, a porter? You are dealing with the same principle. The boys who wait through a ball game, a movie, or an event which draws a crowd of people hope to earn a few cents so that they, too, can have a little enjoyment. If it is not your wish to pay the "grafters," then park elsewhere. You will have to admit that the boys do open the door for your wife or friend and that they do see that no article in or on the car is stolen, so why not give them their worked-for chance?

Stanley Schiller.

POKER PROBLEMS.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Will you kindly settle a dispute that has arisen in a poker game?

[A] claims in using wild cards a straight flush, also a royal flush, beats five of a kind.

[B] says five of a kind beats everything.

Also is there really a book of Hoyle?

A Daily Reader.

WATCHMAN'S LONG HOURS.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Thanks to my stepson, my attention was called to the letter signed Employer, in defense of watchmen. When will other employers remember that watchmen are human and need some time off to visit their friends and to guard their health? Surely with all the honest and willing men out of work, one man shouldn't be forced to work eighty-four to ninety hours a week. I have had one night off in seven months.

Arthur C. Courtney.

THE FIVE PICKPOCKETS.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—The cartoon by Parrish on Saturday is timely, and clearly indicates that three of the five pickpockets—namely: grafting politicians, corruption, government waste—could be eradicated if the voters would only use the intelligence they are supposed to possess.

The other two pickpockets, taxes and hidden taxes, it seems are necessary evils, but some of the fingers of these two could be chopped off by eliminating the first three pickpockets.

George A. Canary.

A VOICE FOR C. I. O.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Recently your paper said the Workers' alliance was affiliated with C. I. O. and I think you should print a retraction, as it is not. You also infer that only half of the stock handlers at the yards here are members, when 585 out of 600 are. Much as you may hate C. I. O., why can't you stick to truths?

"F. S." calls us racketeers. If putting four billion dollars more annually into pay envelopes of the workers of this country is racketeering then we're racketeers. If winning vacations with pay for millions who never had a vacation and all the other benefits secured for them is racketeering then again we're racketeers. A. W.

WANTS CAR LINE EXTENDED.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Now that we are sure of our subway, a little time should be given to the matter of extending the Indiana avenue surface line south of 51st street. We, the people living south of that street, find it very inconvenient riding down State street and then walking over five or six blocks or using the "L" and walking back about four blocks.

If the street is too narrow for a car line give us buses that we can transfer to and thus save time and confusion.

ESTATE DISPOSAL.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My aunt passed away six weeks ago, leaving some real estate, several thousand in cash and one mortgage. Said aunt was a childless widow with nearest relatives one sister and ten nieces and nephews. She left a will which was not probated.

1. Is such a will legal? The home and furniture was sold two weeks after her death by one niece. We find that one week before my aunt passed away this property was deeded over to niece in following manner:

2. Real estate man who was a neighbor to aunt deeded property to brother, brother to his wife, and wife to said niece and husband.

3. Can this be done without a witness outside the family?

4. This aunt was in a coma at the time and could not sign her name, so we find only an X instead.

5. Can sister, nieces, and nephews bring suit against this niece [6] for their share? A. B.

1. No, in the sense that in order to enforce by court proceedings rights under the will, it would be necessary to have the will admitted to probate. Yes, in the sense that if all the parties are agreed, we see no necessity for probate.

2. If the property stood in your aunt's name, then the real estate man could not have deeded it.

3. Illinois law does not require witnesses to deeds, but it does require a notary public in order for the deed to be admitted to record.

4. On proving these facts, you could probably have the deed set aside.

5. Of course they can bring suit.

6. Yes.

ESTATE DISTRIBUTION.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died in 1935. His will was admitted to probate in January, 1936. He left 40 per cent of his estate to me, the balance to the rest of the family. The estate consisted of [1] an insurance policy yielding $700 in cash; [2] a building valued at $63,000; a lot valued at $1,500, and various stocks of uncertain value. A daughter was appointed administratrix. I have received about $300 in cash, but nothing from the building. So far as I know, there has been no accounting to the court.

3. How can I get a full accounting up to date?

4. Can I force the sale of the lot and get my share of the proceeds?

5. How can I force a final settlement?

6. Is there any time limit for the settlement of the estate? A complaint has been filed in court against me.

7. How can I get hold of this complaint to examine the contents and to discover the informants?

8. What are my legal rights to see and examine the complaint? C. F.

1. If the insurance was payable to named beneficiaries, it would not enter into the probate proceedings.

2. If the personal property is sufficient to pay debts, the executrix does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate.

3. Ask the clerk of the court to bring pressure to bear on the administratrix to close the estate.

4. Where owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree, any one of them is entitled to force a division or a public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.

5. See 3.

6. Yes, in the sense that in absence of reason for delay the estate should be closed shortly after the expiration of the year allowed for the filing of claims.

7. Apply to the office of the clerk of the court.

8. You are entitled to see and examine it.

TRADE ISOLATION AN ERROR, HULL TELLS LIMA MEET

Declares Economic Wars Must Be Dropped.

LIMA, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state, declared tonight on the eve of the opening of the Pan-American conference that the assembly would not seek to separate the American continents from the rest of the world.

"The American republics do not seek regional solution for economic problems confronting the world today," he said in a radio address.

"They recognize the interdependence of all nations of the world in these fundamental questions and are eager to see the principles to which they have adhered adopted by all nations of the world."

Hull was believed to be offering reassurance to Argentina, who has declared she would refrain from turning her back on the old world through any plan such as President Roosevelt's continental defense proposal.

Must Keep Eyes Open.

American delegates to the conference said Hull's conception was not to turn a back on Europe and Asia, but rather to turn faces toward them and to keep eyes open.

Hull also was throwing overboard theories advanced by some Washington, D. C., New Dealers that the United States should direct all its foreign trade toward Latin America and abandon economic intercourse with Europe, Asia, and Africa.

Hull said the American nations were "determined that peace shall be maintained on the American continents and we are in agreement that any menace to that peace is a matter of concern to all of us."

True to his free trade tradition, Hull stressed his conviction that "economic disarmament is one of the essentials for political stability and for the return of international relationships, based upon respect for law and order, and faithful observance of obligations."

Wants Stronger World Laws.

His third point was for strengthening of international law, which he said was "of vital concern for us all."

The twin principles of "the Americas for Americans" and closer cultural, economic, and political coöperation claimed major interest tonight of delegates here for the conference.

The Rev. John F. O'Hara, president of Notre Dame university and a member of the United States delegation, delivered a long sermon in Spanish at the Lima cathedral. He told a congregation observing the religious holiday of the immaculate conception that among American states "mutual respect is based on mutual understanding."

Bandits Held

Stanley Sand, 24 years old, 5908 North Hermitage avenue, and William Sargent, 20 years old, 1540 North Shore avenue, were held to the grand jury under bond of $15,000 on three charges of burglary each by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court yesterday. According to the Albany Park police, the two confessed to a series of twenty-five burglaries of filling stations and garages after their arrest on Dec. 3.

STOCK HANDLERS TO RENEW PEACE PARLEYS TODAY

Representatives of the C. I. O. stock handlers' union will confer again today with officers of the Union Stockyards and Transit company on controversial points. A thirteen day stockyards strike called by the union ended Monday.

By terms of an agreement arranged through Mayor Kelly, the C. I. O. union is recognized as sole bargaining agent for the handlers. But no understanding has yet been reached on the union demands for a forty hour week, eight hours a day. The C. I. O. has dropped its request for a checkoff—collection of union dues by the employer.

The union stewards told their members to work only eight hours yesterday, and the handlers left the yards after that period. This caused no difficulty, however, as live stock deliveries are light on Thursday and Friday. A real test of the union demands for an eight hour day is expected Monday, which is a heavy work day.

ENVOY TO CHINA SUMMONED HOME FOR CONFERENCE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The United States, concerned lest Japan close China's open door permanently, has ordered Nelson T. Johnson, ambassador to China, to return home for consultations with President Roosevelt and state department officials.

Nelson Johnson.

Announcement today of this order came simultaneously with further clarification by Japan of her intentions in East Asia and followed Great Britain's declaration that she could not subscribe to creation of an economic-political bloc there dominated by Japan.

Kennedy to Hurry Home.

Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to London, unexpectedly advanced his plans today and announced he would sail Saturday for home. It was not disclosed whether this foreshadowed action by the United States and Britain in bringing pressure upon Japan to prevent her attempted rule over China. Kennedy's return was considered significant, however, in view of the fact that Britain, like the United States, has displayed worry over events in China.

In Tokio today Prime Minister Arita further outlined Japan's views to Joseph C. Grew, American ambassador, and Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador. Grew's report has not yet reached the state department.

Press dispatches, however, said that Arita told the ambassadors that the principle of equality of opportunity and the open door might have to be revised in establishing Japan's program.

The United States regards such action inimical to its interests and has sent Japan several recent notes protesting discrimination against American trade and interests. Japan's answers have been considered unsatisfactory.

Ambassador Johnson will leave Chungking, temporary South China capital, on Monday and will arrive here in the middle of January.

U. S. Gunboat Arrives at Shanghai from Hankow

SHANGHAI, Dec. 9 [Friday].—(AP)—The United States gunboat Luzon arrived in Shanghai today after a 600 mile journey down the Yangtze river. The Luzon left Hankow on Monday, the first foreign warship permitted by Japanese to sail down the stream since they gained control of the river above Nanking.

HANDCUFF STATE HIGHWAY PATROL TO TREE IN OHIO

Columbus, O., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of the state highway patrol, reported tonight that Corporal Parker Powell of the Wilmington station was abducted by two men and two women who took his gun and patrol car and handcuffed him to a tree near Waynesville, O.

Black said Corporal Powell was called to investigate an automobile accident and found the automobile in the ditch, with two men and two women standing beside it. They asked Powell's aid in getting into Wilmington.

The officer stopped Joe Sheldon of Greenville, O., a passing motorist, and started to help the two couples with their baggage into Sheldon's car. When Powell noticed a submachine gun in the wrecked machine, the men drew guns, Col. Black said, took the patrol car and Sheldon's sedan, left Sheldon standing in the road, and took Powell with them.

After driving ten miles they kicked Powell out, tied him with a piece of rope, and handcuffed him to a tree with his own cuffs. They left with both automobiles and the patrolman's gun.

Paroled Chinese Is Seized with 26 Ounces of Heroin

Paul Moy, a Chinese paroled recently from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, was seized yesterday in a room at 2237 Wentworth avenue by a squad headed by Lieut. William Cusack. He had twenty-six ounces of heroin in his pockets.

INHALATION

THE MISERY OF HIS COLD BEGINS TO GO

When you just do this:

Massage VapoRub on the throat, chest, and back. Then spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. (No dosing, no stomach upsets.)

VapoRub's poultice-and-vapor action goes right to work—direct through the skin like a poultice, while its medicated vapors released by the body warmth are inhaled direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This two-way action (inhalation and stimulation) loosens phlegm—clears the air-passages—checks tendency to cough—eases muscular soreness or tightness—relieves local congestion—and he soon feels comfortable again.

Long after he relaxes into restful sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working. And often by morning the worst of his cold is over. No wonder 3 out of 5 mothers put faith in VapoRub whenever anyone in the family has a cold!

CHARGES FRENCH REDS LET SOVIETS FLEE WITH BODY

Links Ex-Ministers to Vanished General.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Mme. Nadine Skobline—known as La Plevitskaia—lone defendant in the case of two missing Russian generals, was all but forgotten as her trial progressed today. The charges against her were overshadowed by allegations against two Socialists who were ministers in Premier Camille Chautemps' government in 1937.

They are Senator Marx Dormoy, former minister of interior, and Vincent Auriol, former minister of justice. Both were accused of blocking police investigations into the disappearance of Gen. Eugene de Miller, head of White Russian war veterans in France, who vanished Sept. 22, 1937.

Charged with Complicity.

The accusations were made by Maurice Ribet, lawyer for Mme. de Miller. Ribet is pressing a civil suit, in addition to the state's criminal charge, against La Plevitskaia, former Ukrainian concert singer.

Presiding Judge Albert Delegorgue said he would summon Dormoy to testify Saturday despite the fact that parliament will be in session.

Charges Envoy Called Auriol.

Ribet asserted that intervention by Dormoy and Auriol had resulted in the recall of a French destroyer sent out to bring back the Russian freighter Maria Ileanova. White Russian witnesses said the freighter had taken aboard a large wooden box in Le Havre the day after De Miller disappeared.

This box, these witnesses said, was believed to have contained the body of De Miller.

Ribet said he believed Vladimir Potemkin, then soviet Russian ambassador to Paris, "telephoned his friend Vincent Auriol and asked him to ask Dormoy to drop the Soviet clew for a few hours," thus enabling the freighter to escape search.

COUNTY OFFICERS SEEK TO ADD 103 NEW JOBHOLDERS

Officials of thirteen county fee offices yesterday requested 103 additional employés for 1939, raising the total from 1,734 to 1,837. The Circuit judges' committee on help took the request under advisement. Under the law the judges of the court fix the number of employés for fee supported county offices.

Commissioner Maurice F. Kavanagh, chairman of the county finance committee, and Harland C. Stockwell, assistant executive secretary of the Civic federation and bureau of public efficiency, opposed the proposed pay roll increases on the ground of economy.

The largest single request was made by Thomas J. O'Brien, newly elected sherif, who asked for forty-six new jobs, twenty-five to be assigned as county highway policemen. Chief Lester J. Laird of the highway police said the present staf of eighty-six was insufficient to cope with increased truck hi-jackings, trafic fatalities, and thefts of chickens, cattle, and grain from farmers.

Hearing Worth $5,000

MISS MARY MARACEK.

"If a young man proposes to this girl," Attorney Lester E. Williams told the jury yesterday, "she may not even hear him, since she has lost the hearing of her right ear. Or she may have to turn the left one and inquire, 'What's that?' Consider, gentlemen, the effect this may have on her chance to get married."

Miss Mary Maracek, who is 28 years old, had testified that she was struck by a truck near her home at 1539 School street. She was suing the Gaylord Company, Inc., and Anthony Mazzone, who was making a delivery for the company. The jury pondered for five hours about the shoulder Miss Maracek said was broken, the teeth she said she lost, and the admirers her lawyer said she might lose. And they awarded her $5,275 at a Circuit court trial over which Judge John T. Cummings of Kewanee presided.

RUSSIA LIMITS FISHING RIGHTS GRANT TO JAPAN

MOSCOW, Dec. 8.—(AP)—A serious dispute developed today between the Japanese and soviet Russian governments. The dispute concerned Japanese agitation for extended fishing rights in Siberian waters under Russian control. It was intensified by a Russian demand for payments in connection with sale of the Chinese Eastern railway in 1935 to Manchukuo.

Tass, Russian news agency, said Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinov on Nov. 25 told the Japanese ambassador, Shigenori Togo, that Russia cannot "begin negotiations on the conclusion of a new long-term fisheries convention before the Japanese government fulfills at least its undertakings as regards the Chinese Eastern Railway payments," due from Manchoukuo, the Japanese protectorate.

However, pending further negotiations Russia was ready to grant another "temporary one-year fisheries agreement." Japanese would be permitted to retain about 380 of the fishing lots they now operate but forced to give up about 40 lots which for "strategic" and other considerations were being withdrawn from "Japanese exploitation."

Threatened Over Criticism of Nazis, Says La Guardia

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Mayor Fiorella La Guardia today announced that his life had been threatened because of his criticism of the German Nazis. The threat, he said, was made in a note which contained a revolver bullet and bore a swastika as a signature.

SPY JURY SHOWN PHOTOS GERMAN TOOK OF U. S. FORT

Canal Zone Guns' Position Revealed in Pictures.

CRISTOBAL, Panama Canal Zone, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The federal District court jury sitting in the Canal Zone's first espionage trial today was shown photographs which Hans Heinrich Schackow, a 26 year old German, is accused of having taken unlawfully of Canal Zone fortifications.

It was also brought out that Schackow, only a day before his arrest on Oct. 16 inside Fort Randolph, had been refused permission to visit restricted military areas.

Schackow's trial began yesterday. The trials of three other young Germans, Miss Ingebord W. Hutmann, Gisbert W. Groos, and Ernest Kuhrig, who accompanied Schackow and were arrested with him, will be held later. The men formerly served in the German army and navy.

Refused as an Alien.

Lieut. L. H. Parr of the coast artillery testified that he had become acquainted with Schackow as a tennis partner.

On Oct. 15, Lieut. Parr said, Schackow asked him to get permission for himself and a party of friends to visit Fort Sherman the following Sunday. Parr replied that he was unable to do so because the reservation was closed to all but United States citizens.

The next day Schackow and his companions gained entrance to Fort Randolph by telling the sentry they were going to the post restaurant. Clarence Otenburg, manager of the restaurant, testified the four did not come there.

Lieut. Elvin F. Maugham, an expert air corps photographer, testified that the camera taken from Schackow within the fort area, was a modern, powerful German type that could take pictures clearly from a distance of half a mile. He told of developing the film that was in the camera when it was seized.

Ignored "Stay Out" Signs.

Lieut. S. W. Foote, adjutant at Fort Randolph, identified a government exhibit as photographs developed from Schackow's film. One picture clearly showed a sign reading "Military reservation, no trespassing."

He said Schackow's group traversed a board walk along which there were three similar signs and later entered a gun emplacement area where all batteries were marked by signs.

Lieut. Foote testified that all photographs which Schackow had declared were "nature views" showed a background of strategic landmarks, one of them a 40 yard channel by which landing parties could approach in calm weather, and another twin hills used as landmarks by aviators. A third, he testified, showed the extent of a new military road.

Court adjourned at noon to permit the jury to view at Fort Randolph the locations the defendants are charged with filming. The trial will be resumed tomorrow.

FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY.

Lee Center, Ill., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Funeral services for Mrs. Herbert Blodgett, wife of the athletic coach at Lee Center Community High school, will be held tomorrow at Fulton, Ill. She died Tuesday night.

Ickes Will Have Grass at Interior Building Guarded

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes today explained why a grassy lot in front of interior department offices is to be guarded. "I was looking out of my window and saw many people walking across the grass," he said. "I didn't want them to trample down the 'keep off the grass sign.' I like grass."

LEADER OF BUND HEARS DIES FLAY NAZIS AND REDS

Shows Up at Luncheon Honoring Texan.

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—In the presence of Fritz Kuhn, National leader of the German-American bund, who had appeared unexpectedly, Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] heatedly assailed communism and Naziism alike today at a luncheon given in his honor by the New York state economic council.

"I detest the communist party and the German-American bund alike," Dies declared. He is chairman of the special house committee which has been investigating un-American activities in the United States.

When M. K. Hart, presiding at the luncheon, learned Kuhn had entered the dining room and ostensibly intended to remain for Dies' address, he explained the gathering was public and any one was free to buy a ticket. Obviously referring on the arrival of Kuhn and some friends, Hart added: "It is possible that not all who have come in this way are sympathetic to what we have to say, but they will at least hear sound doctrins."

Dies Adds an Aside.

Dies added an aside audible to his friends: "I wish he had brought Browder along too and a few others to hear what I have to say about the American doctrin."

Meanwhile Kuhn was grumbling at his table that the Dies committee had been unfair to his side and had taken a lot of "statements from stool pigeons."

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow Americans," declared Mr. Dies, rising to his feet. "I mean every citizen in the United States who is sincerely devoted to the ideas and principles of this republic — regardless of race, church, social or economic position in life." This drew applause.

Denies Smearing New Deal.

Then Dies concentrated on the difficulties that had faced his committee.

"The wonder is," he said, "not that we have made mistakes, but that we have succeeded to the extent we have. The suggestion that we set out to smear the New Deal is utterly preposterous. Why we asked for their lawyers and their investigators to help us."

Dies charged that the organization headed by Kuhn was founded on the promotion of class, racial, and religious hatred which could utterly destroy the American government and undermine the foundation on which this nation is established.

"I condemn the mistreatment of the Jews in Germany," he said, "and I likewise condemn and ask the government to condemn the massacre of thousands of Christians in Russia and Spain."

The fundamental principles of communism, Fascism, and Naziism are all the same, he declared, because all are founded on hate.

In commenting on the Dies address later Kuhn said he could have "gone to a church and heard the same thing."

BABY GIRL SUFFOCATED.

Patricia Horton, 3 weeks old, was found suffocated in her crib yesterday in her home at 1749 North Talman avenue. A fire department rescue squad worked in vain for twenty minutes to revive the child.

COURT RULES NAZI GUARDS HAVE A RIGHT TO SHOOT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—Hitler Guards are entitled to "use their weapons in defense of the good reputation of their uniforms," Germany's Supreme court ruled today.

The decision was made in a case in which a Hitler Guard was asked by "racial comrades to protect them against the molestations of toughs." On intervening the Hitler Guard said he was "insulted, threatened, and assaulted."

The Hitler Guard testified he drew his service weapon and "disabled the ringleader." In acquitting the Hitler Guard, the court ruled that "if the accused had not used his weapon a free-for-all-fight would have resulted; this is incompatible with the honor of the uniform."

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Ducks Lose Shyness.

December 8, 1938.

SOME of the wild ducks which were trapped on the Tribune's Du Page county farm this fall now seem to be accustomed to their new homes. They are not nearly as shy as they were about a month ago when they were freed from the big wire trap on the large pond. We noticed one morning how a pair of black ducks seemed very much at home among the domesticated mallards which belong on the farm. The United States biological survey gave the farm permission to keep this pair of black ducks for a breeding experiment. Permission also was granted to keep some of the mallards that were trapped.

After these birds had been captured and then freed nobody could find them. They seemed to have disappeared, although they couldn't fly. One day we tramped around the ponds and into the heavy weeds near the edge of the water to see if we could catch sight of them. But we had no luck at all, and we wondered what could have happened to them.

Have Lots of Company.

After hiding out for several weeks the ducks apparently are coming out of retirement. They have learned that nobody is going to hurt them. The farm has a small flock of domesticated mallards on the pond, so the new birds will have plenty of company.

Although the land traps for catching song birds still are kept open and baited every week, it looks as if old man winter had just about called a halt on further waterfowl trapping for 1938. Whenever the temperature drops and ice forms on the big pond the large wire trap which has been used for catching wild ducks is frozen up. Then, too, most of the ducks have gone south. There are just a few mallards dropping in at the ponds for short visits.

We are unable to prove it, but we have an idea that the few mallards visiting the farm this late in the season belong to the flock that E. K. Hardy has been feeding on his Barrington farm. He has had as high as 5,000 ducks coming to his pond to get free meals ever since the fall migration started. About a week ago he began to reduce the amount of corn given these birds to force them southward on their migration. The flock then was cut down to around 2,500 or 3,000 birds.

Look for Free Meals.

After these mallards have been fed in the afternoon they take to the air, fly south and east, often drop into corn fields to feed, and visit any spot that provides a free meal. Knowing how these mallards travel around the countryside we are pretty sure that some of Mr. Hardy's boarders are coming to the Tribune farm to pick up what food they can before flying back to Barrington.

Happy Landings and Pittsburg Landing, the two colts which were foaled on the Tribune's Du Page county farm this spring, are in their winter quarters now, with a yard all their own where they can frolic as much as they please. The men even put up a new fence for the colts so that there would be less chance of injury to these frisky youngsters. The old fence, at the east end of the paddock, was made of chicken wire, and the men were afraid that the colts would be injured on broken wires. So they dug new postholes and built a three rail paddock fence. If the colts run against this new fence there isn't much chance of injury.

This became known yesterday when the inventory of his estate, showing assets of $2,000,000, was approved by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. The estate had been estimated at little more than $1,000,000.

Under the provisions of the will the hospital will receive $1,170,000. The hospital's share had not been expected to exceed $800,000. Dr. Friend, senior attending physician at the hospital, died July 19.

SON ARRAIGNED IN PLOT TO SLAY WEALTHY FATHER

Faces 2 to 14 Year Term if Convicted.

Rensselaer, Ind., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Ralph Myers, 45 years old, was arraigned in court late today on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder in connection with a plot to have his wealthy father slain. He pleaded not guilty and was returned to jail when he was unable to post $5,000 bond.

Ralph Myers.

Myers, a war veteran, was seized last night after he had given a check for $700 to two state detectives who posed as gangsters. He had hired them to kill his father, George M. Myers, 73 years old, so that he might inherit his parent's estate, estimated at $150,000.

May Plead Insanity.

The son was represented by Attorney George Reed when he was arraigned before Judge Moses Leopold in the Jasper County Circuit court. The attorney indicated before the hearing that his client might plead insanity. Sentence ranging from 2 to 14 years may be imposed upon conviction of conspiracy to commit murder.

The defendant sobbed in his cell in the county jail here today, apparently in self-pity over his plight. He uttered no expression of remorse. Authorities said there had been "bad blood" between him and his father for some time.

Tells Friend His Plans.

Ralph recently told an acquaintance, whose name was not disclosed by police, that he wanted to hire gunmen to kill his father. The man told a minister, the minister told the elder Myers, and he reported it to officials.

Two state police detectives, posing as the gangsters Ralph's friend had hired, met the son last night. The younger Myers gave them a check for $700, which was $300 less than he had offered to pay, and told the supposed hirelings:

"You'll have to wait ten days to cash that. By that time I'll have the old man's money."

He suggested that his father be killed, and his car, with his body in it, be driven into the Kankakee river near here, or that he be slain and his body left in a prairie in Chicago as though he had been robbed.

6 ENTER PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY IN U. S. MILK CASE

Attorneys Differ Over Consent Decree.

Pleas of not guilty were entered yesterday before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward in behalf of six of the ninety-seven persons and corporations under indictment on charges of violating the anti-trust laws in connection with an alleged monopoly in the milk industry. Two of the pleas were withdrawn later. Only one of the defendants, David A. Riskind, who is also attorney for the milk wagon drivers' union, was in court.

One of the more than twenty defense attorneys, Loy N. McIntosh, representing the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., of Chicago, indicated a consent decree might be sought. At the same time Attorney Frederic Burnham, another of defense counsel, indicated that the charges might be fought.

Asserts U. S. Oposition.

Officials of companies named in the indictment previously had said they would oppose a consent decree as giving the government control of the milk industry in this area. Leo F. Tierney, special assistant attorney general in charge of the government's case, said yesterday that the government would oppose any attempt to obtain a consent decree.

Judge Woodward continued the cases of the ninety defendants who did not enter pleas to Jan. 23. This was done so that attorneys could file all preliminary motions, which will be heard Jan. 7.

Those entering not guilty pleas yesterday, in addition to Riskind, were Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, who is on leave of absence; Leslie G. Goudie, president, Joint council, No. 25, International Brotherhood of Teamsters; William J. Guerin, chief of city dairy inspection, board of health; Capt. Daniel A. Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, and Paul Krueger, chief sanitary officer, board of health.

At the close of the hearing, counsel for Capt. Gilbert and Goudie entered motions to withdraw the pleas of not guilty in order that they might file preliminary motions later. This was permitted.

Permitted to Withdraw.

As the hearing opened, Attorney McIntosh told the court that counsel had not had opportunity to study the indictment.

"This charge of conspiracy is fraught with far reaching economic problems," he said. "In my 20 years' association with the milk industry, we have faced grave economic problems, which we have solved as best we could. In such an industry as ours, there must be competition. We believe we should have 30 days continuance. It might be possible to arrive at some agreement with the government. If such a solution is possible, it will be a short cut through this difficulty."

Opposes Consent Decree.

Attorney Burnham, representing the Borden company, and Borden-Weiland, Inc., indicated those companies would not seek a consent decree.

"We are not yet ready to state what action we will take, but we are considering a motion to quash, demurrer, or a plea in abatement," he said. He then urged a continuance.

Attorney Tierney then said that the government opposed any long continuance, leading to a possible consent decree.

"The government is anxious to dispose of this matter at an early date," he said, "but the government position, despite the remarks of some counsel as to the desirability of a continuance of this trial for a possible consent decree, is to proceed to trial at an early date. I wish to say, on behalf of government counsel engaged in this case, that it should not be continued for any such purpose. I believe there should be some continuance, but thirty days is too long."

TEACHER IS OUSTED FOR READING CERTAIN BOOKS, HE SAYS; SUES

Walter Phinney.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Portland, Ind., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Walter R. Phinney, a school teacher, sought $1,000 damages today in a suit against a small town school board which ousted him, he said, because he read to his high school pupils from books the board considered indecent.

The books objected to, Phinney said, were Carl Carmer's "Stars Fell on Alabama," and W. E. Woodward's "A New American History." The board members said certain passages were vile, obscene, and indecent, and would corrupt the morals and conduct of pupils.

The suit was directed against school trustees of Redkey, a country town of 1,370 persons near here, and the school town. The post there was Phinney's first teaching job. He is 25 years old and is crippled by infantile paralysis.

BY MARY MEADE.

The earliest gingerbreads really were breads, not the sweet cakelike dessert we love so well today. To the old-fashioned recipe we have added sugar, an egg or two, and more shortening to make a richer, fluffier textured gingerbread than our ancestors knew. And we don't serve it always just as gingerbread alone. We add things to the batter, or we frost it or "sauce" it to give it a new flavor accent.

Consider a few of the things we may do with gingerbread:

1. Sprinkle it with powdered sugar and serve it in squares.
2. Frost it and serve it as cake.
3. Split it while hot and let marshmallows melt between the layers.
4. Top it with whipped cream or ice cream, cream cheese, and maybe nuts, a fruity sauce.
5. Add chopped apples to the batter, or raisins or mincemeat.
6. Bake it in cupcake pans with a piece of fruit, such as a prune or a slice of peach, in the center of each cake.
7. Cover the batter with brown sugar and butter as it goes into the oven. This gives a delicious topping.
8. Make an "upside down" cake of it.
9. Bake it in a waffle iron.
10. Add candied ginger cut in tiny pieces for gingerbread tea cakes. Or add a mixture of candied fruits and fruit peels.

Gingerbread.

[Eight Inch Square Pan.]

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter, margarine, or other fat
½ cup sugar
1 egg
⅔ cup molasses
¾ cup sour milk or buttermilk

Sift flour, measure, and resift several times with baking powder, soda, spices, and salt. Cream butter and add sugar. Beat until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add molasses and mix. Alternate flour mixture and milk, a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Bake in a greased eight inch square pan [two inches high] at 350 degrees for fifty minutes, or until done.

Serving suggestion: Top hot squares of gingerbread with whipped cream which has been sweetened and flavored with molasses.

Mincemeat Gingerbread.

[Eight Inch Pan or Larger.]

1 9 ounce package mincemeat
½ cup water
1 cup boiling water
⅓ cup butter or other fat
1 cup molasses
½ cup sugar
1 egg
2¾ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger

Break mincemeat into pieces and add cold water. Heat and stir to break up lumps. Boil briskly until mixture is almost dry. Cool. Pour boiling water over butter. When melted add molasses, sugar, and beaten egg. Mix well. Sift flour, measure, and resift with soda, salt, and spices. Blend with butter mixture and fold in mincemeat which has been cooled. Bake at 350 degrees in greased pan for about an hour.

SPINACH TAKES ON NEW GLAMOR, ALL DONE UP IN GAY GELATIN SALAD

Poor Mr. Spinach has so few friends that he deserves the break of being made into a tempting gelatin salad that will win him new friends. You can't help liking spinach done up this way.

MOLDED SPINACH SALAD.

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
½ cup cold water
½ cup hot water
¾ cup cooked spinach, chopped or sieved
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, hard cooked

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice, salt, and spinach. Chill. Rinse mold in cold water and line with eggs cut in slices. When gelatin is partially congealed, turn into mold and chill until firm.

HOSTESS NEED NOT WALK PLANK AT PIRATE PARTY

What to serve at a buffet style "pirate" party was a recent request that came to the Tribune's cooking department. The menu suggested went something like this:

PIRATE PARTY MENU
Barbecued Beef or Pork Served in the Skillet
Cucumber Relish
Buttered Rye Bread Graham Bread
White Bread
Swiss Cheese Liederkranz American Cheese
Salad Bowl of Mixed Greens
Ice Cream Flying Pirate Flags
Gingerale in Flagons

Attractive table decorations for such a party should be easy to plan. A small wooden chest, opened and overflowing with glittering trinkets might be the centerpiece. Of if you prefer an edible centerpiece, fill the chest with those "pieces of gold" candies which are chocolate wafers wrapped in gold foil and stamped to represent coins. For greater realism clean sand or bird gravel might be banked around the chest.

Use bottles for candlesticks and let the candles burn until they are quite stubby and their tallow has dripped onto the bottle holders. A patched, checkered cloth and even tin plates would not be out of keeping.

For the pirate flags, buy tiny American flags substituting pieces of muslin scrawled in India ink with crude skull and crossbones. The muslin flags may be fastened to extra long cocktail picks.

BARBECUE SAUCE.

[1½ cups.]

1 tablespoon butter
½ onion sliced
1 teaspoon mustard
4 teaspoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon paprika
4 tablespoons vinegar
¾ cup water
1 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ cup catsup

Melt the butter and saute the onion in it. When onion is tender, add dry seasonings, then other ingredients. Bring to a boil. Slice roast beef or pork into the sauce and heat quickly. Serve in clean copper or aluminum skillets.

TOO MUCH GROG CAN SPOIL THE FRUIT CAKE, TOO

Any fruit cake—no matter how moist or how fruity—will dry out eventually if it is not properly stored.

When the cakes are throughly cooled they should be wrapped closely in parchment or wax paper, and then placed in a crock or metal box as nearly the size of the cake as possible.

Do not pour brandy on the cakes with the idea of keeping them moist. The brandy improves flavor but should be applied in small amounts so that the alcohol evaporates and only the flavor remains. Pour too much and the cake is likely to become soaked and soggy on the bottom.

The easiest way to apply brandy is to pour a little on a clean cloth and wrap the cake in it before wrapping in wax paper. Or a very small amount—not more than a tablespoon—may be drizzled or spread over the cake at weekly intervals.

If a glazed and decorated cake is preferred, keep the cake well wrapped until a week before it is to be served. After the glaze is applied the cake must be wrapped lightly to prevent the coating from becoming sticky. Any pulpy fruit may be used to make the glaze, but apricots are preferred because their rich orange color adds to the attractiveness of the cake. Fruit and nut decorations are applied to the cake between coatings of glaze.

GLAZE FOR FRUIT CAKES.

1 cup apricot pulp and juice
1⅛ cups sugar

Cook dried apricots and put through sieve. Measure 1 cup. Add sugar and cook over low heat to 240 degrees, or until sticky. While still hot spread in thin coating over sides and top of cake. Press fruit and nut decorations into the glaze. Reheat glaze or make a fresh batch and give cake a second glazing when first coat is cool and dry. If desired, canned apricots, pressed through a sieve, may be used in place of the cooked, dried apricots.

STORES HEAP UP DELICACIES FOR HOLIDAY MEALS

Prices Have Tendency to Go Lower.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Christmas foods tempting to cooks who do a lot of fussing in the kitchen at this time of year are stacked up on the counters of retail stores all over Chicago and its surrounding suburbs. The old Aunt Marys of former years would have been delighted with the chance to fill their baskets with the holiday knicknacks on display this week.

Grocery men are featuring nuts, plum pudding, fruit cake, fig pudding, flour, and other things for holiday meals. Fresh supplies are on hand of dried raisins, prunes, currants, apricots, peaches, mince meat, and similar items now in demand. Honey, canned fruit, pop corn, preserves, and crab meat are out on the special counters and tables.

Take Turkey Orders.

Butchers will begin taking advance orders on Monday for Christmas turkeys. Some retail meat market operators say they expect turkeys to be slightly lower than they were at Thanksgiving.

Food prices are displaying a tendency to become lower after advancing for the last two weeks. Some items are lower than last week. Only a few foods have been raised in price this week compared with last.

THE TRIBUNE's weekly survey shows that butter prices vary. Most retailers cut their butter prices 2 cents a pound, but a few raised them a similar amount. Many reduced eggs 3 cents a dozen. Lard is off 1 to 2 cents a pound, and sugar 1 to 3 cents a ten pound bag in a long list of stores.

Price tags on few fruits and vegetables were changed by retailers this week. Delicious, Jonathan, and Winesap apples are slightly lower. Bananas are down 1 cent a pound in a few places. Small sized lemons have been lowered 2 to 4 cents a dozen Spinach, radishes, rutabaga, and celery are off in many stores.

Head Lettuce Higher.

Head lettuce is up 1 to 2 cents a head. Broccoli, cauliflower, and tomatoes have been marked higher by several greengrocers.

There is a tendency for meat to go lower, in line with reductions in wholesale prices of fresh meats in Packingtown. Beef, pork, and lamb are all lower on the Chicago wholesale market.

In retail butcher shops pork prices have a tendency to drop. Pork loin is off 1 to 6 cents a pound and pork spare ribs 2 cents a pound in most shops. A few shops, however, raised their pork loins and spare ribs 2 cents a pound. Lamb chops and leg of lamb are 2 cents a pound under last week's prices in several places. Porterhouse steaks are off 4 cents in some shops and up a similar amount in others.

In a few retail markets butchers took 4 cents a pound off the price of pot roast of beef and added 2 cents a pound to the price of rib roasts. Stewing chickens are 2 cents higher in some shops.

John Campbell, federal live stock market reporter, said yesterday that cattle prices bobbed up and down during the week, reaching a top of $13 this week. No comparisons on live animal prices are made with last week because the market was closed by the strike of live stock handlers in Union Stock Yards. Fresh beef is 50 cents to $1 a hundred lower than last week.

Hog prices were about the same during the week with the top at $7.60 a hundredweight. Dressed pork is steady to 50 cents a hundred lower. Fat lambs are 25 cents a hundred lower than at the beginning of this week with the week's top selling at $9.50 a hundred. Dressed lamb is reported to be $1 to $1.50 a hundred pounds lower than a week ago.

POTATO CHIPS LEND THEIR CRISPNESS TO TUNA FISH CASSEROLE

Lots of casserole dishes contain boiled or raw potatoes, but have you ever tasted one containing potato chips? This tuna fish casserole is given a crispness by their addition.

- ½ pound [small package] potato chips
- 3 cups medium white sauce

Brown chopped green pepper and mushrooms in butter. Combine all ingredients and pour into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for half an hour. In making white sauce, use six tablespoons butter, six tablespoons flour, and three cups milk.

SOMETHING NEW: BISCUITS MADE OF APPLESAUCE

ALMOND SPONGE PUDDING WITH WINE SAUCE—AH!

If it's a super-scrumptious dessert you're looking for, try almond sponge pudding with a wine sauce. It's a steamed pudding that's wonderfully easy to make.

- 6 eggs, separated
- ½ pound almonds, blanched and grated
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat butter, sugar, and egg yolks together until creamy. Add almonds. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff and fold into egg and sugar mixture. Add flavoring. Turn into a buttered pudding mold which has been sprinkled with sugar. Cover tightly and steam for one hour. Serve with wine sauce.

- 2 egg yolks

Mix sugar, salt, and cornstarch. Add lemon, wine, one-fourth cup water and cinnamon, and blend. Cook in double boiler for five minutes, stirring constantly. Strain. Blend egg yolks with remaining water and add to hot liquid gradually. Continue cooking until mixture coats a spoon. Serve hot or cold.

OWNER OF CAFE CARRIES SIGN TO ANSWER PICKETS

Donning a sandwich board, Gust C. Terzake, owner of three restaurants, yesterday began picketing the pickets in front of his Corner House restaurant at Rush and Ohio streets.

The pickets carry signs which state that Terzake is unfair to the Chicago local of the Hotel and Restaurant Employés International association, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. The union seeks to organize his 150 employés.

Terzake's sign said none of the pickets ever was employed by him. He said he had informed his employés at a meeting they were free to organize, but that they said they were satisfied with working conditions and preferred not to.

GEORGE RECTOR GIVES A MENU FOR CHRISTMAS

You'll be needing a menu for Christmas dinner, and here is a complete one which will be proposed by George Rector, the famous chef, in his column in the woman's section of Sunday's TRIBUNE: Hors d'oeuvres, crabmeat ravigote, relishes, mushroom soup, roast turkey, puree of chestnuts, candied or mashed sweet potatoes, cranberry jelly or sauce, peas or string beans, a salad of greens, and plum pudding or mince pie.

Certain of the recipes for the more common dishes on this menu already will be in your files. Recipes for the tempters not so well known will be set forth in detail in Mr. Rector's column.

Do you know how to make a cheese "slip-on" for mince pie? Whether to serve crabmeat fresh or canned? Answers are typical bits of information, drawn from Mr. Rector's great store of food lore, which will garnish the more formal suggestions of his Sunday column.

HE GETS A RAISE, SO EX-WIFE ASKS ALIMONY BOOST

When William J. White's income fell off, Mrs. Georgia L. White took an alimony reduction. Now that his pay has gone up from $7,200 a year to $8,500, she wants the same alimony she used to get, according to a petition she filed yesterday.

White is assistant treasurer of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. He and Mrs. White were divorced in 1934. She won $250 alimony which was reduced later to $200. Mrs. White lives at 238 South Maple avenue, Oak Park. Judge Robert C. O'Connell set the hearing for next Thursday.

Actor Seized on Charge of Abandoning Daughter

Boyd L. Senter, former Chicago vaudeville actor, lately a night club entertainer, was arrested yesterday in Bay City, Mich., on a charge of abandoning his daughter, Hope, 8 years old. His divorced wife, Mrs. Edna Pierson Senter, 31, of 101 West 107th street, complained to authorities three days ago that Senter was $3,150 behind in support payments for the child. He was ordered in 1932 to pay $15 a week.

A Crochet Design for Luncheon Set

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This old "Wheel and Compass" crochet design is one pattern which adapts itself admirably to luncheon sets of linen and fine white mercerized crochet cotton. Two yards of linen and three balls of cotton will create a perfect luncheon set with matching napkins. There still is time to whip up this attractive set in time to offer it as a gift, because it takes less than a couple of days to complete it.

For instructions for crocheting the "Wheel and Compass" luncheon set, No. X-148, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Working Mother Requests Coat.

There are four in the K. family, all supported by the mother, who works only three days a week at $7.50 per week. That income pays rent, and maintains their home in a subdivision northwest of Chicago. She has only a spring coat, which is not very presentable, and fears loss of her work because of her shabby appearance. Can some reader supply a coat, size 16 or 18, for her?

Let Children Work on Yule Cards at Home

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Your boys and girls don't have to be artists to make really charming Christmas cards with their own hands. And this is one of the several ways in which the spirit of Christmas and the joy of doing can be combined.

Naturally, if children have talent the result of their effort will be more original and probably a little more elaborate, but neither one of these attributes is necessary to make a card that is gay, colorful, and Christmasy looking.

Usually when the children are little some grown person has to get them started and make suggestions, especially if they have never done this sort of thing before. And the mother or grown up sister who works along with them will find that the actual doing helps her to help them, and also keeps her from letting them attempt anything too difficult or impractical from a manual standpoint.

Some mothers keep their Christmas cards received from previous years. These can be used for cutouts or rearranged and pasted up, or can serve as ideas for new designs.

Of course, nothing that is really part of Christmas is made stale by use. The familiar symbols are old and loved, not old and hackneyed. Therefore, bells, candles, holly and wreaths and little evergreen trees are always good as motifs for design.

Small children can work with crayon and drawing paper cut and folded to size. They can cut [or you can] a simple stencil or pattern of bell or tree, and trace and color it.

Colored papers and silver and gold in simple cutouts are lovely.

Older children, too, may work delightfully with colored paper. Or they may draw and paint copied or original designs. Just a lettered greeting, colored and illuminated with gold and silver, on drawing paper or dull cards, is rich and has real atmosphere, suggesting the work of medieval monks.

Just get going in a little homemade Christmas card project [but in plenty of time] and you'll find ideas will flow. A word though—don't expect perfection from the smaller children. The recipient won't, either, you must remember. The painstaking work of their hands—that's always welcome.

We have a leaflet, "Made at Home Christmas Cards." Send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

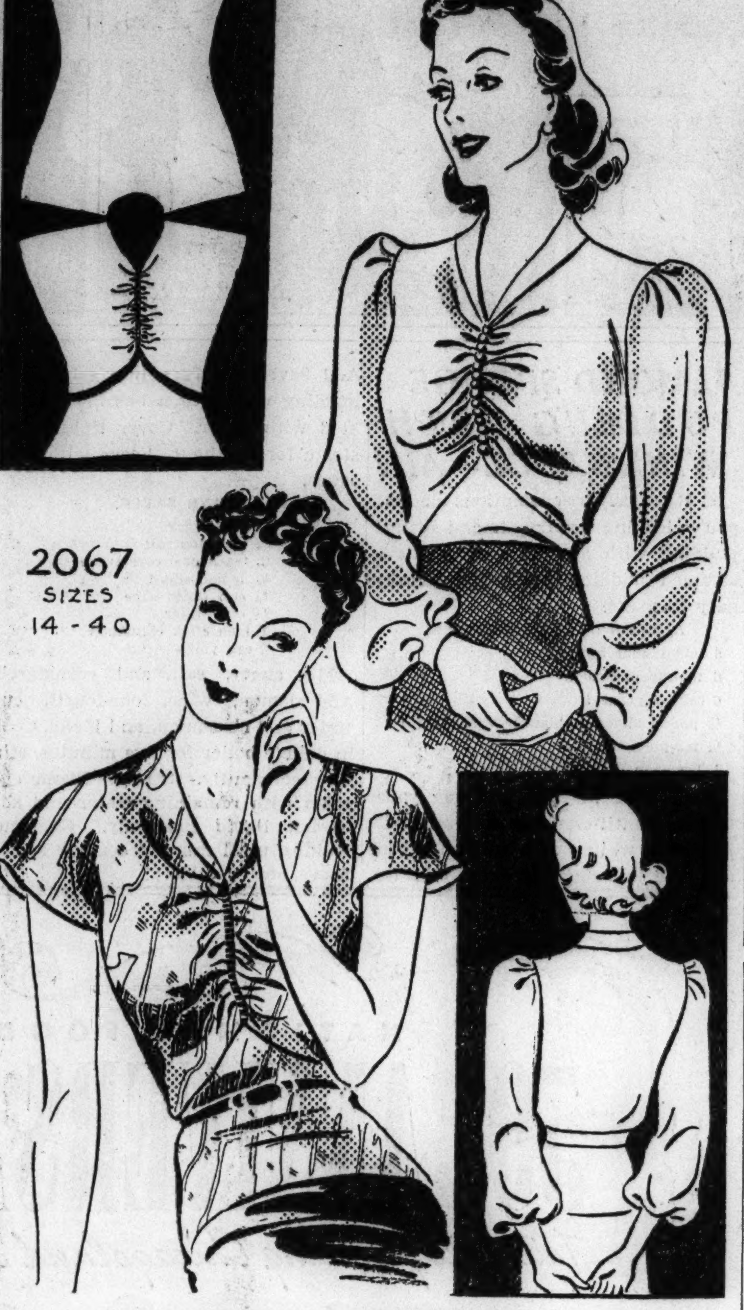
Blouses Are Indispensable



WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSES.

This one pattern fashions those items indispensable to any well rounded wardrobe, blouses. Perhaps you have a suit that needs a new embellishment, or an orphaned dinner or cocktail skirt that requires a new topper for brilliance. This dainty and fashionable blouse pattern will fill your needs perfectly.

For daytime wear, make the blouse with collared V neckline and long sleeves that are puffed at the shoulders and full all the way to the wrists, where they are caught into tight bands. The waistline sector is pointed up for a slender effect. Above it is shirring that is caught into buttons. The line is tremendously flattering. This style may be worn either over or under the skirt band. Satin is an excellent material, and sheers are quite in order.

Brocades, lamé, and other luxury fabrics of the season fashion the simpler of the two blouses. It has a plain V neckline, shirring at either side of a slide fastener, and brief cap sleeves. This blouse is worn over the skirt.

Style No. 2067 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material for the long sleeved blouse, and 1⅜ yards of 39 inch fabric for the short sleeved model.

Woman's Walk Is Main Charm, Says Film Star

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Talking the other day with the charming movie and screen personality, Fredric March, your editor directed the conversation toward women and which of their charms first strike men. Not that it was a brilliant opener, not that masculine opinion hasn't been courted time and again. It was Mr. March's unstudied, frank response: "The way she walks!" that gave weight to his remark. "I always notice the way a woman walks," he added.

It seems to me Mr. March's choice of feature of feminine appeal is getting support from many quarters now. One gentleman about town gave a hilarious imitation of a much-talked-about young woman's gait the other day which set me to observing how many others have the same unmilitary stride. It isn't either masculine or feminine, but less the latter than the former.

Then there is a certain school for models in New York which made a survey on this subject of how many American girls know how to walk well and correctly. Diane Hunter, the school's instructress, reports that out of every twenty-six girls who come to learn how to model professionally, only one will be found walking correctly.

'All women have a tendency to throw their feet out in front of them," Miss Hunter observes. "They place the heel down first and follow with the toe. This makes for extreme clumsiness of foot action and is very heavy footed.

"The correct method is to place the foot down, bending the instep and coming down on the ball of the foot, following with the heel."

We were interested in Mr. March's argument that pointing the toes straight ahead does not give the poise, grace, and balance that the foot out a bit does. His fencing instructor is dead set against the Indian way of foot handling, with toes straight ahead. This is contrary to the general run of instructor opinion.

However, light-footedness is the thing to strive for, for the heel-pounding sister is suffering for her pounding. She lacks the poise, the bearing, and the grace that lightness produces. Miss Hunter aims for the feeling of walking on air.

She urges you to watch the way you come downstairs, too. Instead of stepping heavily with the heel on the first step, the instep should be stretched down so that you step on the ball of the foot, keeping heels off the steps entirely. The knee is kept slightly bent and the head held high. It's a good exercise to practice, we are advised by our authority.

Beautiful hands for housewives is one of the subjects discussed by Antoinette Donnelly, Tribune beauty editor, in her booklet, "Handmade Hand Beauty." Every housewife needs this helpful handbook. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

Writers' Project to Make List of Newspaper Files

The files of newspapers are the most valuable sources of information on local history, biography, and literature in the midwest, said Franklin J. Meine, Northwestern university authority on American humor, yesterday at a regional meeting of the federal writers' project in the Allerton hotel. A project to compile lists of all old newspaper files in Illinois is being formed.

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

Notebook, 1938.

Yes—to readers who have been inquiring if there is to be a Notebook of Front Views and Profiles this year. It will go on sale next Friday, Dec. 16, ten cents at newsstands and the Tribune Public Service offices, thirteen cents by mail.

It was fun getting it out—reviewing the wisecracks and gags of the year, the Chicagoana, the human interest anecdotes dug up by the scouts and the volunteer stooges. Some verse is included, too—very short and very, very light. And the names of those restaurants readers keep calling up to ask about. All our own favorite stories of the year are in the 1938 Notebook. Yours, too, we hope. Next Friday, Dec. 16.

Nominee for the Hall of Transitory Fame.

The young woman wearing a leopard coat, a leopard pillbox perched jauntily on her long bob, and a leopard muff on her lap, who sat on a stool at the glove counter in a loop store reading Stay Out of My Life while the Christmas shoppers eddied about her.

Department of Nonessential Information.

A Miss Joan Burke has discovered that the address of a friend in Australia is:

"Budgee Budgee via Mudgee."

Precaution.

Ruth MacKay [Money Without Men] returned home one afternoon to find that the new maid, after two weeks of employment, had written the name MacKay in large letters on the telephone pad. When asked if some one by that name had called, she answered:

"O, no, I just jotted it down so I could remember who I was working for."

While we're speaking of maids, a Windermere hotel resident employs a maid who is supposed to arrive for her day's work at 9 a. m., but usually arrives after 10. The other morning she arrived at 12:30 and said cheerily: "Good morning, Mrs. R., I'm completely late today."

Little Old Lady's Advice.

A Chicagoan alighted from a street car and turned to help a rheumatic elderly woman who was having difficulty getting down the step.

"Thank you," she said. "Don't get old if you can."

Cuff Notes.

What! No glamor notes in today's column! The loveliest flowers of the moment are tissue paper thin white camellias. Mrs. Atherton Richards wore them yesterday at luncheon, in town on her way from New York to Honolulu. . . . Loveliest jewel to come to our attention, a fluted gold shell brooch tangled in carved emerald seaweed. . . . A man telephoned Miss Nangle, TRIBUNE beauty editor, to inquire what perfume he could buy that cost $50 an ounce. Investigation disclosed the most expensive in the stores is Patou's Joy at $35 a smaller than ounce bottle. . . . More luxury notes: There are only one or two chinchilla coats in Chicago, but one woman has a chinchilla knee-length house robe she wears over a pleated chiffon slip. One beautiful lady will receive boudoir sleepers of satin, embroidered with paste jewels, for Christmas, the elevated soles and heels made of balsa wood. . . . Like putting your feet in jewel boxes and walking on whipped cream; $65 the pair. Revolutionists, don't read. . . . Paul Smith, California newspaper man who accompanied Ex-President Hoover to Germany, will arrive in town today. Luncheon with Gertrude Lawrence at the Ambassador. . . . Ethel Barrymore spends spare moments hunting old toile de Jouy wall paper to match a strip she brought with her.

Woman's A. C. Will Celebrate 40th Birthday

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE fortieth anniversary is the ruby one, but there will be no rubies brought as gifts, nor any used as decorations at the tea next Tuesday that will mark the fortieth anniversary of the Woman's Athletic club. In fact, the 1,000 members who are invited are not expected to bring anything but themselves, and the decorations will be pink and white and definitly in late Victorian style.

Mrs. Mark W. Trude, a vice president and chairman of arrangements, has planned to use the handsome silver that was given to the club by the members on its twenty-fifth anniversary. Mrs. George E. Marcy, who now lives in Pasadena, was chairman of the committee that assembled the silver at that time. Also on the tea table there will be pink roses and smilax, plenty of pink ribbons and bows, cutout pink shades for the candles, and other fripperies that were fashionable at the end of Victoria's reign.

Even the sandwiches will be old fashioned, which means that there will be none of the tiny, open faced ones that are smart now and which the pantry girls at the club make so deliciously. The punch, too, must be traditional [with a "stick"] so one of the board members insisted yesterday at a luncheon at which plans for the tea were discussed. Activities in the various departments of the club [including the bar] will be suspended that afternoon, but the whole clubhouse will be open for inspection.

Former Presidents to Help Receive.

There really are only 800 resident members, for the others who bring the membership up to slightly more than 1,000 are junior and junior associate members. Mrs. William F. Petersen, president, and Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, first vice president, will be assisted in receiving at the tea by seven former presidents. They are Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Andrew B. MacCaughey, Mrs. William Sherman Hay, Mrs. Charles Hosmer Morse, Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley, and Mrs. Alfred C. Tyler. Mrs. Morse is in Battle Creek with Mr. Morse, but she is expected to be at home by Tuesday.

The club, which is located in its own handsome building at 626 North Michigan avenue, moved there from 606 South Michigan in 1929. It was only a few years after the club was founded in 1898 that the club moved from its original rooms in a building on Michigan, just south of Monroe street, down to the Harvester building. Some one recalled yesterday that the Peoples Gas company paid the club a bonus to get it to move from the site of the present Peoples Gas building.

There were many other interesting reminiscences yesterday, among them Mrs. Dudley's telling of the anonymous letter received during her presidency from a man who wished to become the only male member of the club. He said he worked in the neighborhood and that he liked the food, and that if he were a member he could have luncheon there every day. He is not alone in liking the W. A. C. food, for it is famous, especially the lobster salad and fresh coconut cake.

Mrs. P. D. Armour First President.

Mrs. Paulina H. Lyon was the founder of the club and Mrs. Philip D. Armour was the first president. Both of these are dead and so are all the other first directors, who included Mrs. Cornelius K. G. Billings, Mrs. William R. Linn, Mrs. W. H. Thompson Sr., and Mrs. John R. Walsh. Mrs. William J. Chalmers, who became a director the next year, is still living and undoubtedly will be at the party.

Among other original members who probably will be at the tea are Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, formerly Mrs. Philip D. Armour Jr.; Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. John W. Kendrick, Mrs. Ferdinand Peck, Mrs. John G. Shedd, Mrs. William A. Alexander, Mrs. Edward B. Butler, and Miss Florence Spofford.

Miss Helen Drake and her sister, Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, were founder members, too, but the former is living in California and the latter in Connecticut. Other founder members who live away are Miss Grace Gassette, whose home is in Paris, and Mrs. Ballington Booth, who lives on Long Island.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Reviewing Stand.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 8.—A letter from John F. Royal. . . . "Dear Sir: You can't go after vaudeville as you did in a recent column and not hear a yell from yours truly. As a member of the great alumni of two a day, three a day, etc., I must protest against your slurring remarks on the greatest theatrical institution America ever has enjoyed. It was not necessary for vaudeville artists to bring out their mothers, fathers, or children to win applause. They were great performers and didn't need such cheap devices as you infer. I don't know what you mean by 'ham,' but if you mean by that—troupers who knew every angle of show business and whose talents have saved shows, on the radio, in pictures, and on the stage, then that's also my meaning."

I've checked back to find the column that aroused the indignation of Mr. Royal, who once managed the Keith theater in Cleveland. . . . Evidently it is the column I did on Bob Burns, particularly this: "Vaudeville has been praised time and again as a stage incubator. No doubt that it was a great training school. No doubt, either, that vaudeville turned out more pure 'hams' than any other incubator. It was a school of physical and emotional exaggeration. Actors thought nothing of bringing out their mothers, their fathers, and even their little children to win applause. The amazing thing to me is that vaudeville graduates like Burns show no ill effects of their matriculation in the school of two-a-day."

Can't back down on anything in that paragraph. Vaudeville had no greater fan than me, but it did turn out more pure "ham" than any division of the stage. . . . At the Palace in New York I've seen performers bring out their wives, their mothers, their fathers, and their children to get applause. . . . In fact, there are vaudeville graduates on the radio now who do the same thing.

Vaudeville undoubtedly had some great performers, but it also had more bad taste per square foot of stage than any other medium of entertainment. . . . "Ham," to me, is bad taste, cheapness. . . . Old time vaudeville was conspicuous for it, and if John Royal goes over the list of acts he played in Cleveland he will know the performers who were the chief offenders.

Within the last forty-eight hours we have had a tremor that rattled the kitchen glassware and we have had three divorce hearings. . . . In chronological order they have been [1] Harmon Nelson's divorce suit against Bette Davis, [2] Helen Vinson's suit against Fred Perry, and [3] a review of the property settlement of the Clark Gables. . . . Marital unhappiness is so common out here that by the time this gets to press other brides or bridegrooms may have filed legal documents.

Gable, to date, has given Rhea Gable $280,000 cash, and I believe this money was tax free. . . . Rhea, during the last year, has insisted that the papers have been erroneous in painting her as the villainess who wouldn't give Clark a divorce.

"He has never asked for a divorce. Neither have his lawyers," she told me over the phone not long ago, in answer to an item that appeared in this space. . . . "I am fed up with the insinuations that I've withheld a divorce, inasmuch as his lawyers never have requested one."

The present suit apparently is the legal preliminary to a suit for divorce. . . . Rhea will no longer be cast as the villainess, and Clark and Carole can get married and settle down in Brentwood.

Helen Vinson, in her petition for divorce, asserted that her tennis champ husband became abusive each time she asked him to attend a party. . . . Harmon Nelson, in his petition, pointed out that Bette Davis preferred reading to his attentions and went on a vacation with her sister instead of going with him.

You get a picture of people unhappy either through their own fault or because of circumstances over which they hold no control. . . . In these cases you never heard one or the other of the contesting parties stress the lack of a sense of humor, and yet their marriages seem to have been totally devoid of humor. . . . Just as they are totally devoid of evidence of a spirit of give-and-take or sacrifice. . . . If your mother and father had rushed to a divorce court because of such trifles Reno couldn't handle the trafic.

Comradeship seems to be the best marriage insurance. . . . It is just as important for people to like each other as to love each other, because comradeship is based on liking and understanding. . . . Marriages that develop these qualities last and the comradeship continues "until death do us part."

The comradeship of the Paul Munis, the Edward G. Robinsons, the Basil Rathbones, the Gus Kahns, the Pat O'Briens, the Fredric Marches, and the Fred Astaires provides some of the nicer illustrations of Hollywood.

Here you have wives who love their husbands and LIKE them, too, and the distinction is important. . . . When love trims its lamps, the fierce flame reducing to a steady glow, the husbands and wives who can retreat to a deep comradeship, a sympathy of mutual interests, are far better off than those who have no emotion to substitute for excitement.

These are designed to wear with slinky dinner clothes or dinner and cocktail suits. They are sophisticated and glamorous and provide the dramatics you need to complete a costume of superlative swank.

Some are trimmed with appliqued bands of silver or gold; some are embroidered with silver, gold, and colored threads; some have simulated precious jewels inset all over the sides of the soles. Other models twinkle with thousands of wee rhinestones that catch every gleam of light. Such romantic sandals have not been seen since the illustrated stories of Persian princesses or of the colorful Manchu court ladies.

Just as unusual and every bit as colorful and dramatic are the newest evening handbags which feature space this year. Huge, flat envelopes have flashing color contrasts. Even though they're all priced in the luxury class, they're worth every penny because they will go with every dress parade costume you own, gala or informal.

This is the first time the envelope models have been properly glorified for evening wear. Choose from beaded, sequined, or embroidered numbers made of shimmering satins in cerise, emerald green, fire truck red, shimmering white, and inky black, together with lovely small patterned brocades.

The Housewife

One of the nicest little gadgets we've seen for the busy home manager's desk is an ink well and pen set that is good looking, practical, and cheap. It's clever, too. You can turn the ink bottle upside down in the special container and get a steady flow of ink for the pen. The pen fits a holder that is set at a slant. The pen writes for a long time with a single dipping. EDITH WEIGLE.

The Stage

"Golden Boy," a pronounced success of the early autumn theatrical season, will return to Chicago Dec. 25 for a limited engagement in the Grand Opera house. Except for the leading rôles, to be played by Phillips Holmes and Jean Muir, most of the cast remains unchanged from the previous engagement. Both Mr. Holmes and Miss Muir, well known to moving picture audiences, will make their Chicago stage debuts. Popular prices will prevail.

Helen Jepson Fills House for School Opera

BY CECIL SMITH.

The innocent old-fashioned merriment of Flotow's "Martha" may seem a bit stylized and artificial nowadays. But the score is an unflagging succession of pretty, rememberable tunes. The new crop of young operagoers now being mustered regularly on Thursday nights for the inexpensive board of education performances therefore listened to it with keen pleasure at the Civic Opera house last night.

Helen Jepson, in the title part, sang for the first time in the school series, and attracted a capacity house of demonstrative enthusiasts. In ravishing voice, she gave further evidence of the new maturity of style that has marked all her performances this year. She has begun, still incompletely, to have a sense of the miniature quality, the fragile delicacy, with which Flotow's ingenuous music must be approached.

Martha is still the least good of all Miss Jepson's rôles, however. Improved though her conception of its style now is, she overlooks a multitude of opportunities to give the final touch of exquisite nuance to the turn of a phrase or the climax of a melodic line. Artistically she has not yet brought her Martha up to the high plane of her Traviata or her Marguerite in "Faust."

Joseph Bentonelli was the Lionel, mildly impassive for the most part but awakening with sudden enthusiasm at the end of "M'appari" to utter his first, and very nearly his last, courageous tones of the evening. His behavior on the stage had a curious air of detachment.

Virgilio Lazzari and Mari Barova rounded out the quartet with their experienced stagecraft. The singing of both was admirably musical, though Miss Barova sorely needs to give her voice point and focus. Vittorio Trevisan was once again a delightfully fatuous Sir Tristan.

Roberto Moranzoni at the conductor's stand kept the performance paced rather slowly, but showed respect for the lyric beauties of the music.

The opera company announces that one child under 14 will be admitted free to Sunday night's opera concert with each adult who has purchased a ticket.

Fritz Kreisler at His Peak at Golden Jubilee

BY EDWARD BARRY.

With no ballyhoo whatever Fritz Kreisler is this season making a tour which celebrates the completion of fifty years before the American public. The grizzled, gray haired veteran who last evening received the salvos of a packed Orchestra hall and a congratulatory fanfare from the Chicago Symphony orchestra is the same person who came to this country as a boy in his early teens and who appeared in concerts with the somewhat older Moriz Rosenthal.

Mr. Kreisler's medium last night was the Brahms violin concerto, a work which he performed with the dignity and the lack of sensationalism which have been characteristics of his long career. Now at the very peak of his powers, the violinist brought to the concerto a style which is a compound of moving songfulness, of exquisite flexibility of tempo, of full bodied, perfectly controled tone, and of a round dozen other qualities which are not so easily isolated and named.

Mr. Kreisler's performance occupied the second half of the evening, but an air of exaltation filled Orchestra hall from 8:15 on. Frederick Stock prefaced the appearance of the great violinist with a presentation of three works of Bach.

The Sixth Brandenburg concerto, with that rollicking last movement which represents a better distillation of cosmic gayety than almost anything else in music, led to the wonderful B minor suite for flute and strings. The glorified dances which form the basis of the work profited not only by the purity of the orchestra's string tone but also by the cunning of Ernest Liegl's flute. Suave and polished in the Overture, agile to the limit of possibility in the Badinerie, this instrument earned for its owner a large sized ovation at the end.

The big C minor Passacaglia and Fugue, transcribed for modern orchestra [very modern orchestra] by Frederick Stock, brought the program up to the intermission and guaranteed the persistence of the audience's mood until Mr. Kreisler's appearance fifteen minutes later. The people refused to go out for their smoke until Mr. Stock had taken innumerable bows and had brought the men of the orchestra to their feet.

Club Play Tonight.

The dramatic committee of the Country Club of Evanston will present "Lady of Letters" at the club tonight.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Some of the very best figures to be observed around this town are kept that way these days by ice skating. It's the rage. And for once a rage has a great deal of sense to it. We hadn't realized how many smart women were taking their skating seriously.

The town's best mannequin, for instance, is a skater. We'd always wondered how she kept so slim and how she managed to appear as though she was walking on air when she floated past in the fashion shows. She will tell you that if she has any one secret it's skating. And dozens of other women, all of them slender and graceful, skate at an arena a couple of times a week.

We watched some skating the other day. The youngest person on the ice was a little girl not yet three. The oldest was a slender, vigorous gentleman who said he'd skated for more than fifty years. He's an easy sixty now and his vitality and coördination are so impressive you wonder why any man or woman courts hardened arteries by sticking to the rocking chair.

For the woman who finds it difficult to relax and who knows that her step lacks spring, ice skating is an exercise that's most easy to take. It develops balance; it stretches taut muscles rhythmically. It isn't of the old "physical jerks" school. And it's wonderful for the silhouette.

To maintain your balance on skates your posture must be beautifully right. Then the rhythmic movements of skating have a normalizing effect; if you're plump and bulgy you'll slim down. If you're thin and undeveloped you'll soon have the healthy muscle structure that is the only foundation for a pretty figure.

If you want to be streamlined [and have fun, too] by all means take up ice skating.

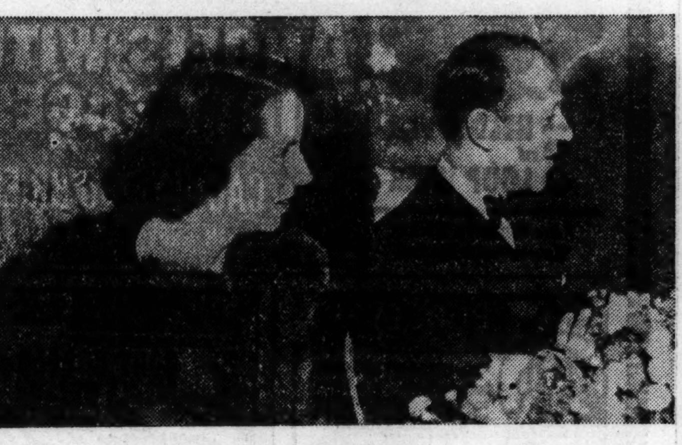
Contrasts to Film Divorces

The Frederic Marches are among film couples who have made a success of marriage. Ed Sullivan in discussing reasons for recent film divorces also cites some marriage successes today.

The Pat O'Briens, says Sullivan, are a couple who have built marriage success on comradeship.



[Acme Photos.]

The Fred Astaires are another couple cited by Sullivan as among those who have succeeded because their marriage was built upon something besides excitement.

Artist Ziroli Is Modernist, but Intelligible One

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The painting is solid, with charm and picturesque qualities to give it life. Note Ziroli's technique, his broken colors, the fineness of his brush stroke. He is a modern, but an intelligent modern. His painting is realistic over an undersurface of sentiment.

A delightful exhibit of small landscapes by Alfred E. Juergens is on view in the studio gallery, 213 South Grove street, Oak Park. The paintings are small, but filled with life and beauty. Juergens was one of our great American painters and this Christmas exhibition of his sketches comes as a welcome event. Mrs. Harry M. Hobbins and Mrs. W. R. Stephens are sponsoring two teas in the gallery, one to be held next Thursday.

Rufus A. Bastien has a one-man show this month at the Gallery house, 17 East Elm street. Mr. Bastien is a young man, a graduate of the Chicago Art institute, where he has returned to teach. He is a modernist. His color is muddy, his meaning often vague. A few drawings make one conscious of his ability, but he does his best to keep us in the dark.

At the Katharine Kuh gallery, 540 North Michigan avenue, modern art again cavorts upon the walls in the character of paintings by Rufino Tamayo, a Mexican artist. Tamayo adheres persistently to a melancholy color scheme and his imagination has been nourished upon lemons. His flights into the whimsical lands of which Dali is king are flutters rather than flights.

Paul Nelson's "Suspended House," also in the Kuh gallery, looks more like a labyrinth for the psychological study of mice than a home for human beings. It is a curious contraption, oddly impractical.

on the second floor of the clubhouse came from the old Drake residence on the south side. They light the hall that leads into the drawing room where the party next Tuesday will be given. Three members of the Woman's Symphony orchestra will furnish music during the tea, which will be from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Atlantic Weather Delays Laird Bells.

Two of the party hosts for Miss Virginia Hobart and Benjamin Ayer Fairbank, who are to be married on Monday, still are several hundred miles from home. They are Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, at present returning from a quick trip to England. Their crossing is being delayed by adverse weather.

The delay is not as serious for them as it is for another ocean traveler, Anthony Eden, for Mr. Eden is expected to lecture tonight in New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Bell aren't entertaining for their nephew and his fiancée until Monday.

Members of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations regret that their president, Mr. Bell, and Mr. Eden are not on board the same ship, for with an extra day at sea surely Mr. Bell would have been able to persuade the British statesman to come to Chicago. The council has been trying to secure Mr. Eden as a speaker, but has heard indirectly that he won't come west from New York.

Bells to Give Luncheon on Day of Wedding.

The Bells, in the Washington, and the Edens, in the Aquitania, were due in New York yesterday, but won't be docking until tonight. The party that the Bells are giving for Miss Hobart and Mr. Fairbank is to be a luncheon at home in Winnetka on the day of the wedding. Two other luncheons have been planned for them, one tomorrow at which the junior Kellogg Fairbanks will be hosts, and one on Sunday which the Ayres Boals and the Philip W. Moores will give, with cocktails first at the Boals' and luncheon at the Moores'.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hobart are giving their daughter's bridal dinner tomorrow night at home in Winnetka. The senior Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank will give a supper Sunday night. Miss Virginia Hobart is to be her sister's maid of honor. Mrs. Fairbank Jr., Miss Frances Bell, a cousin of Mr. Fairbank, and Miss Chouteau Dyer of St. Louis and New York will be the bridesmaids.

Mr. Fairbank Jr. will be best man, and John Hobart, who attends the Hill school; Cecil Barnes Jr., Thomas Stirling of Holyoke, Mass., and Wilmington, Del., and Frederick E. Bissell Jr. of Dubuque, Ia., will usher. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in Christ church chapel with only relatives present. A reception will follow at the Hobart home.

English Union to Hear Debate on Chamberlain

A Britisher who will be heard in Chicago next week is Sir Herbert B. Ames, who will debate with Dr. Horace J. Bridges on: "Did Mr. Chamberlain take the right course?" at a luncheon meeting of the English-Speaking union.

The luncheon will be held at 12:15 o'clock at the Palmer house. Sir Herbert, who is a graduate of Amherst college and a native of Montreal, will take the affirmative.

Margaret Bartholomay Will Be Bride Dec. 28

The date for the marriage of Miss Margaret Bartholomay to Ralph Ewing Clark Jr. of Cincinnati, O., has been set for 4:30 o'clock the afternoon of Dec. 28. The ceremony will take place at the home of Miss Bartholomay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bartholomay Jr., in Libertyville, the Rev. John Snapp of Gurnee, Ill., officiating.

Miss Vera Marie Bartholomay will be maid of honor for her cousin. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. John Lawrence Irving, Miss Beatrice Baker of Cincinnati, Miss Dorothy Hayes of Buffalo, and Miss Elizabeth Hawkins of Wilmington, Del.

Taber de Forest of Winnetka will be Mr. Clark's best man. Ushering will be Herman Bartholomay Jr., Mr. Irving, Thomas S. Pogue Jr., and Grant Fitts of Cincinnati, and Arthur G. Preston Jr. of St. Joseph, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomay will give the bridal dinner at the Deerpath inn on the eve of the wedding. Other parties have been planned by Mrs. Irving, who will give a stocking shower; Mrs. Dewes Burgweger, who is planning a bathroom shower; and Miss Amelia Birk, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, and Mrs. John Clarkson, who will give luncheons.

Following a honeymoon at Lake Placid, where they first met, Mr. Ewing will take his bride to Cincinnati to make their home.

Children's Aid Group Will Meet Today

Mrs. Barrett Wendell will open her Astor street home today for a meeting of the committee planning a benefit performance of the Russian ballet for the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. The benefit performance will be given on Dec. 19 at the Auditorium.

John T. McCutcheon has designed the cover for the program and Edgar Lynch has designed the colored border for the pages.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Spencer, who live at 1708 Crilly court, will be hosts at the cocktail hour today.

Teas to Follow Today's Concert

Mrs. William S. Hay will be hostess for the Cliff Dwellers this afternoon at tea time. She has asked the following women to take turns pouring: Mrs. De Forest Hulburd, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., Mrs. William F. Petersen, Mrs. Irwin Rew, Mrs. Ernst Von Ammon, and Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp.

Catherine Littlefield, director of the ballet which is appearing with the Chicago City Opera company this season, will be the especial guest of The Cordon at its weekly tea today after the concert. Mrs. William Scott Bond, president, and Mrs. Marie Sidenius Zendt, social chairman, will head the receiving line.

Mrs. Ballard Moore is entertaining this afternoon in her home at 942 Lake Shore drive at a private viewing of the photographs of Nowell Ward.

The third in the series of Fortnightly dances will take place tonight at the Fortnightly club.

The Town and Country Equestrian association is holding its thirty-first annual Plush Horse party tonight at the Hotel Sherman. Frank W. Bering is chairman of the party, which is to be a dinner-dance.

Old First Cavalry Holds Annual Reunions Tonight

There will be talk of old campaigns tonight when veterans of the old First Illinois Cavalry, now the 122d Field Artillery, gather for their annual reunion in the 122d Field Artillery armory. Among the speakers will be Capt. Oliver Steele, 72 years old. The old First was organized in 1891, served on the Mexican border in 1916, and became the 122d Field Artillery when the United States entered the world war. Present regimental commander is Col. Edward C. Young.

Youth Worried About Girl's Love for Him

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Anthony reports going around steadily with a girl for the last eight months with a resultant affection for her which he thinks must be love.

"I can honestly say," says Anthony, "that I am not the 'new face, new fancy' type of man. This girl means a lot to me. I think that she may even love me. The difficulty is that I have no real assurance that she cares enough to marry me. I would like to know exactly how I may discover her love for me—by her actions, by her words, or by what?

"When I first went out with her upon departing one night I crowded her into a corner and kissed her. She was angry. We then talked it over and agreed that I was wrong. She is not the type of girl who goes out just for a good time and then a casual good-by. But don't you think now she could show a little urge to want to be kissed? What should my response be to another refusal of a good night kiss?"

Yes, we kinda think that by now the girl might unbend with a little token of affection. On the other hand, you still pursue her. She may be just smart enough to know that keeping you on the anxious seat is the right treatment. Again you haven't asked the girl to marry you. She may not know that is in the back of your mind. She may be just cagey, wanting to know that you are serious before she responds to your endearments. Some girls are hard-headed that way. Previous experience with triflers may have warned them to use their heads the next time.

Again she may not be a demonstrative young woman. If you are the affectionate type and you marry her you may suffer a hunger all your life.

It's a fairly important consideration in marriage that the other mate respond affectionately, you know.

All your doubts, however, might be settled simply by declaring your love to the girl, by asking her to marry you, and by telling her that no other girl has or ever will mean so much to your happiness.

For that she ought to come across with one good hug and kiss, we think.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

[This is the last question of the examination.]

Question 57: Both sides vulnerable. You are West, declarer at a four spade contract in rubber bridge. [Opponents made no bids.] Your hand and dummy are:

DECLARER [West]	DUMMY [East]
♠ A Q J 10 6 5	♠ K
♥ 7	♥ A Q 6 5 4 2
♦ A K 6	♦ 7 5 2
♣ J 6 4	♣ 10 8 3

North opens a club and the defenders collect three club tricks. South then leads a diamond. You win. What is your next play, and your plan? [Very short statement will suffice.]

LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 51: North-South vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	1 spade
3 hearts	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♠ A ♥ K Q 9 6 3 ♦ Q 4 2 ♣ Q 10 8 4

What call do you make?

[Answer at end of this article.]

TODAY'S HAND.

South, dealer.
Match-point duplicate.
East-West vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q 7 5 2
♥ Q 10 5
♦ K 10 7 3
♣ A 5

WEST
♥ A K 8 4 3
♦ 9 5 4 2
♣ 10 6

EAST
♠ K J 10 8
♦ J

SOUTH
♠ A 9 4
♥ J 7
♦ A Q 8 6
♣ Q 7 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	3 no tr'p	[final bid]

North's three no trump jump was a shade aggressive.

West opened his fourth best heart and declarer won with the jack. Four rounds of diamonds followed. East's first discard was a heart; his second was the ten of spades and his third [unwisely enough] was another heart. The club ace then was cashed and the low club was led toward declarer's queen. East, for some reason known only to himself, played low and declarer [probably reflecting that only a miracle could help him] bravely put up the club queen. When the ten spot dropped from West on this play, declarer paused to take stock. He had taken one heart, four diamonds, and two clubs. He could, of course, cash the spade ace and get out with a one trick defeat, but was not inclined to give up without a further struggle. Had declarer been able to realize that East had been foolish enough to void himself of hearts, he could have led a club to throw East on lead. East could have cashed only three club tricks and then would have had to lead a spade to the combined North-South tenace. Not being able to read this situation, however [and not even being sure that East had the spade king], declarer preferred to throw West on lead with a heart. Now West joined East in crime. Delighted at the chance to rattle off four heart tricks, he did so without thought of what he was doing to his own partner. When the last heart was played, East had to discard from a holding of three cards, which were K J of spades and the high club. Declarer was back of him with the A 9 of spades and the low club. Whatever East let go was bound to be wrong. If he blanked the spade king, declarer would discard the club, and the A 9 of spades would become good. If East discarded the high club, declarer would blank his spade ace and hold a club for the last two tricks. West had put his partner into the famed "suicide squeeze." If West had not been so anxious to cash his own last heart, East could have taken two tricks to make up for the one trick said heart represented.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of The Tribune, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ANSWER TO LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTION.

Q. No. 51: You should bid three spades. This is a cue bid in the opponents' suit, showing first round control and a big hand. You have infinitely more than you might have held for your original heart response, and must indicate that fact to partner. After North's free double raise, a slam appears very probable. [30 points demerit for bidding four hearts; 10 points demerit for five hearts; 25 points demerit for four diamonds or four clubs, except as asking bids; 5 points demerit for six hearts; 25 points demerit for other bids, including three and four no trump.]

ADVICE FROM THE COUNTRY'S MOST EXPERIENCED SOAP MAKERS:
Wash Your Fine Fabrics this New Safe Way!

AT LAST... a Startling Suds Improvement... that cannot fade any Washable that's Safe in Water!

SAFE in water ... safe in Dreft! That's the literal truth—and the best news ever for all your fine fabrics!

It's alkali that fades most silk and wool colors. And all soapsuds are alkaline ... but not Dreft! This new, great advance in fine fabric washing is absolutely non-alkaline!

Sometimes, though, your fine washables—your stockings and lingerie—aren't actually faded. They just look faded—because their true brightness is hiding beneath a cloudy film of soap scum. Washing this new way—with Dreft—removes every trace of this scum—actually revives soap-dulled colors! And Dreft itself leaves no scum—not even in hardest water!

Speaking of hard water—whether it's hot or cold—Dreft dissolves instantly, completely ... bursting into masses of foamy, active suds! By actual test, 5 times more suds than any soap in hardest water! And you know how important plenty of suds are in doing your washables without injurious rubbing and rubbing!

The day you start washing fine fabrics in Dreft, you're promising them a brighter, long life. Do it today. Identify Dreft by the smart green and black package. Accept nothing else—because NO SOAP IN THE WORLD CAN OFFER DREFT'S RESULTS! Procter & Gamble.

LOOK AT THOSE SUDS!
In hardest water, Dreft will make 5 times more suds than any soap you ever used. And make them at just the right water temperature to help guard all your fine washables against shrinkage and fading! Think of Dreft's economy—ounce for ounce, it does more work in hard water than any fine fabric soap!

DISHWASHING MIRACLE!
By themselves ... without any toweling or polishing ... Dreft-washed dishes and glasses dry sparkling clean! With never a trace of dull, filmy scum—even in hardest water! And being a fine fabric suds, gentle Dreft is, of course, safe for your hands.

"SEE... IT WASN'T REALLY FADED!"
Don't you be too hasty about discarding some treasured print or piece of lingerie because it looks faded. Its gay freshness may be buried under a film of color-dimming soap scum! Washing with Dreft will banish this film—bring back the hidden sparkle and color. And help keep it that way—because Dreft forms no scum whatsoever—even in hardest water!

SYNOPSIS.

Nora Stacy refuses to follow the advice of her aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Callender, and encourage Bob Matherson, rich young bachelor, recent owner of Fairways, an estate near to the modest English cottage where Nora lives with her aunt until Nora's fiancé, irresponsible Jim Murdock, whose family live next door, writes from Calcutta breaking the engagement. Heartbroken Nora writes Jim that she'll marry the first man who asks her. She hears Jim is returning home for Christmas, with a wife. At a dinner party at his home Bob takes Nora up to his Tower room and proposes. Nora agrees to marry him before Christmas—in spite of designing Mrs. Pearl Almy, who has rented a cottage on Bob's estate. Three days before the wedding Jim returns, without a wife, and demands that Nora run away with him. Mrs. Almy interrupts their meeting. Nora feels she is morally pledged to Bob, who has settled an income on her aunt. Bob has to be in town for two days before the wedding. Mrs. Almy asks him to call before he leaves. She tells him of seeing Jim and Nora in each other's arms. Jim delivers a wedding present for Nora—a package of her love letters to him. But he keeps back the one in which Nora vowed to marry the next man who asked her. Mrs. Almy gets hold of it and sends it to Bob on his wedding morning. To prevent Jim making a scene at the wedding Bob invites him to be an usher, planning to leave him in the Tower room with a doctored bottle of whisky.

INSTALMENT XI.

WEDDING CLOSE-UPS.

Jim wanted that drink even more than he wanted to show his contempt for the man, whom by now he had convinced himself had ruined his whole life. And he wanted a stiff one. His hand was none too steady as he picked up the decanter.

Bob also poured himself a drink, and made it almost as big a one as Jim Murdock had taken. But he did not drink it.

"I left the list downstairs in my study. Will you excuse me a moment? I won't be long."

Jim would excuse him with pleasure and said so. The decanter was half full, just a little more Dutch courage and he would spoil that fatuous fool's face for him, so that he would be a very pretty sight, indeed, when he arrived at the altar.

Jim drank what he had at first poured out, lit a cigaret, and then had another even stiffer drink.

Presently he began to lose count of time. He settled himself in a chair with yet a third drink and hazily went over in his mind just what he was going to do with Matherson when the fellow came back. The next moment he was sound asleep.

Everybody had departed for the church, now, except Bob and his best man, and the car was waiting for them, with Beals at the door to speed them.

"The best of luck, sir."

"Thank you, Beals. There's one thing I'd better tell yon now before I forget it. Young Mr. Murdock is up in the Tower room—asleep, I imagine. He'll probably stay that way for several hours. You'd better run up, see to the fire, and put a rug over him. But don't wake him up, whatever you do. O, yes—and if there's any whisky left in the decanter just pour it out of the window. Don't touch it yourself, because if you do you might fall asleep, too—see?"

Beals gave him a startled look and murmured, "Yes, sir—I'll attend to it, sir."

His best man said: "What the hell have you been up to, Bob?"

"O, nothing very much. The bridegroom smiled in a way that made his chin stand out with unbecoming prominence. "Only a local wag who thought he was coming to my wedding. I didn't want him there, that's all."

. . . .

Mrs. Callender had dressed the bride and refrained from giving the commentary that was running in her mind.

She wondered if Nora knew all the wild rumors that were flying around Green Mallows. Poor Aunt Dorothy was nearly off her head. Yesterday she had had all she could do to hold her tongue in the face of the Almy woman's impertinence, but she hadn't mentioned that contretemps to Nora. Thank heaven, little Mrs. Longton was on Nora's side. If only this day were over!

"You aren't going to wear that pearl necklace, are you?"

"Please, darling—Bob wants me to. He'd feel hurt if I didn't."

"It's tempting fate, Nora."

"Don't be an old goose. How do I look?"

"Too pale."

"But that's the way I should look. Darling your hat is just a wee bit on one side."

Mrs. Callender straightened her hat and then had to find her bouquet and prayer book.

"Nora, did you ever tell Bob about—about you and Jim?"

Nora was drawing on her gloves. She looked cool and wholly collected and the question did not appear to disturb her.

"No—I didn't think there was any reason to."

"Well, I think you ought to have."

There wasn't time now to go into that matter, it had been left a little too late.

Mrs. Bull called up to say the car had come for them, with Nora's uncle inside. They were already slightly overdue at the church.

. . . .

Mrs. Callender left Nora with her uncle and the bridesmaids in the church porch, and holding her bouquet of orchids like a votive offering, was escorted to her place by one of the young ushers.

The organist was doing very well considering the ancient instrument at his disposal, and the "Breath That Blows O'er Eden" was blowing ever so sweetly. White roses everywhere. They looked cold and rather waxy. The church itself was cold.

Now the organist prepared to swell into the wedding march.

Where was that Almy woman? Where was Jim Murdock? Just across the aisle sat little Mrs. Longton with a man who was probably her husband. She leaned over and gave Aunt Dorothy an audible, "Isn't it a lovely morning, Mrs. Callender?"

Aunt Dorothy nodded with the smile of a martyr on the rack.

All along her psychic sense had put it into her bones that something dreadful was going to happen. They would never be married . . . never. There was too much against it—and dreams don't come true.

There was Bob and his best man and Mr. Larker, the clergyman. Well, it looked as though they were prepared to go through their parts.

Nora drifted down the aisle on her uncle's arm looking like a snow queen and just about as frozen.

Aunt Dorothy shut her eyes, and then Mr. Larker was saying: "I now pronounce you man and wife."

Nothing could go wrong now, and for once Aunt Dorothy's psychic sense had played her false.

The reception began like a blurred dream to her. So many people, most of them strangers, so much laughing, and chatter and champagne flowing like water. It was warm enough at Fairways to make up for the chilly church.

And then, just as she was cosily settled on a divan in the big hall a dreadful thing happened.

It looked very much as though it happened by magic, for Mrs. Callender did not notice the little door set in the oak paneling. One instant she saw just the paneling, and the next she saw Jim Murdock standing there, leaning against it, with his hands in his pockets and a nasty smile on his face.

There was a curious sort of hush. Bob and Nora, who were standing at one side of the arch where the table with the cake had been set, both turned to see what everybody was looking at, and Pearl Almy gave an excited squeal which she quickly stifled.

Bob crossed over to the unexpected guest. His little calculation of sleeping powder plus whisky hadn't added up right, and it was rather unfortunate that the door to the Tower room could only be locked from the outside.

"Look here, my boy, I think you've let me down rather badly," he said.

"Is that so—you swine! What did you put in that whisky?"

"Not enough, apparently. When you are quite sober, perhaps you will have the grace to apologize, but meanwhile——"

"Apologize like hell."

Jim's clenched fist shot out, but Bob stepped aside and the blow landed in the air.

"All right, if that's how you want it!"

Bob's counterblow didn't miss fire, and the next instant Jim Murdock was sent sprawling.

"Pick him up—get him out and keep him out," Bob said to Beals, who had come running.

The butler and one of the waiters helped Jim to his feet and politely assisted him through the baize-swing door that led to the domestic offices.

"I'm sorry I had to do that," Bob said to the world at large, "but the fellow was making a confounded nuisance of himself."

CHAPERAU JESTS OVER CHARGES IN SMUGGLING CASE

Says He Slipped in Wig for Shirley Temple.

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Albert N. Chaperau, Nicaraguan consular attaché indicted with Mrs. Elma M. Lauer, wife of a state Supreme court justice, on smuggling charges, was inclined to make light of his predicament today.

David Garrison Berger, Chaperau's counsel, denied his client knew Katharine Hepburn, who is said to have been questioned at the United States courthouse yesterday. Berger then declared so many names had been drawn into the investigation that Chaperau had decided to "confess." Whereupon Berger gave out a statement, which, he said, Chaperau had dictated.

"I smuggled in a dwarf for Snow White, a wig for Shirley Temple, shoes, size 9, for Garbo, a necktie for Charlie McCarthy," the statement said. "I also smuggled a rattle for Mickey Mouse, a new love for Andy Hardy, and a corncob pipe for Popeye. I also failed to pay customs on a novel deep frog for the throat of Fred Allen. Then I brought Stalin in for Congressman Dies and a brand new concentration camp for Congressman Dickstein. It sounds like a Fascist plot, but let's blame it on the Reds."

If he succeeds in freeing himself of the charges in the three federal indictments, Chaperau said, he will return to Europe bearing presents.

"I plan to make real American presents of a necktie each for Hitler, Goering, and Goebbels—a necktie party—and, following the government's theatrical move, I will say that if they are going to indict people for bringing in $5 presents they will have to bring charges against one-third of the nation."

Watches Cited in Charge.

The last allusion apparently referred to an indictment naming Chaperau only, in which he was charged with bringing in two key winding watches, a seventeen jewel watch, and some trinkets, valued in all at $100, without declaring them.

Ralph Hitz, president of the National Hotel Management Company, Inc., named by Chaperau as one of the recipients of the numerous gifts, said in a statement he had met Chaperau only once. On that occasion, Hitz said, Chaperau gave him an inexpensive novelty key watch which Hitz understood was a gift from Hillard J. Rosencrantz of Paris, who had written he was sending the watch.

Mrs. Lauer will be arraigned at 10:30 a. m. Monday in the United States District court to plead to her indictment with Chaperau on a charge of smuggling $1,833 worth of Paris wearing apparel into the United States.

Burns Is Questioned.

A $5,000 diamond bracelet—a gift to Gracie Allen from George Burns, her husband—became the concern of the United States attorney's office, as the federal grand jury prepared to return a third smuggling indictment tomorrow. Burns, who flew here from Hollywood, was questioned concerning his possession of the bracelet and how he came by it. Assistant United States Attorney Joseph L. Delaney refused to say whether Burns had received articles reported to have been smuggled in by Chaperau.

DISMISS SON'S SUIT AGAINST CANADIAN ENVOY

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Justice W. D. Roach dismissed today an action brought by Leonard Marler for $300,000 against his father, Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian minister to Washington, and Dr. George H. Stevenson, superintendent of the Ontario hospital at London, Ont.

In a writ issued on Oct. 18 young Marler charged that his father and Dr. Stevenson wilfully and by collusion caused him to be detained with mental patients in the London hospital from Feb. 17 until Sept. 20, 1938, to hinder his intended marriage.

Justice Roach, deciding on an appeal by the Ontario attorney general, ruled that the action would not be brought against Dr. Stevenson without the consent of the attorney general because the hospital superintendent was in the employ of the Ontario health department.

10 Lost, 2 Saved as Jap Airliner Crashes in Ocean

TOKIO, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Ten of the twelve persons aboard a Japanese airliner were given up for lost today after the plane had been forced down on shark infested waters near Okinawa Island, midway between Formosa and Kiushiu, southernmost island of Japan proper. The steamer Miyake Maru radioed that she had located the wreckage of the plane, rescued two survivors, and found two bodies. The search for the other eight was abandoned.

HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE.

Arthur Etchingham, 4815 Adams street was held to the grand jury in bonds of $5,000 on a charge of armed robbery by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court yesterday.

MILK CALLED ECONOMY FOOD

U. S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE FINDS MILK BEST VALUE

According to the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, "milk does more for the body than any other food and does it more cheaply." That's good news for the thousands of wives who find it necessary to make their food money buy the most in value. The Milk Foundation, non-profit health education foundation, has long urged women to use more milk for its great economy and for the food elements needed to maintain buoyant good health.

C. Y. O. BOXERS MEET TONIGHT IN TOURNEY FINALS

32 BOYS PLAY SANTA ROLE IN TITLE BATTLES

Show to Aid Needy Children.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Thirty-two young men from every section of Chicago and suburbs will collaborate in doing a Santa Claus act with their fists tonight in the International amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. The occasion will be the eighth annual Christmas fund boxing tournament of the Catholic Youth Organization, proceeds of which are given over to making Christmas a merry one for the underprivileged youth of the city.

There will be sixteen bouts in all on the program. Eight of these will be waged in the open division, which enlists the more experienced fighters, while eight others will be settled in the novice class, wherein those lads who are just making their pugilistic mark compete.

The first eight bouts will witness the decision of the novice titles, beginning with the 112 pound class and continuing in order through the heavyweight fight. Following these will be an intermission ceremony during which the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, director of the C. Y. O., will speak. Music will be supplied by the C. Y. O.'s singing band of fifty pieces, recruited from a number of parishes throughout the diocese.

Heavier Classes First.

After the intermission, the open class punchers will get down to the main business of the evening. The three heavier classes—160 pound, 175 pound, and heavyweight—will be decided first, in that order, after which the 112, 118, 126, 135, and 147 pound fighters will conclude the program.

This schedule makes for what is expected to be one of the best windup battles in C. Y. O. history, for the 147 pound open final matches two of the ablest fighters in the show. One is blond Joe O'Connell of St. Nicholas of Tolentine, the southwest side Irishman who won the 135 pound championship last year and who has since graduated to the welterweight league. His opponent is the persevering Stanley Murczek, Polish puncher from Bridgeport. Murczek, one of the most industrious of C. Y. O. boxers, is making his fourth bid for a title. He will represent St. Barbara's parish.

A capacity crowd of 12,500 is expected to witness the show. Officials, however, said that there are still about 1,500 good reserved seats available. These sell at $1.10, $2.20, and $3.30, and may be purchased at the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. General admission tickets are 50 cents.

One Defending Championship.

The finals in the open class bring up only one defending champion, but there will be a number of other extitle holders who have moved up in weight seeking one of the Cardinal Mundelein medals which go to each champion. The holdover champion is Curtis McDaniel, colored middleweight from Holy Family, who will strive to retain the title he won last December, against Hiner Thomas of Corpus Christi. The popular Hiner is no stranger to the championship circle himself, having won the C. Y. O. 160 pound championship in 1935.

Walter Cavalieri of Holy Rosary parish, who has been elected captain of the open division group, is another who has graduated. Last year Walter won the flyweight honors, and tonight will be arguing with Frank Bausone of St. Mel for the bantamweight crown. Frank's little brother Tony will also be about, trying to

FOOTBALL FOES RADICAL MINDED, SAYS SEN. WALSH

Calls De-emphasis Enemy of Democratic System.

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], said tonight "radical minded teachers and professors who are antagonistic to the democratic system" were responsible for "attempts to abolish intercollegiate sport."

Attacking various football deëmphasis movements at a dinner celebrating the seventieth anniversary of the New York Athletic club, the veteran senator said the present system does "much to destroy unwelcome sectional, racial, and class distinctions."

Following his address, he said he had in mind a recent magazine article by President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, who presented a four-point program for deëmphasis of intercollegiate football and advocated a system whereby "all students can play."

Surrounded by Radical Thought.

Walsh expressed the hope "the torch of democracy may be lighted again as a guide and protector for oppressed peoples and oppressed minorities."

"Very unfortunately," he said, "American youth is sometimes surrounded in his school by an atmosphere of toleration, if not support, of ultra radical thought on the part of his teachers and professors."

But Walsh asserted that the typical American athlete overcomes these surroundings and influences and "seldom, if indeed ever, is the athlete found advocating communism, fascism, or any of the multifold strange and alien systems."

The "radical teachers" aim to "discredit large scale intercollegiate sport," the senator said, and to replace it "with the system of antiquated and uninspiring intramural games in vogue in certain European universities in countries where dictators hold sway."

WANT BIG TIME FOOTBALL

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—The Washington Square Bulletin, undergraduate newspaper of New York university, today declared for subsidized big time football and printed a ballot asking that students of the university vote on whether they would stand behind the Bulletin.

Early returns showed 95.6 per cent in favor of a return to big time football policies. The students were asked to vote on whether they wanted:

[1] An amateur team with a mixed schedule of large and small teams; [2] a big time team and a big time schedule; [3] an amateur team to play only small squads.

Of 500 ballots 2 per cent were in favor of the first proposotion, 95.6 per cent favored the second, and 2.4 per cent the third.

The Bulletin declared that football had become a luxury which the university found it hard to maintain. It declared that a $110,000 athletic surplus, inherited from the football era of Chick Meehan's teams, had become an annual deficit that sometimes was as much as $71,000.

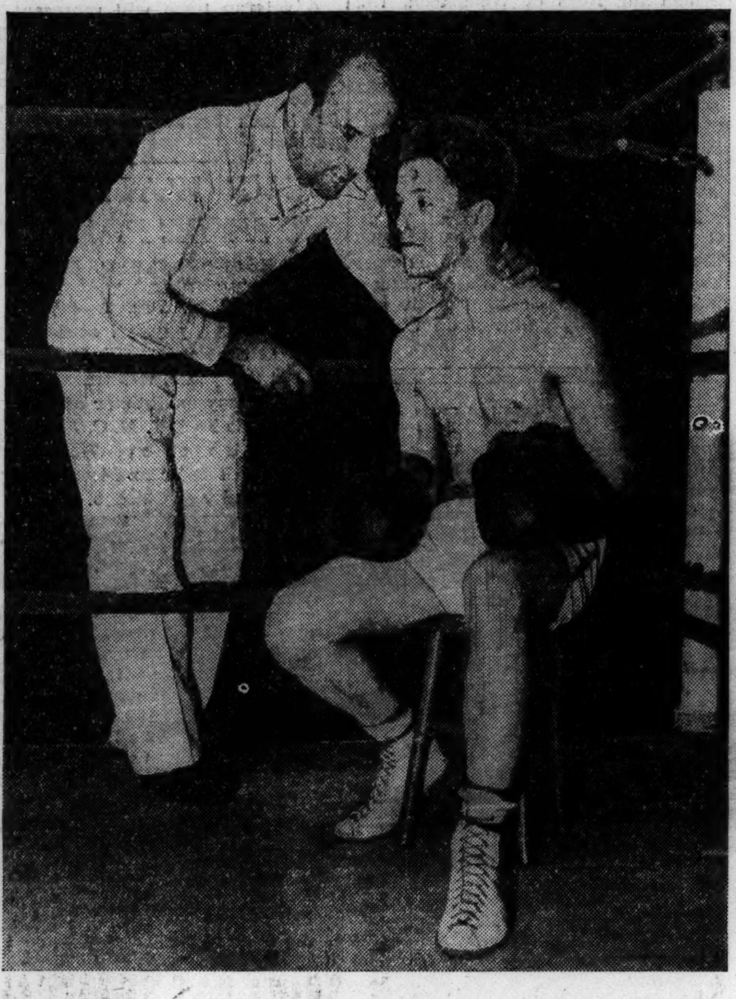
Drain on University Funds.

The Bulletin editorial said in part: "The contention that profits from football are 'blood money,' made by the sacrifice of ideals and the inculcation of rank professionalism, is unjustified. It is not a matter of amateur ideals but a matter of stopping a drain on the university funds.

"The time has come for a revision of our present policy. We can no longer struggle along, wavering between emphasis and deëmphasis, chatting idealistically about amateur spirit in defiance of the realistic cash requirements of this university."

The decline of N. Y. U.'s football fortunes began after the release of Meehan, who came to the school from Syracuse and made it over from a nonentity in the football world to a major power.

Fight It Out for a Worthy Cause and C. Y. O. Titles



Coach Paddy Kane gives Walter Cavalieri, 118 pound open division finalist, last minute advice for tonight's championship bouts in the Catholic Youth organization's annual Christmas fund amateur boxing tournament. Cavalieri will meet Frank Bausone.

Harry Sparrow will try for the open division 135 pound title. He has a tough opponent in William Goldsmith in one of the 16 matches to be presented in the International amphitheater.

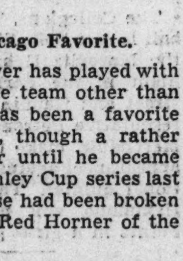
Hawks Trade Doc Romnes to Toronto for Bill Thoms

BY EDWARD BURNS.



Bill Thoms.

President Bill Tobin of the world champion Chicago Blackhawk hocky team yesterday announced the Hawks had acquired Bill Thoms, high scoring forward, from the Toronto Maple Leafs, in exchange for Center Doc Romnes.

The move, in so far as the Hawks were concerned, was made in a desperate effort to obtain some one who can get the puck in the cage. The Hawks have been shut out in their last two games and have scored only two goals in their last four engagements, indicating the idea of going out for a few gents with scoring talents is a big item in the it's-about-time department. Last year Thoms scored 14 goals and 24 assists, a total exceeded only by Paul Thompson in the American division.

Romnes a Chicago Favorite.

Romnes, who never has played with any National league team other than the Hawks, long has been a favorite with Chicago fans, though a rather colorless performer until he became aroused in the Stanley Cup series last spring after his nose had been broken in three places by Red Horner of the Leafs.

Romnes, it is recalled, served notice on the burly Leaf captain that he would "cut off his head" the instant the game in Chicago, third of the final series, began. Romnes kept his word to the extent that he took a swish at Horner's Adam's apple which stirred up so much air that it caused Horner to faint without being clipped by Romnes' stick. Now Romnes is Horner's teammate.

Second Shock in Week.

The passing of Romnes from the Hawks was the second shock within a week to observers of Owner Frederic McLaughlin's ambition to assemble an all-United States team. Alex Levinsky, put in the doghouse last week for alleged indifferent play, was born in Syracuse, N. Y. Romnes is a native of Minnesota, having been born in White Bear, Jan. 1, 1909. He played in St. Paul before his purchase by the Hawks, and in the 1935-'36 season was winner of the Lady Byng trophy, awarded annually to the "most gentlemanly" player in the National league. In that campaign Romnes served only three minor penalties.

Thoms is more than a year younger than Romnes, having been born in Newmarket, Ont., March 5, 1910. He is more rugged than Romnes, recently a faster skater, and always a better back checker than Doc.

Suffers Skate Cut.

Romnes currently is suffering from a seven stitch skate cut. He was ordered to stay out of the last home game last Sunday night, but had to be pressed into service during the course of managerial panic over the continued helplessness of the Hawk cast.

As soon as he had completed the transaction, President Tobin phoned Manager Bill Stewart in Boston that Thoms had been added and that Romnes and Thoms are to swap equipment when the Hawks arrive in Toronto today. Stewart was interrupted in the direction of the most strenuous away from home drill the Chicagoans have conducted this year. He said he was delighted with the addition of Thoms, though he hated to lose one of his favorite individuals on the team with the transfer of Romnes.

After playing the Leafs in Toronto tomorrow night the Hawks will hasten home to engage the Americans in Chicago Stadium Sunday night.

COACH WALDORF HOSPITALIZED BY HEMORRHAGE

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern university football coach, was a patient at Methodist hospital here tonight. Waldorf was seized with nasal hemorrhages while attending a football banquet at Van Wert, O., tonight and when he found it impossible to stop the flow of blood, stopped here for treatment. Dr. E. A. King, attending physician, had Waldorf placed in bed and said he believed the coach would be able to leave for home tomorrow.

PACKERS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK TO PLAY FOR CROWN

Hutson, Monnett Ready to Oppose Giants.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 8.—Green Bay, the big team from the little town, arrived late today to complete its training for the National Football league championship game Sunday against New York, the little team from the big town.

Twenty-nine players comprised the squad on which will rest Green Bay's chances of winning its fifth world title. A three weeks' layoff has enabled the squad to recover entirely from the injuries which deprived it of Don Hutson and Bobby Monnett, among others, in its last game, a 15 to 3 defeat at the hands of the Giants on Nov. 20.

Coach Curley Lambeau said he did not believe the three weeks of inactivity would impair the effectiveness of the Packers' attack. He admitted, however, that he would have preferred to have had an exhibition game last week. He attempted to arrange it, but no opponent was available.

They're Ready for a Battle.

"An exhibition game would have been beneficial," Lambeau said, "but we are in perfect physical condition and the squad has been working well. The Giants have played a lot of football the last two weeks. They are more apt to suffer an unfavorable reaction than we are. We are rested, ready and full of fight."

The Packers will work out tomorrow and Saturday in Central Park. The Giants offered the use of the Polo grounds, the site of Sunday's game, but Lambeau declined. The Giants held a three hour drill this morning. Another long session will be held tomorrow morning. Saturday's drill will be short and snappy, Coach Steve Owen said.

Simultaneously with the arrival of the Packers, owners and coaches of other teams began to gather in New York for the annual draft meeting, which will be held tomorrow afternoon. One hundred and twenty college players will be chosen in the draft.

They all Want Davey.

Among the players who are most popular with the coaches are Davey O'Brien, of Texas Christian; Sid Luckman of Columbia; Larry Buhler and Wilbur Moore of Minnesota; Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh, and Howie Weiss, of Wisconsin, all backs; Ki Aldridge, Texas Christian center; and George Wolff, Santa Clara tackle.

Luckman has announced that he will enter business and is not interested in professional football. O'Brien, although planning a business career, has told coaches he will consider all offers. Buhler, Moore, Goldberg, and Weiss are understood to be anxious to enter the National league.

Although tomorrow's meeting is not an executive session, an attempt will be made by Tim Mara, owner of the New York Giants, to have the playoff by-laws amended. The present rules are not explicit on the division of the playoff receipts. Previously player, league, and club shares have been computed after park rental and promotional expenses have been deducted.

Tim Has Other Ideas.

Mara claims the rules do not specifically provide for such an arrangement and he will ask that the players' pool of 60 per cent be based on the net after the deduction of 15 per cent for park rental.

He proposed that the contending clubs and the league absorb the costs of the game, which include officials, transportation, ushers, printing, and distributing tickets, etc., out of their shares.

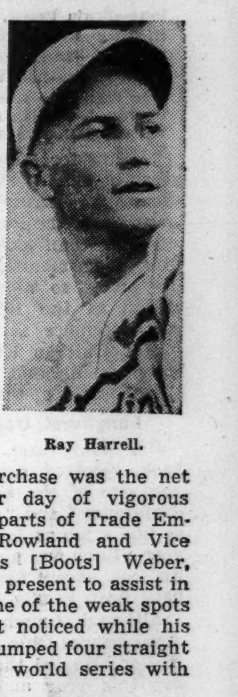
Boby Cahn of Chicago will be the referee; Tom Thorp of New York, umpire; Larry Conover, Philadelphia, head linesman, and Maurice Meyer, Cincinnati, field judge.

ACQUIRE YOUNG CARD PITCHER IN CASH DEAL

White Sox Hope to Land Averill.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Ray Harrell.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 8.—The Cubs peeled from their bank roll today to keep the annual baseball market from becoming stagnant. An unannounced number of greenbacks were removed from the roll and given to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for Pitcher Ray Harrell. Harrell's big league record hasn't been impressive, but Gabby Hartnett, the Cub manager, believes the youngster has possibilities.

The Harrell purchase was the net result of another day of vigorous shopping on the parts of Trade Emissary Clarence Rowland and Vice President Charles [Boots] Weber, both of whom are present to assist in strengthening some of the weak spots Manager Hartnett noticed while his team was being bumped four straight times in the late world series with the Yankees.

Gabby Likes Ray's Style.

Hartnett, after his idea had been put over with the aid of some of the P. K. Wrigley dollars, does not claim he had made a baseball bargain. All Gabby admitted was that he had been impressed by what he saw when hitting against Harrell last season and that the Cub mound staff was in such dire straits he couldn't afford to wait for a chance to buy a pitcher with an established big league reputation.

Hartnett isn't sure his new employé will win even one game next year, but he does believe that the lad will come through eventually if properly handled.

Harrell, a right hander, won two and lost three games for the Cards in 1938 and won three and lost seven in 1937. He has been in the Cardinal organization since 1933, but prior to 1937 was with farm clubs. He has been used largely in a relief rôle by St. Louis.

Harrell was born Feb. 16, 1912, in Petrolia, Tex., and lives in Byers, Tex. He is 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighs 185 pounds.

Dodgers Want Hamlin.

The Cubs' quest for a pitcher of consequence will continue, but Hartnett and his aids admit they are aiming in the dark. The Phillies, who always can make use of financial aid from outside clubs, have a couple of marketable products and the Brooklyn Dodgers have a man named Luke Hamlin. The Cubs have both money and a limited few ball players to offer in a swap, but the latter are not attractive. The Brooklyn club would not give up Hamlin, except for a man like Augie Galan.

The Cub bosses still are interested in acquiring additional players, even though they think a weak offense was helped by the acquisition of Hank Leiber, Dick Bartell, and Gus Mancuso in the trade with the Giants. They are in the market for a hitting first baseman. They say they never have been interested in Zeke Bonura, but this attitude may be due to the fact that they know the Giants have the inside track on the former White Sox player.

May Deal with Pirates.

A deal with the Pirates, a matter which was abandoned two days ago after weeks of preliminary proposals, was revived by today's rumors. The officials of the two clubs were in one of those lobby conferences common to the annual winter assemblage, but neither side would admit hopes of success. The Cubs still refused to accept Outfielder Paul Waner and the Pirates refused to consider the passing of either First Baseman Gus Suhr or Pitcher Russ Bauers.

The Cub officials will leave tomorrow for Chicago and then move on to New York for next week's big league gatherings. Some of the proposals they have made and some of those they heard while here will be re-argued there.

Jim Dykes, the Sox manager, who has been harboring the idea that he might get Outfielder Earl Averill from the Cleveland Indians, learned tonight he has stiff competition. The Tigers, who are going to use their bankroll in an effort to close in on the Yankees next season, want Averill to supply punch in the outfield. The Tigers think they can land him for cash.

J. Louis Comiskey, White Sox owner, Vice President Harry Grabiner and Secretary Joe Barry went back to Chicago this afternoon, leaving Manager Dykes and Coach Billy Webb here to watch over whatever might happen.

WHO IS BIG TEN'S MOST VALUABLE? SEVEN GET VOTES

12 of 23 Ballots Are In; Announce Result Dec. 18

BY WILFRID SMITH.

With twelve of twenty-three votes tabulated in the election of the most valuable football player to his team in the Western conference, seven of the ten boys nominated by their teammates have received support. Each of these most valuable players in the Big Ten will receive a white gold miniature football. The winner in the poll of the coaches and officials now being conducted will be awarded a sterling silver football actual size.

This is the fifteenth year THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has sponsored the award to the most valuable players in the conference. The first award was made in 1924 to Red Grange of Illinois. The name of this year's winner will be announced Sunday, Dec. 18.

Here's the List.

The list of most valuable players elected by the Big Ten, one of whom will receive THE TRIBUNE silver football, follows:

Chicago—Lew Hamity, half back.
Illinois—James Hodges, guard.
Indiana—Bob Haak, tackle.
Iowa—Erwin Prasse, end.
Michigan—Ralph Heikkinen, guard.
Minnesota—Larry Buhler, full back.
Northwestern—Bob Voigts, tackle.
Ohio State—Jim Langhurst, full back.
Purdue—Joe Mihal, tackle.
Wisconsin—Howard Weiss, full back.

"I consider Mihal one of the truly great tackles of the country," one of the officials wrote in support of his selection of the Purdue tackle for the silver football award. "His inspiration was responsible for Purdue coming along so nicely in the closing month of the 1938 campaign. My second choice is Hamity, the best player Chicago had, who did some nice passing and running and was three-fourths of the Chicago defense."

Langhurst One of the Best.

Jim Langhurst, Ohio State full back, received support because "he was one of the best players in the conference" and "stepped in and did as fine a job as Johnny Rabb did last year. Rabb was a great full back and his loss, except for Langhurst, would have been keenly felt."

Although Langhurst was a sophomore he was Ohio State's leading line backer. He led the Big Ten in scoring this year and he played more minutes than any other member of the Buckeye squad.

Ralph Heikkinen, of Michigan, and Howard Weiss, of Wisconsin, were chosen by their team mates as most valuable for the second year. Both have received strong support in the balloting. First choice counts two points; second choice, one point.

Heikkinen Is Lauded.

"In talking over the player of greatest value to his team for the 1938 season with the other officials," one of the letters read, "I have come to the conclusion that Weiss was not only a great player but that he had a great deal to do with the comeback of Wisconsin. For second place I nominate Larry Buhler, of Minnesota, for his offensive ability and his performance at either of two positions in the Minnesota backfield."

One of Heikkinen's supporters writes, "He is one of the greatest guards of all time. His offensive line play, accurate blocking, and speed in pulling out to lead interference, was matched by his defensive strength. He didn't have a bad game all year. Many times he beat his ends down field under kicks and he was a hard tackler in the open who always brought down his man."

Munn Last Lineman to Win.

Several of the letters contain reference to the fact that in recent years linemen have been neglected in the selection of most valuable players. Although six of the ten most valuable players nominated this year are ends or linemen, and five were selected in 1937 by the conference football squads, no lineman has received the silver football since 1931 when Clarence Munn, Minnesota guard, was awarded the trophy. Munn now is line coach at Michigan.

Corby Davis, Indiana full back, won the trophy last year. He finished with one more point than Cecil Isbell, of Purdue, in the closest vote in history of the award.

TWO TIE WITH 154 IN SENIOR'S GOLF; PLAYOFF TODAY

Augusta, Ga., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Otto Hackbarth of Cincinnati, with rounds of 80—74—154, and Fred McLeod of Chevy Chase, Md., with 75—79—154, tied today for first place in the final round of the annual senior's golf tournament. The 18 hole playoff is scheduled for tomorrow.

Although Hackbarth three putted the 16th and 17th, he finished with a 74 to register the lowest score in the tourney.

Duffy Florals, Shamrocks Win Third Straight Games

The Duffy Florals and the Bennett Shamrocks last night scored their third consecutive victories in the Mid-City Basketball league in the Midway auditorium. The Florals defeated the Swift & Co. quintet, 38 to 34, and the Shamrocks won from the Cyncos, 35 to 32. In a preliminary game the Taylor Trunks girls' team triumphed over the Sappanos, 25 to 11.

Alphonse Thomas Signs as Coach of Orioles

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Alphonse Thomas, former White Sox pitcher, has been signed to coach the Baltimore Orioles next season. Thomas left the Orioles as a pitcher in 1936 and joined the St. Louis Browns. Last year he went to Chattanooga with Rogers Hornsby, who will manage the Orioles next season.

Decide C. Y. O. Titles Tonight in Two Classes

Willie Goldsmith, the colored boy who was lightweight champion of 1936 and then ran into Joe O'Connell in attempting to make it a double last year, is back again. He meets tall Harry Sparrow from SS. Peter and Paul in what should be an interesting 135 pound argument, both lads being southpaws.

Noto Familiar Figure.

Al Noto of the fighting west side Notos, is another familiar boxer who will be in there swinging tonight. The little Italian, frustrated by Cavalieri in the flyweight final of 1937, returns to battle colored Willie Moon of Corpus Christi in the 112 pound open bout.

Two newcomers will fight it out for the featherweight championship, won in the past by such C. Y. O. heroes as Jimmy Christy, Andy Scrivani, and Joe Dupont. They are Wayne Fidler of Precious Blood parish and Mike Sanchez, a native of Glenmore, La., who will represent St. Rose of Lima. The 175 pound championship will bring together Edward Chapman of Corpus Christi and John Gendell, a Greek lad who was born in Constantinople, Turkey. Two Corpus Christi teammates, Fred Washington, and Jeff Hampton, will be the principals in the heavyweight class.

Ryan Leads Novices.

The novice division is expected to furnish as many thrills as the open class. Captain of these lads is Bud Ryan, the St. Philip High school boy who scored knockouts in four of the five fights he required to reach the finals. Another outstanding novice is Bobby La Civita, a product of the C. Y. O.'s Saturday morning classes. Bud meets redheaded John McCusker of St. Barbara's of Brookfield, while La Civita engages a rough young party named Peter Stancik, from St. Anthony's of Cicero. Winners of the novice bouts will receive medals given by Bishop Sheil.

The Cardinal Mundelein trophy for the parish scoring the most championship points, on the basis of semifinal and championship appearances, probably will go again to Corpus Christi, which won last year and which has seven of the 32 finalists tonight.

TOLES, BARLUND MEET TONIGHT IN HIPPODROME

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Roscoe Toles, Detroit colored heavyweight, makes his local debut tomorrow night in a ten round bout with Gunnar Barlund, the flailing Finn, at the reopening of the Hippodrome to boxing.

The match means much to Barlund. He appeared headed for the heights after defeating Buddy Baer, Alberto Lovell, and others, but he ran into Lou Nova, the Californian, two months ago and was handed a beating. Should he defeat Toles—and the odds favor the Finn slightly—he will be well on the way back.

GERMANY ENDS SPORT RELATIONS WITH HOLLAND

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Dec. 8.—Hans Von Tschammer und Osten, German sports leader, sent an announcement today that Germany was breaking all sports relations with the Netherlands for an unlimited period.

This is a reply to the action of the Rotterdam mayor who last week canceled the German-Netherlands soccer game for next Sunday for fear of anti-German demonstrations.

Well informed circles attribute considerable political importance to Herr von Tschammer und Osten's action. It is considered possible that the German government may seize this as a pretext for a propaganda campaign against the Netherlands. Some quarters fear the dispute may even go so far as the application of economic pressure against the Netherlands.

CUYLER CORRALS FIRST BASEMAN; SO DOES HIS BOSS

New Orleans, La., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Said Joe Engle, president of the Chattanooga Baseball club, to New Manager Kiki Cuyler:

Engle promptly forgot his request to Cuyler and bought Alex Hooks from Montreal. When the oversupply was discovered today Joe decided Mort was surplus and sold him to Dallas.

Anglers Pay $10,000,000 for Licenses

BY BOB BECKER.

If Santa takes a look at the latest news about the number of fishermen in the United States he's going to be very much fishing tackle minded when he starts on his Christmas eve visits to homes. According to an announcement from the bureau of fisheries in Washington 6,901,587 fishing licenses were purchased by anglers during 1936-'37. In 1932-'33 there were only 4,858,058 licensed anglers.

This is such a marked gain in the number of fishermen who travel all over the country trying to fool fish that it ought to make the fishing tackle manufacturers happy. In buying 6,901,587 fishing licenses fishermen paid almost $10,000,000 in license fees. While the states gained over $2,500,000 in revenue from the sale of anglers' licenses from 1932-'33 to 1936-'37, they received on an average five cents less for every license issued in 1936-'37 than in 1932-'33, when the average fee was $1.39.

Bring on Those Millions.

That the fisherman is a mighty profitable man to have browsing around the lakes is shown by statistics from a number of states on how much the boys spend when they're after a string of bass, pike, or other game fish. For example, Alabama, Arkansas, California, Indiana, Maine, Maryland, Tennessee, and several other states report that about $136,485,212 was spent by some million and a half anglers. Expenditures for tackle, bait, transportation, guides, boats, lodging, and other items averaged $87.33.

It was only a few years ago that Florida estimated a live black bass to be worth $5 a pound when he's swimming in a lake and fishermen are after him, whereas a dead bass caught for the market was worth 30 cents per pound. The point is that it pays to attract a fisherman to a state, for he spends freely for many things when he's trying to catch a game fish.

They're Elusive in Maine.

One of the interesting points in this report is the ratio of daily catch per angler as compared with the daily limit, as reported by 11 states. Alabama fishermen caught 25 per cent of their daily limit; California, about 20 per cent; Florida, 60 per cent; Idaho, 50 per cent; Maine, only 8 per cent; Maryland, 70 per cent; New Mexico, 30 per cent; Rhode Island, 30 per cent; South Dakota, 60 per cent; Utah, 30 per cent, and Washington, 60 per cent.

STATE MEETS DE PAUL

Arkansas State will conclude its three game schedule in Chicago tonight when it engages De Paul university in the De Paul auditorium, Sheffield and Webster avenues. Beaten by Loyola and Armour Tech, the visitors from Jonesboro, Ark., will be hard pressed to escape another licking by the Blue Demons.

De Paul whipped Valparaiso in its opening game but lost Wednesday evening to the University of Chicago in the second overtime period, 51 to 48. Bob Neu of De Paul, by scoring eighteen points against the Maroons, has run his individual record to thirty-two points for the season. Neu holds the all-time De Paul scoring record, which he established last year.

FOOTBALL GIANTS ARE ACCUSED OF TICKET SCALPING

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Tim Mara's New York football Giants and two employés of the team were named today in an information filed in federal court charging sale of tickets to speculators at more than the printed prices, thus tending to evade federal taxes.

The employés named were Mrs. Helen Mara, a relative of the promoter, and Charles Chaplin, 21, a clerical employé. Arraigned before United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter, both waived examination. Mrs. Mara was released on her own recognizance and Chaplin was told to produce $250 bail by tomorrow.

Mara charged the federal agents had framed the case and denied all allegations. The information was signed by Jesse Moss, assistant United States attorney.

Happily Married

Babe says:

We have had lots of fun together. Claire knows how much I like a really mild cigar—but I've never told her that in addition to being mild, they're the one cigar I can count on always tasting good, too! It always has the same grand aroma, fine flavor and Vintage mildness. No matter when or where I buy them—they're always a swell smoke!

Claire says:

We've often been pointed out as happily married. We are, too. I guess it's because we get so much fun out of doing things together . . . discovering so many things . . . like how much mildness means in a cigar. Babe says mildness comes first—and I say that from my woman's point of view it's both first and last. I'm all for those cigars of his because they're kind to kisses.

Mr. and Mrs. Babe Ruth both agree on this Vintage Cigar

IT'S SOMETHING when you get a cigar that suits a man's taste and a woman's fancy. But White Owls do just that.

Over five billion White Owls have been smoked . . . a record unequaled by any other cigar in the world. That's the smoker's tribute to White Owl's mellow mildness . . . rich aroma. And the ladies appreciate that it's scientifically proved "easier on the breath."

Year after year, White Owls have been improved—no wonder more White Owls have been smoked than any other cigar. One of the world's great cigars—yet it costs but 5¢. Try a White Owl today.

I. A. C. SCHEDULES SEVENTH ANNUAL BOXING TOURNEY

Set for Jan. 17-18-25 in Club Gymnasium.

The seventh Illinois Athletic club amateur boxing tournament will be held in the club gymnasium, 112 South Michigan avenue, Jan. 17, 18, and 25, Athletic Director Johnny Behr said yesterday. . . . Cowboy Howard Scott, who is fighting as a junior welterweight out of Washington, D. C., will arrive tomorrow for his Chicago debut in a ten round bout with Davey Day in Marigold Gardens Monday. . . . Marion Mosley, 210 pound amateur of Trafton's gymnasium, will fight Bill Kennedy of Gary in a five round headliner in Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, tonight. Four of six supporting matches will bring together Joe Loscutie and Dick Stone, Jimmy Jones and Floyd Walker, Eu Eulian and Tom Gibson, and Mike Sopko, and Tom McDonahue.

Billy Conn, Pittsburgh middleweight, who defeated Champion Solly Krieger in a recent overweight bout, has been matched to meet Fred Apostoli, leading contender, in Madison Square Garden Jan. 6. . . . Krieger left Chicago yesterday for San Francisco where he clashes with Red Farmer in a nontitle match Dec. 16. Kreiger also boxes Marty Simmons of Saginaw, Mich., in a ten round exhibition in Milwaukee Jan. 2 under the promotion of Al Fain. Failure of Roy Brotherhood to obtain a suitable date caused cancellation of plans to hold a Davey Day-Pete Lello rematch. Lello faces Billy Marquart for ten rounds in Park Casino Wednesday.

The San Francisco exposition has abandoned a proposal to present a bout involving Joe Louis' heavyweight championship, under the direction of Mike Jacobs. . . . Swede Nelson, heavyweight football player, has been given a wrestling assignment against Fritz Von Schacht in White City Monday. . . . George Mack and Stanley Pinta have been added to the mat card in Cicero stadium Dec. 12. . . . The next White City boxing program will be offered Dec. 16, with Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth organization heavyweight, and Tony Musto, undefeated Blue Island boxer, meeting in the ten round windup. . . . Andre Shelaeff, Shanghai welterweight who is now in San Francisco, is seeking work in Chicago. So is Haystack Sloan, Los Angeles heavyweight. "Because fighting is enjoying great popularity in Chicago at present, I would like to show my man there," Heinrich Seelig, manager of Shelaeff, writes.

Leone Efrati, who won a close decision over Frankie [Kid] Covelli Wednesday, may make his next appearance on the west side against Willie Joyce, Gary featherweight. . . . Al Manfredo, California welterweight, received $3,000 for his losing match with Champion Henry Armstrong in Cleveland last Monday.

BARBARA BEATS BURKE FOR HIS EIGHTH IN ROW

Wins Disputed Decision in Ten Rounds.

Johnny Barbara, 1936 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight finalist, won a disputed ten round decision over Jackie Burke of Ogden, Utah, in White City last night. The 1,066 spectators, who paid $1,071, booed the verdict. It was Barbara's eighth consecutive victory.

It was one of the hardest battles Barbara has had. In the second round Burke landed a series of left hooks which opened a cut alongside Johnny's right eye. A right to the ear draped Burke on the ropes as the third round ended. Barbara handed his opponent a beating in the fifth, but in the seventh Burke landed punishing lefts and rights to the face and body. The last three rounds were even. Barbara carried 149 pounds and Burke 147.

Verne Patterson, south side 148 pounder, whipped Jimmy Sheppard, Peoria, 157, in a five round fight which preceded the windup. The next three fights were won by Jimmy Collins, St. Paul 150 pounder; Verle Davis, Kankakee, 139 pounder, and Patrick O'Brien, Milwaukee, 124 pounder. Collins knocked out Joey Richards in the third round; Davis floored Lorenzo Robinson for the full count in the first, and O'Brien beat Jimmy Santori in four rounds.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Busby, $14.60 straight, $6.40 place, $4.20 show; Dyak, $10.20 place, $6.40 show; Hermosillo, $3.40 show.

BUSBY worked his way up gradually and, coming with a steady rush through the stretch, passed out DYAK. Latter, going in fine form, was restrained early, moved up to the leaders in the stretch and took command with a rush but could not withstand the winner. HERMOSILLO, hard held early, took the lead with a rush in the turn but weakened under punishment. PRINCE CLOUD tired after racing prominently. COMPUTER saved ground and closed a big gap. RAILDOWN had no excuses. SMITH DAVID, slow to begin, had a rough trip. VEILSTAR quit.

WARLAINE broke well, shook off RADIO CHARM and, opening a big lead, always held PHALASAN safe. PHALASAN, well up from the start, lost some ground but held on gamely. PANDONNA had early speed and held on well. JOANNY, slow to get going, made up ground while racing wide. VIRGINIA J. could not keep up. DUSKY PRINCE raced wide and tired after showing a good effort. BIG DRUG FIRM PLACED IN HANDS OF 2 TRUSTEES

Facts 'Too Fantastic to Believe.'

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The tangled affairs of McKesson & Robbins Inc., were described by a director as "so darned fantastic we still cannot believe them." The company was taken under New York federal court trusteeship with the Securities and Exchange commission a party to the proceedings.

On the big drug company's own petition, Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe appointed trustees to direct the company's reorganization under the new Chandler act, which permits the SEC participation with the authority of the court. This was granted. Appointment of the trustees under the Chandler act supersedes the equity receivership proceedings brought in the district court at Hartford, Conn., last Tuesday.

Today's reorganization petition set forth that assets of the company were overstated in the balance sheet by at least $10,000,000. A balance sheet dated Oct. 31 listed assets of $86,556,269 and liabilities of $76,267,967, including $22,180,675 current liabilities.

Story Told to Stock Exchange.

An account of the "fantastic" circumstances which brought the $87,000,000 drug concern under the spotlight was given by two directors, W. L. Cummings and J. F. Thompson, in testimony yesterday before the New York Stock exchange committee on stock list. A transcript of this was released by the stock exchange today.

Cummings and Thompson gave a minute account of the far flung operations of the company's crude drug department, in which falsification of books, mismanagement, and waste were charged in the Hartford receivership action.

"It may be the whole thing [the drug trading department] is just a hollow balloon, just a shell," Cummings told the stock exchange authorities. "There may be nothing there. That is the worst of the picture. There is no involvement of any other part of the business." The department's assets were carried in the balance sheet at $17,000,000.

"Just Mailing Addresses."

Another disclosure was given in the testimony of the directors in their description of "warehouses" which handled business of the crude drug department, which primarily was a trading organization. It was discovered, Thompson said, that some supposed "warehouses," from which were received monthly reports on outgoing and incoming inventory were "just plain mailing addresses."

"They are all on the most elaborately engraved letterheads," he said of all these individual companies which are reputed to have the merchandise. One of them is the office of a public stenographer, one is the office of a mimeograph operator, and things like that."

Asked by a stock exchange representative about the "purported profits" of the department, Cummings said "it has shown profits up to $700,000 or $800,000 a year and profits this year are running in excess of a million dollars in that department. Each year these profits appear in increased inventories and increased accounts receivable."

May Revise Profit Report.

But the possibility the department actually was a "hollow balloon," and the profits falsified, Thompson said, may call for some revision of the earnings reported for the McKesson & Robbins Co. as a whole. The company reported earnings equal to $1.60 a share of common stock last year.

"Now perhaps," said Thompson who is treasurer of the company, "we earned 40 or 50 cents without that department at all, you see, and carried the business."

It was revealed that the stock exchange was interested in knowing about the possibility of crimnal action in view of the apparent irregularities in the drug trading department.

On this point Cummings said: "No criminal actions have been started. We never thought about it. Didn't know whether it was our problem, at all. It was the receivers' business."

Cummings said the crude drug trading department was originated in the "old McKesson company before the present company was organized and was under the exclusive control of the president of this company, Mr. [F. Donald] Coster."

Under President's Control.

Cummings related that much of the business done by the department was with a trading firm known as W. W. Smith & Co., an English partnership with offices in Montreal. It operated in New York, Cummings said, through a subsidiary, and in a similar way in Montreal.

Cummings told the exchange investigators that Coster told the receiver named by the Hartford court he "knew nothing" about the drug trading department's difficulties, and "that it was the greatest surprise to him as well as everybody else."

Judge Coxe appointed William J. Wardall, trustee, and Charles F. Michaels, executive vice president of the company, as additional trustee and authorized them to continue the business.

Joslyn Tells of Chicago Firm's Profit Sharing

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—A profit sharing plan which has worked for twenty years and which aims at making a capitalist out of the working man was described to a senate committee today by M. L. Joslyn. He is president of the Joslyn Manufacturing and Supply company, Chicago, makers of telephone line equipment.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] remarked that the plan was "amazingly interesting" and Chairman Clyde L. Herring [D., Ia.] called it "constructive." The committee is seeking to determine if legislation should be drafted to interest employers in profit sharing systems.

Aids Company and Employés.

Joslyn asserted that his plan kept his company free of labor trouble, encouraged employés to a keen interest in the successful operation of the firm, and provided them with ample security in their old age.

Now in its twentieth year, the system is beginning to pay off retiring employés. A warehouse man retiring next January at the age of 60 will receive $31,300 under the plan. A woman stenographer, contributing 5 per cent of her comparatively small salary over the twenty year period, will receive $14,000. Other similar cases were cited.

The plan, Joslyn told the committee, provides that there shall be deducted from the wages of employés not more than 5 per cent nor less than 2½ per cent each pay day. The yearly payment is limited to $200.

The wage deductions are paid into a profit sharing fund. The company agrees to pay to the fund at the close of each year not less than 10 per cent of its net operating earnings but not exceeding four times the amount paid in by the members for the same year.

When a member becomes 60, or is disabled, he receives from the fund the entire amount to his credit there.

"Any real partnership between labor and capital," Joslyn declared, "can be based only on the laborer first becoming a capitalist himself. That cannot be accomplished if he has nothing but Saturday pay day to look forward to. If he has no consciousness of steadily bettering himself, he loses hope and energy and delivers to his employment only part of the value he is capable of producing under happier conditions."

Employés' Share Mounts.

Twenty years experience with the system, Joslyn said, have shown that the employé, contributing $100 a year has about $20,000 to his credit at the end of twenty years. Those contributing $200 a year have $40,000.

Joslyn made several legislative suggestions. He proposed the formation of a profit sharing plan commission with power to approve or disapprove profit sharing plans, found equivalent to or better than the federal security plan. Approved plans would exempt the employer from the federal security tax.

Gen. Motors' Sales Set Peak in November

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—General Motors corporation broke all November sales records last month. All sales totaled 200,256 units. Sales to United States dealers amounted to 159,573 units.

All sales were 123,835 units in October and 195,136 units in November, 1937. The sales to United States dealers were 92,890 units in October and 153,184 units in November, 1937.

Although an all-time high for a November was set, only the last three Novembers are in proper comparison because the annual automobile show and introduction of new models before that time took place in January.

Sales to consumers, according to the monthly report, were in excess of November sales in 1937, but under the highs of 1935 and 1936.

In the first eleven months of this year sales to dealers in the United States and Canada, plus overseas shipments, were 1,119,940 units, compared with 1,956,453 in the first eleven months of last year.

In the same period sales to consumers in the United States were 882,882 units, against 1,504,533 in the corresponding 1937 period. Sales to domestic dealers totaled 785,158, against 1,571,192.

AUTO DEALERS FIGHT NEW TAX RULE IN COURT

Suit was filed in the Superior court yesterday by more than 100 Illinois automobile dealers for an injunction to restrain the state of Illinois from putting into effect new regulations for the collection of sales taxes on Dec. 1. The dealers charge that the tax provided in the new regulations is unreasonable and discriminatory.

The automobile men complain that under the new tax regulations taxes in connection with the sale of a car will be pyramided. For example, a car for $1,000 is sold. The dealer takes $400 cash and a used car representing $600. The original sales tax is on a basis of the $1,000 sale price for the new car.

The car taken in trade is sold for $500 on which a sales tax must be paid. In selling the used car another used car may be taken in trade. And in selling the second used car, another tax must be paid.

BANK CLEARINGS ABOVE YEAR AGO; CHICAGO LOSES

New York, Dec 8.—[Special.]—Distribution of Christmas club savings checks and first-of-month transactions swelled bank clearings in twenty-two leading cities this week to $6,144,957,000. This was an increase of 11.7 per cent from $5,502,107,000 in the corresponding week a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

New York clearings rose to $4,015,263,000 to establish a new high for the year. The gain against the corresponding week of a year ago was 18.5 per cent. In the other cities the aggregate was $2,129,694,000, compared with $2,112,534,000 a year ago, an increase of eight-tenths of 1 per cent.

All of the twenty-two cities showed gains over last year's figures except Pittsburgh, Chicago, and San Francisco and Chicago last 5 per cent.

CROWELL TO ENDOW RANCH FOR 25 YEARS; PROFITS TO CHARITY

Henry P. Crowell, chairman of the board of Quaker Oats company, will endow his million dollar Wyoming Hereford ranch for 25 years following his death, it was announced yesterday. Crowell is 83 years old. He lives in Winnetka.

Henry P. Crowell.

Edward T. Lazear, Cheyenne attorney who made the announcement said the endowment would enable operators of the property to carry on the work of improving the herd along lines that have proved successful in the past. Profits which accrue will be given to charity, he said. At present the ranch, located southeast of Cheyenne, extends over 60,000 acres. It is running 3,000 head of purebred cattle.

Mr. Crowell has shown an active interest in social work. He is a member of the Legislative Voters league, a former vice president of the Moody Bible Institute Colportage association, and was for many years interested in the problem of juvenile crime as a member of the Chicago Association of Commerce crime committee.

Union Pacific Will Buy Large Tonnage of Rails

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Union Pacific railroad will buy 80,000 to 100,000 tons of steel rails, including fastenings, for laying next spring, W. M. Jeffers, president, announced today. Last year the road did not purchase any new rails.

COURT ACCEPTS SETTLEMENT OF ODLUM'S CLAIMS

Ends Legal Battle Between Utilities.

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday approved the settlement of claims of the Atlas corporation, New York investment trust, against the Utilities Power and Light corporation. About $4,200,000 of the Atlas claims are settled for $3,200,000.

Judge Holly's action puts an end to an action started by the Associated Investing corporation, investment affiliate of the Associated Gas and Electric company, to block the payment. The Atlas corporation is headed by Floyd B. Odlum, in whose name a part of the claims was made. Attorneys for Associated Investing on Wednesday anonunced that they had decided not to contest the claims further.

Judge Reviews Case.

"Attorneys for the trustee have made a most thorough and painstaking investigation," Judge Holly said. "It appears from an examination of the witnesses before the court that the recommendation that the settlement be approved is sound.

"I am convinced the trustee could not adequately defend these claims and I am influenced by the opinion of the most competent counsel for the preferred, class A, and common stock holders.

"If these claims are settled there will be something in the estate for the preferred, Class A and possibly the common stockholders. It is much better to settle the claims and to proceed with the reorganization. The estate should not be saddled with the expense of long litigation on the claims. It is now possible to proceed more quickly."

Explains Company's Position.

Clarence H. Ross, counsel for Associated Investing, said the company's position is one of neutrality. He said that Associated Investing had made certain allegations of conspiracy between Harley L. Clarke, former president of Utilities Power, and Odlum for the payment of the claims to Atlas and Odlum.

"I have no facts to add to those in the allegation, he said. "We do not affirm or disapprove the settlement. The court can best decide from all the facts whether the agreement is fair."

Others to approve the settlement were Perry Chadwick, representing the preferred stockholders; Anan Raymond, representing the Class A stock, and Willard King, representing the common stockholders committee.

One Group Opposes Settlement.

Ernest F. Straub, acting for Don K. Jones, who represents the petitioning creditors, opposed the settlement. He said he did not see why the claims should be paid now when the debenture holders have to wait to realize anything.

Charles True Adams, trustee for Utilities Power, which is in receivership, had asked for permission to settle the claims.

Senator Raps Federal Rule of Business

New York, Dec. 8.—[Special.]—Continued expansion of discretionary government control over business is dangerous, Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] said today. The economic life of the people thrives best in a free atmosphere, he told the Congress of American Industry of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Senator O'Mahoney.

His audience of industrial executives listened with close attention because he is chairman of the temporary national economic committee which is beginning an intensive study of the operation of American industry and the laws which govern it.

Suggestions on Control.

O'Mahoney said there had been many suggestions as to the form regulation should take. They fell into two general categories. One would increase the discretionary control of government over business by setting up some form of tribunal which in particular cases could tell business what it could or could not do. The other would more clearly define the acts which are prohibited and provide for better enforcement.

"I should like to say that the continued expansion of discretionary government control over business is dangerous," he said. "The economic life of a people is a dynamic thing, constantly changing, constantly developing. It thrives best in a free atmosphere.

Not Democratic System.

"Once it is brought within the power of any man, board, group, or faction to control, it ceases to be natural and inevitably becomes restricted by the ideas, the comprehension, and the predilections of the men exercising the power. It is not a democratic system.

"I cannot look abroad in the world without an ever-growing conviction that no desirable substitute for competition has been proposed and that our objective should be the development of a rule by which the practices which we all know to be wrongful shall be banished."

Want More Opportunity.

Colby Chester, chairman of General Foods corporation, and of the executive committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, asserted before the congress:

"The people of America want a day when youth will have more opportunity. They want a day when middle aged men will have greater security and old age peace and relaxation; a day when there will be a resurgence of teamwork and goodwill, of toleration and forgiveness.

"We are beginning to merge into a community of sympathetic understanding. We are becoming a family again. The business man's philosophy of teamwork and community sense has taken root. As the tension eases, a courageous mood develops in industry."

INDUSTRY URGES ACCORD WITH U. S. AND LABOR

Action Follows Fight Behind Scenes.

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers late today unanimously approved a 1939 platform urging "coöperation with the government." Without argument on the floor, the convention approved a program drawn up only after a bitter fight behind closed doors in the resolutions committee.

The faction which favored coöperation with the administration succeeded in:

Asks Broad Coöperation.

The 11-point program called for coöperation of industry, commerce, agriculture, and labor with government, and said "we in industry admit our share of mistakes."

For the future, while recognizing a need of continuous unemployment relief, the program called for restoration of 9,000,000 unemployed to industrial jobs in the following manner:

[1] Business to realize human responsibilities, accept economic and social responsibilities, be frank with the public, maintain high standards, lower prices as feasible, maintain sound employé relations.

[2] Business to recognize labor's right to bargain collectively without intimidation from any source, good working conditions, adjustment of complaints, fair wages, incentives for advancement, and a cushioning of effects of technological unemployment.

Government Change Sought.

[3] Government to adjust fiscal policy to attract investment, to create new jobs for the unemployed [rules of the securities act of 1933 and the securities and exchange act of 1934 were described as "unnecessarily severe," but no recommendation of modification was made].

[4] Increase purchasing power by increasing production rather than by curtailment.

[5] Business to recognize government "regulation" for the good of all, but to oppose federal "control."

[6] Creation of a non-partisan committee to study the tax problem.

[7] Government to improve its efficiency, lower its costs.

[8] Government not to compete with private business.

[9] Foreign trade to be encouraged by "every legitimate means" after due consideration for the needs of the home economy and protection of the standard of living of Americans.

[10] Industry to assume "the burden of producing the requirements for national defense."

[11] "Removal of existing obstacles is a joint job for government, labor, agriculture, commerce and industry, requiring the best efforts of all."

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 8.—Stocks closed lower today. Moderate support late in the session enabled many issues to raise their low marks of the day. Trade shrank to 739,150 shares.

The early setback was attributed partly to the weakness of the British pound sterling and partly to the aggravated European political situation growing out of Italy's demand for French territories. The late improvement was attributed by some observers to the statement of Senator Joseph E. O'Mahoney, chairman of the monopoly committee, deploring the growth of burocracy in government.

Steel shares closed around their lows of the day. Losses running to 1½ points were marked up against United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Crucible, and Republic.

Other industrial leaders to show losses running to around 1 point included Chrysler, General Motors, Kennecott, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, and General Electric. United States Smelting slumped five points on reports of a strike at the Mexican plant of the company.

Most aviations dipped fractionally, although Glenn Martin, selling ex-rights, edged higher. Sperry lost 1 point.

Rubber and oil shares closed behind minus signs for the most part. Moving in the most active trading of the day, Transamerica dropped 1¼ points to 5⅝.

The stock exchange announced the short interest was 587,314 shares as of Nov. 29, compared with 669,530 shares a month earlier.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Growing tension in Franco-Italian relations put its stamp on the foreign section of the bond market today. Most domestic corporates and United States government loans were irregular.

Italy 7s lost 4½ points on transactions of forty-six bonds, a fairly heavy day for this issue. Italian public utility 7s dropped more than 3. French stamped 7s of 1949 broke 8¾ to 112¼ on sale of two bonds, and the 7½s stamped lost 1¾. Most other foreign loans also showed a downward trend.

The usual market leaders followed a fairly narrow trail. Most, however, slanted lower at the finish. Gains of 4/32ds of a point were balanced by losses of as much in the United States government division.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved generally lower yesterday in sluggish trading. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks finished at 10.79, off 0.13 from Wednesday's close.

General Motors corporation common stock, admitted to listing yesterday, was among the day's volume leaders. A total of 932 shares was traded, of which 332 moved in odd lot transactions. The stock closed at 48, or ⅝ lower than the Wednesday close in New York.

Bank Stocks.

Stocks of four leading Chicago banks were from $4 to $1 lower yesterday, dealers stated. In thin trading, shares of the American National Bank and Trust company dropped $4 to $208 bid, $213 asked; City National bank, $1 to $105 bid, $109 asked; Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, $1 to $73 bid, $75 asked; First National bank, $2 to $222 bid, $226 asked.

COTTON

Cotton prices on American exchanges closed yesterday with net losses of .01 to .10 cent a pound. Weakness in sterling exchange and decline in securities dominated the action of the market. Trade volume was small.

Brokers considered the department of agriculture estimate on the American cotton crop of small significance. The department in its final report of the season placed the yield at 12,008,000 bales. This compared with an estimate of 12,137,000 bales on Nov. 1 and with 18,946,000 bales harvested in 1937. The estimated yield per acre was 226.8 pounds against 266.9 pounds last year, the largest on record. About 25,346,000 acres were harvested this year, or 3.1 per cent less than was planted.

About 11,233,000 bales of this year's cotton crop was ginned as of Dec. 1, compared with 16,176,000 bales on the same date in 1937.

Spot cotton closed .03 to .06 cent lower, with New York 8.66 cents, New Orleans 8.42 cents, Houston 8.26 cents, and Galveston at 8.22 cents a pound. Prices follow:

RFC READY TO AID 2 CHICAGO RAILS IN REORGANIZING

Offers Loans to Southern Pine Paper Mills.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation agreed today to aid financially in the reorganization of the Chicago Great Western railroad and Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway.

Chairman Jesse H. Jones wrote Patrick H. Joyce, Great Western trustee, that the RFC stood ready to lend $6,500,000 to the reorganized company. This loan, which is subject to approval by the interstate commerce commission and the RFC's legal division, would be for ten years and secured by first mortgage bonds of the new company.

Will Accept C. & E. I. Bonds.

In a letter to Kenneth D. Steere, chairman of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Jones said the RFC was willing to accept $11,360,000 of new prior lien bonds as security for loans.

Jones also placed the resources of his organization at the disposal of groups seeking to convert the south's soft pine timber into paper. He said the RFC already had aided in establishment of paper mills in Texas and Mississippi and that there had been some inquiry from other sources in the southern states.

Business Loan Demand Reduced.

There had been a decided increase in the demand for business loans during the last 90 days, Jones reported. He attributed this to better business. Banks probably were taking care of some of the demand formerly made on the RFC, he said.

Since the RFC resumed lending activities last February, Jones said, a total of 4,825 loans aggregating $837,559,609 had been authorized. Of this total 4,281 loans aggregating $156,160,471 were made to business.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In the later editions of THE TRIBUNE yesterday the amount of the Pullman company's monthly charge this year for amortization of air-conditioning investment was incorrectly reported. The correct figure for this charge is $200,000 a month. It was incorrectly reported as $2,000,000.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Price trends in the live stock and meat markets were uneven yesterday. Wholesale quotations for beef, veal, and lamb meat were steady to 50 cents a hundred pounds lower. Pork, however, met broad demand at strong to 50 cents higher rates, this class being relatively low compared with most other kinds of meat. Fresh pork loins brought $13.50 to $15.00 a hundred pounds.

Demands favored hogs at the Chicago stockyards. After a 5 to 10 cents lower opening, prices rallied and closed steady to 5 cents above the average of the preceding session.

Optional Odd Lots.

Several of the smaller stock exchanges recently have been trying to build up trading in stocks which are traded primarily on the New York Stock exchange. They are concentrating on increasing the "secondary" market for big stocks in which customers' orders are placed in the local area. The theory is that these orders should be kept at home, instead of being sent to New York.

Most of the trading in the big stocks is at New York. This greater activity makes the price of a stock more easily determinable at any time in New York than on the less active smaller exchanges. To meet this handicap, smaller exchanges, including Chicago, Boston and others, have introduced "optional odd lot" trading. The effect of this system is to make possible the use of New York quotations as a basis for determining prices for filling orders in smaller markets.

Odd lot sales are sales of less than 100 shares. The price of an odd lot purchase must be "⅛ away" from the next round lot [100 shares or multiples] sale. Under the optional plan, an odd lot order in Chicago may be executed on the basis of the next round lot sale on either the Chicago or New York exchange. This gives the buyer the advantage of a more "continuous" market, because of the larger number of round lot sales on two exchanges than on only one.

GRAINS ADVANCE ON REVIVAL OF EXPORT DEMAND

Report Corn and Wheat Sold Liberally.

A marked revival in the European demand for cash wheat and corn dominated the action of the world's grain markets yesterday. Reports that 800,000 bushels of American corn had been sold for shipment to England resulted in an advance of ⅝ to ¾ cent a bushel in futures on the Chicago Board of Trade. Current prices are the highest in about ten weeks.

Wheat futures closed with gains of ⅜ to ½ cent on buying induced by reports that 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian and 8,000,000 bushels of Rumanian grain had been sold for export. Italy was said to have been the buyer of the latter wheat.

Wheat Rises in Liverpool.

The purchase had a marked effect on the Liverpool wheat futures. Prices in the English market advanced about 2 cents from the early low point and closed 1⅛ to 1½ cents a bushel higher.

There were unconfirmed reports yesterday that the Commodity Credit corporation had sold 600,000 bushels of cash corn to exporters. The grain was said to be in elevators at St. Louis. Another report said the rumored government sale represented transfer of ownership of that amount of grain by one exporter to another shipper.

Exporters Advance Corn Bids.

Exporters were reported to have advanced their bids ¾ cent for No. 2 yellow corn at New Orleans to 7½ cents a bushel over the Chicago May delivery. Sellers offered the grain at 8 to 8¼ cents over the future.

It is estimated that including Argentine grain sold to Liverpool, possibly 1,500,000 bushels of cash corn changed hands yesterday in leading markets. Supplies of corn in England are said to be nearly exhausted.

OUTBOARD MOTOR FIRM'S EARNINGS BELOW YEAR AGO

Other Companies Report Varying Results.

Ralph Evinrude, president of the Outboard, Marine and Manufacturing company, yesterday reported lower earnings during the company's fiscal year, which ended Sept. 30.

Consolidated net profit declined to $714,158, or $2.40 a share, compared with $940,379, or $3.16 a share, in the preceding year. Sales slipped to $6,649,933 from $6,843,000 in the preceding year. The company's chief plants are in Waukegan and Milwaukee. Products besides outboard motors include electric refrigeration equipment.

Add to Refrigerator Factory.

Evinrude said that an addition to the Galesburg plant had been made during the year at a cost of $125,000. This will give better facilities for handling the refrigeration and space cooler products.

The York Ice Machinery corporation, which makes air conditioning and refrigeration equipment, had a net loss of $119,753 in the twelve months ended Sept. 30, in contrast to net profit of $957,649 in the preceding twelve months, and net profit of $165,586 in the twelve months ended Sept. 30, 1936.

Decca Records.

Investors' Guide: Recently I have noticed lots of Decca records used in coin-in-the-slot phonographs. Who makes these records? Does the company have stock outstanding? Has it been showing a profit?—R. B.

Answer: Decca records have been made for many years by an English company, the Decca Record Company, Ltd. In 1934 this company was instrumental in setting up an American corporation, Decca Records, Inc., which makes and distributes records in North and South America. About one-half of the 373,325 shares of capital stock are owned by the English company.

Sales of the American company have climbed steadily. In the fiscal year ended Aug. 31 net income increased to $207,122, or 58 cents a capital share, compared with $80,245, or 22 cents a share in the preceding year. In the year ended Aug. 31, 1936, a net loss of $80,333 was reported. Sales for the latest fiscal year increased 39 per cent to $2,462,505. In the preceding full year sales were $1,776,042, up 70 per cent over the volume a year earlier.

Greyhound Stock Active.

Investors' Guide: Greyhound corporation's common stock interests me. Last week it was one of the most active stocks on the board, and advanced in a declining market. It is selling almost at the year's high. How does the price compare with last year's range? Are this year's profits higher?—H. K.

Answer: Greyhound's closing price of 20⅝ at the end of last week was above the range for last year, when the high was 16⅛ and the low 7½.

Net profit in the first nine months of this year amounted to $4,315,774, or $1.56 a common share. For the same period last year profit was $4,121,187, equal on a per share basis to $1.55 on a smaller number of shares than for this year. The boost in passenger fares by eastern railroads last summer encouraged bus travel.

Great Lakes Dredge.

Investors' Guide: What dividends has Great Lakes Dredge and Dock paid this year? Its stock has been strong lately on the Chicago Stock exchange.—M. P.

Answer: Great Lakes Dredge and Dock has paid $2.25 a share in dividends this year, including an extra of $1 on Nov. 15 and an earlier extra of 25 cents. Another extra of 75 cents is to be paid Dec. 22.

That's the way we feel about "tramp" cars, too. Of course, with our large volume of new PONTIAC business, we get a few of these ragged cars in trade along with the first class used cars. A little new paint would no doubt make them quite presentable.

BUT, we cannot afford to actually recondition such cars. It would be a ridiculous expenditure involving more than the car is worth.

THAT'S WHY OUR "TRAMPS" DON'T GET TOP HATS. They are sold to other dealers or plainly marked "As Is" because we can't afford to put our Community Re-Newed guarantee on any car that is not fundamentally right. However, both of us benefit when GOOD used cars are reconditioned. To do that job the way good cars and good buyers deserve to have it done, we maintain THE LARGEST USED CAR RECONDITIONING PLANT IN THE UNITED STATES. When you buy a Community "Re-Newed" Good-Will Used Car you are getting the best used car your money can buy and paying no more.

HERE ARE A FEW EXAMPLES OF SOME OF THE MANY EXCELLENT VALUES WE ARE OFFERING AT OUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORES:

AT 7718 STONY ISLAND-AV.

Woman Wins $16,000 for Tavern Injuries—Police Battle Rioters Fired by Italian Clamor for Tunis

Developments in the French-Italian quarrel for territory are indicated by captions in the map. Italy's strategic position, with the possibility of breaking the life line of Britain and France to their far eastern possessions (dotted line) is apparent at three points: Gibraltar, the gateway between Tunis and Sicily, and the Suez canal. The black areas in the inset map are territories for possession of which Italy is agitating. Italy also is demanding Djibouti, French Somaliland; the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railroad, and a share in the control of the Suez canal. (Story on page 1.)
